Exchange Rates

A majority of Amcor's revenue and earnings are derived from assets and operations outside of Australia, and those assets, revenue and earnings are denominated in foreign currencies. Most of these are denominated either in US dollars or Euros. Therefore, because Amcor presents its financial statements in A$, appreciation of the A$ against the US$ or the Euro will adversely affect the A$ amount of those assets, revenue and earnings. In addition, fluctuations in the exchange rate between A$ and US$ or Euros will affect the US$ or Euro equivalent of the A$ price of our shares on the ASX and the US$ or Euro value of any cash distributions paid on the shares in A$.

Fluctuations in the A$/US$ exchange rate will affect the US$ equivalent of the A$ price of Ordinary Shares on the ASX and, as a result, are likely to affect the market price of our American Depositary Shares (ADSs) in the United States. Such fluctuations would also affect the US$ amounts received by holders of ADSs on conversion by the depository of cash dividends paid in A$ on the Ordinary Shares underlying the ADSs (see Item 3D Risk Factors).

In this Annual Report, unless otherwise specified or the context otherwise requires, Australian dollar amounts are denoted by A$, Euro dollar amounts are denoted by € and United States dollar amounts are denoted by US$. For convenience, certain A$ amounts have been translated into US$ amounts at the exchange rate specified. These translations are indicative only and do not mean that the A$ amounts could be converted to US$ at the rate indicated.

On December 20 2004, the noon buying rate was US$0.7636 = A$1.00.

For each of the periods indicated, the relevant noon buying rate for cable transfers of US$ payable in Australian dollars as certified for customs purposes by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, were:

D. Risk Factors

General Economic Conditions

Amcor's business may be affected by general economic conditions within Australia and globally (including, for example, government fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies, interest rates, tax rates, foreign exchange rates, oil prices, inflation and the industrial relations environment). Changes in the economic conditions in markets in which we operate may result in customers changing spending patterns and their level of general consumption, which may have a material adverse effect on our operating and financial performance.

Technology

We operate in highly competitive business segments. Our industry continues to change in response to technological innovations and other factors. We cannot predict with certainty the changes that may affect our competitiveness. In particular, Polyethylene Terephthalate (which we will refer to as PET) product design and development may be subject to rapid technological change. We cannot predict whether technological innovations will make some of our products, production processes or distribution techniques wholly or partially obsolete. If this were to occur, we may be required to invest significant resources to further adapt to the changing competitive environment. In such a case the investments could negatively affect our profitability and results of operations.

Increased or New Competition

While we have a strong position in each of our key market segments (both in Australia and internationally), new competitors may emerge in the market and potential rivals may seek to increase market share. Price competition may have the effect of reducing margins and profitability.

Laws and Regulations

Our operations could be affected by government actions such as controls on prices, new forms of taxation and increased government regulation in the countries in which we operate. We also operate in some countries that pose political risks including civil unrest, nationalisation and changes in laws and policy. These political risks could have an adverse impact on the profitability of our operations.

Competition Law Investigations and Management Changes

The ACCC and the NZCC have commenced investigations of conduct by the Company that may breach Australian and New Zealand competition laws. These investigations and the Company's internal investigations of the same matters are at an early stage and may continue for a considerable period of time. While it is not possible at this early stage to predict the outcome of these investigations, the conduct being investigated could result in the imposition of substantial civil pecuniary penalties under the trade practices laws in Australia and New Zealand, claims by third parties, and loss of customers. Also, these matters have resulted in the resignation of the Managing Director of the Company and the Managing Director, Amcor Australasia. These resignations and the process of replacing these executives, together with the ongoing investigations may result in distractions or disruptions to the ongoing operations of the Company. No assurance can be given that these investigations, the related resignations of senior executives, and any resulting claims by third parties will not have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

Exchange Rates

We are exposed to movement in exchange rates of foreign currencies – mainly the US$ and the Euro. The negative impact of a stronger Australian dollar, however, has only a notional effect as there is little repatriation of net profit from Amcor's overseas businesses to Australia. We estimate that for each one cent change in the US$ or the Euro exchange rate against the A$ over a full year, the translation impact on A$ net profit would be approximately A$1.8 million or A$2.0 million respectively.

Impact of Proposed Tax Law Changes

Amcor operates in 40 jurisdictions and pays tax on its income according to the specific tax laws in each of these jurisdictions. As with any business, there are various factors, some of which are beyond our control, that impact the overall effective tax rate for the Amcor Group. One such factor is changes in, or interpretations of, tax laws that apply in any given jurisdiction.

Of particular relevance at the current time are proposed changes in U.S. Federal tax laws. The Amcor Group currently derives a significant portion of global income from operations in the U.S. As a result, the proposed U.S. Federal legislative and regulatory changes could, if enacted, increase the Group's effective tax rate.

Specifically, such proposals recommend measures that include (a) amending the existing earnings stripping rules to further restrict the ability to use interest payments to related foreign parties as a means of reducing U.S. taxable income; (b) a more stringent enforcement of the arm's length standards applying to related-party cross-border transactions, including pre-approval of certain transactions; (c) amending the rules governing cross-border reorganisations; and (d) denying treaty benefits for certain tax deductible payments to a foreign entity.

The enacting of any or all of these proposals could adversely impact Amcor's U.S. Federal income tax liability and, consequently, the earnings of the Group. At this stage it is not possible to predict either the extent to which the proposed changes might be enacted or the extent of any resulting impact on Amcor.

In any event, Amcor operates a tax risk model that seeks to identify, monitor and manage tax risks as and when they occur throughout the Group.

At the current time Amcor considers the above proposed changes to be the most likely to have an impact on the Amcor Group's future effective tax rate if enacted.

Environmental

Amcor's worldwide manufacturing operations are subject to extensive environmental regulation. We believe that we are currently substantially in compliance with these regulations. However, although compliance costs in future years will depend on legislative and technological developments which cannot be accurately predicted, Amcor believes the costs of compliance with environmental laws and regulations will increase as these laws and regulations become more stringent. These laws and regulations may, therefore have an unpredictable and adverse effect on our operations and profits.

Legal Proceedings

In June 2000, the Construction, Forestry, Mining and Energy Union (CFMEU) filed a proceeding in the Federal Court of Australia against Amcor. The proceeding related to a claim for redundancy-related payments arising out of the change of employment of CFMEU members stemming from the demerger by Amcor in April 2000 of the PaperlinX Group.

In May 2002, a single judge of the Federal Court found that Amcor employees whose employment was transferred to PaperlinX Ltd had technically been made redundant and that Amcor had an obligation to make redundancy severance payments to the transferred employees. Amcor's appeal of this decision to the Full Bench of the Federal Court was dismissed in March 2003. Amcor subsequently filed an application for special leave to appeal to the High Court, which was granted in December 2003. The appeal was heard by the High Court in August 2004 and the decision on the appeal is pending. After considering legal advice, we are of the opinion that no provision is required.

However, in the event we are ultimately unsuccessful in the appeal, we could be required to make redundancy payments to former employees. Such payments, if eventually required, may have a material effect on Amcor's results of operations in the year such a judgement is made. It is not possible to reliably estimate the amounts which may be involved. See Item 8, Financial Information - Legal Proceedings, for further information relating to the CFMEU proceeding.

ITEM 4 INFORMATION ON THE COMPANY

The discussion below contains certain forward-looking statements. Amcor's actual results could differ materially from those anticipated by those forward-looking statements due to a variety of factors, including those set forth under "Forward-Looking Statements," "Risk Factors" and elsewhere in this annual report.

A. History and Development

General

Amcor Limited was incorporated in 1926 in the State of New South Wales, Australia under the Australian Corporations Act (2001) and is a public company with limited liability. We are headquartered in Australia at 679 Victoria Street Abbotsford, Victoria, 3067 and our telephone number is (61) (3) 9226 9000. Amcor has operations in Australia, New Zealand, Asia, Europe and the Americas. At October 2004, our market capitalization was approximately A$7.1 billion, making us one of the larger public companies in Australia, by market capitalization.

Amcor's history dates back to the 1860s and Australia's first paper making activities. Until 1980, Amcor was almost exclusively a forestry, pulp and paper company in Australia. Since that time, however, Amcor has implemented a major program of expansion that resulted in a shift away from sole reliance on pulp and paper products in Australia and the development of a diversified and integrated international packaging and paper company. Amcor has grown through a combination of acquisitions, greenfield developments where suitable acquisitions could not be obtained and expansion of capacity of existing businesses.

After a two year rationalization and restructuring program in 1997-98 and 1998-99, when a number of non-core or under-performing businesses were disposed of, Amcor demerged its paper manufacturing and fine paper distribution businesses in April 2000 following shareholder and court approval. In May 2001, we announced our intention to sell our 50% investment in Kimberly-Clark Australia Pty Ltd (KCA). The demerger and sale of KCA were strategic initiatives intended to enable us to realize our goal of becoming a leading global packaging company by enhancing our ability to pursue opportunities to further develop our businesses in new products, services and markets. The acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca's PET and closures businesses in July 2002 and Rexam's healthcare flexibles packaging operations in August 2003 were our latest steps in implementing this strategy.

Amcor's Strategy

Amcor's aim is to be a global leader in the packaging industry, targeting specific segments predominantly in the food and beverage industries.

In Australia and New Zealand, Amcor has a broad product offering and is the number one or number two supplier in most segments in which it participates. Over the past three years, Amcor's Australian and New Zealand businesses have delivered a stable earnings stream.

Outside of Australia and New Zealand, Amcor's strategy is to be a leader in specific segments. These segments are:

- flexible packaging for the food, beverage, healthcare and industrial markets;
- PET bottles and jars for beverage and food applications;
- specialty printed cartons for tobacco, confectionery and health and beauty markets;
- distribution of packaging products and related goods; and
- plastic and metal closures.

Amcor believes that all these segments are attractive because they exhibit one or more of the following key characteristics:

- prospects of higher than industry average growth;
- the ability to create value-added products and services, which provides the opportunity for Amcor to differentiate itself from its competitors; and
- the ability to obtain a leading presence, either regionally or globally.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Amcor has implemented this strategy through a number of transactions that have reshaped it over recent years. The most significant of these include:

the creation in June 2001 of the leading European flexible packaging business through a three way joint venture between Amcor Flexibles Europe, Danisco Flexible and Ahlstrom and the subsequent purchase of the minority stake in July 2003; and the acquisition in July 2002 of the PET Container and closures operations of Schmalbach-Lubeca.

The Schmalbach-Lubeca businesses represented an attractive opportunity that was consistent with Amcor's strategy. In acquiring these businesses, Amcor has become the leading manufacturer of PET containers globally. Additionally, the acquisition has allowed us to expand our activities in segments that exhibit higher than average industry growth and given us the ability to offer a greater number of value-added products.

Capital Expenditure and Divestures

Since July 1, 2001 we have made the following principal capital expenditure and divestures:

Purchase of PET Assets in Mexico

In November 2003, Amcor entered into an agreement to purchase the PET injection and blow moulding assets of Embotelladoras Arca S.A. de C.V. (Arca) with an initial supply agreement of eight years to supply bottles to Arca. Amcor purchased the PET on site injection and blow moulding assets of Arca for around A$60 million which will be paid in yearly instalments throughout the life of the contract.

Acquisition of Rexam s Healthcare Flexibles Packaging Operations

In October 2003, Amcor purchased Rexam plc s (Rexam) healthcare flexibles business for A$327.1 million. The business, which has annual sales of approximately A$390 million, has ten plants in six countries four in the United States and one each in England, Ireland, France, Singapore, Brazil and Puerto Rico.

The acquisition is consistent with Amcor's strategy of targeting higher value added and higher growth market segments. The four plants in the United States will increase Amcor's presence in that country and are expected to provide a solid base in a high value business from which to build.

Purchase of Amcor Flexibles Europe Minorities

In August 2003, Amcor purchased the 28.1% minority stake in Amcor Flexibles Europe A/S from Danisco and Ahlstrom for 99.5 million (A$165.1 million), effective from July 1, 2003.

Purchase of Alcoa's Latin American PET Packaging Business

In June 2003 Amcor purchased Alcoa's Latin American PET packaging business for A$110.0 million.

Alcoa's Latin American PET business consisted of nine production facilities located across Brazil, Argentina, Columbia, Peru, Uruguay and Chile. Sales were approximately A$200 million in 2002.

A$125 Million Wine Bottle Plant Expansion

Amcor announced in March 2003 that it is building a second furnace on its existing wine bottle facility in Gawler, South Australia. The new furnace, which will cost A$125 million and have a capacity of 200 million wine bottles per year, is expected to commence output by January 2005.

The building of the second furnace is expected to increase production at the Gawler site to 400 million bottles per year. The strong customer demand for Amcor's wine bottles has enabled new long term supply contracts to be both extended and upgraded and has underpinned demand for the new furnace.

Sale of Joint Venture Stake in White Cap North American Closure Operations

31 December 2002, Amcor entered into a definitive agreement to sell its 65% stake in Amcor White Cap LLC to Silgan Holdings Inc, its 35% joint venture partner. The joint venture, which consisted of seven plants, six in the United States and one in Mexico, was sold for A$66 million equivalent to book value. The joint venture also had debt of approximately A$100 million which was consolidated on Amcor's balance sheet.

Acquisition of PET Container and Closure Operations of Schmalbach-Lubeca

On July 1, 2002 Amcor successfully completed the acquisition of the PET container and closure assets of Schmalbach-Lubeca for A$2.827 billion.

Schmalbach-Lubeca was the world's largest manufacturer of PET containers with calendar 2001 sales of A$2.5 billion. It was also a manufacturer of food and beverage closures with calendar 2001 sales of A$825 million.

Acquisition of Spanish Flexible Packaging Business

In May 2002 Amcor acquired Tobepal SA, a flexible packaging and extrusion business, situated in Spain, for A$84.5 million. Tobepal SA operates three plants in Spain and is a strategic fit with Amcor Flexibles existing operations in that area.

UK Flexible Packaging Acquisition

In May 2002, Amcor completed the acquisition of two flexible packaging plants from Rexam PLC for A$30 million. Both plants are located in the United Kingdom and in 2001 had aggregate sales of A$115 million. The acquisition of these two plants continued the consolidation of Amcor's flexible packaging business in Europe and followed the three way merger of Amcor Flexibles Europe, Danisco Flexible and Akerlund & Rausing in 2001.

Other Recent Developments

Board Changes

On December 2, 2004 the Chairman announced that Mr J G (John) Thorn accepted an invitation to join the Amcor Board, effective December 8, 2004. Mr Thorn accepted an appointment to the Audit and Compliance Committee effective December 21, 2004.

On December 7, 2004, the Chairman of Amcor Limited, Mr Chris Roberts, announced the resignation of Mr R H (Russell) Jones,. Mr Roberts has been appointed Executive Chairman and Mr Louis Lachal (Executive General Manager Operations) has been appointed Acting Chief Operating Officer during the interim period prior to appointing a replacement Managing Director.

China Tobacco Packaging Expansion

Amcor announced on 13 December, 2004 an agreement to subscribe for 80 million new shares, representing a 16.7% equity interest, at HK$2.50 per share in Vision Grande Group Holdings Limited (Vision Grande) for a cost of HK$200 million (approximately A$34 million).

Amcor has also agreed to acquire an option to subscribe for an additional 96 million shares, also at HK$2.50 per share, to increase its equity interest to approximately 30.6% for an additional cost of HK$240 million (approximately A$41 million). This option expires on December 31, 2005. The transaction is subject to approval from Vision Grande shareholders and the regulatory authorities.

Vision Grande, which was listed on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange in March 2004, is a leading supplier of tobacco packaging in China with operations in Shenzhen, Nanjing and Kunming.

Amcor PET Packaging

Products

In July 2002 Amcor acquired the PET Containers business of Schmalbach-Lubeca. The Amcor PET Packaging business was formed following the integration of this PET business with the former Amcor Twinpak's PET operations.

Amcor PET Packaging has a broad product portfolio ranging from preforms and containers for carbonated soft drinks and water applications and custom products i.e. other beverage and food segments. Products manufactured include PET bottles for carbonated soft drinks, mineral water, juices, spirits and beer, milk and other dairy products, PET containers for hot-filled drinks and food products, PET containers for household chemicals, preforms (for moulding by customers) and recycled PET materials.

Headquartered in the US and employing approximately 6,200 people, the business has 83 plants (which includes all on-site blowing and injection facilities) across 21 countries including 20 operations co-located with customers.

PET containers are supplied primarily unlabeled, although labelling options are available for some products.

Amcor's customers are among the leading consumer products companies around the world.

Significant new products utilize evolving technologies, including barrier for increased shelf life and heat set for increased filling and processing temperatures. Markets impacted by these new products/technologies include beer and processed foods.

Seasonality

Amcor PET Packaging experiences some seasonality in its supply of carbonated soft drink, bottled water and isotonic product lines. The ramp up for seasonal products begins in March and lasts until late August in the northern hemisphere. It is the reverse in the southern hemisphere. In addition there is a slight increase in demand in preparation for the major December holidays. Offsetting these are demand patterns for other products, including foods and juices, with demand sometimes heaviest in harvest seasons.

Raw Materials

PET resin is the principal raw material used within Amcor PET Packaging and PET resin is considered a commodity by the plastics industry. For North America, PET resin is available from 6 major domestic suppliers and can be imported from Asian suppliers. Amcor has established relationships with all major suppliers.

For Europe and South America, a combination of regionally produced and imported resins is employed. The supply of PET resin has become more predictable and the pricing less volatile as the resin industry has consolidated and as Asian resin has become scarce and expensive.

Competitive Position

Amcor PET Packaging is one of the few major PET converters that supply a full range of products to nearly all segments of the market.

In North America, the five major PET suppliers hold just under 60% of the market. Self-manufacturers make up another 20%. The remaining 20% is comprised of small regional or niche converters, many with strong positions in their chosen markets. The major converters as well as the self-manufacturers tend to supply the beverage market – soft drinks, waters, juices and isotonic. The smaller competitors are producers of food, dairy, personal care, pharmaceutical and household products containers.

In Latin America, the competition is more fragmented. The major converters hold over 50% of the market. There are smaller competitors that are very strong in specific countries, but are not pan-regional. There is also a significant percentage of self-manufacturing however, the trend seems to be moving away from consumer product companies making their own packaging. Consolidation in Latin America continues as small competitors are acquired.

In Europe, the major converters make up less than 50% of the market. Self-manufacturing is stronger in Europe than in any of the other regions and in addition there are a greater number of small, in-country suppliers. Competition from East Europe into West Europe is also increasing.

Patents and Licences

Amcor PET Packaging holds approximately 120 patents in the U.S. Many of these innovations are also patented in our major markets outside the US, especially in Europe and Brazil. The bulk of these patents are held for the competitive advantage of our business, and our income from licensing is marginal.

Amcor PET Packaging has a significant relationship with Yoshino Kogyosho, a Japanese packaging company from which we license heat set technology. Over the years, this relationship has grown to a strategic partnership, with technical information and innovations shared between our two companies exceeding the scope of the original contract. This relationship has been mutually beneficial.

Amcor Australasia

Products

Amcor Australasia manufactures a range of corrugated boxes, cartons, packaging papers, aluminium beverage cans, aluminium and steel aerosol cans, steel cans for food, flexible and film packaging, pouches, PET plastic jars and bottles, rigid plastic containers, glass wine bottles, plastic and metal closures and multiwall paper sacks.

Based in Melbourne, the group operates from 66 facilities and employs over 6,700 people throughout Australia and New Zealand. Major manufacturing sites include 13 corrugated box plants, 12 metal packaging plants, 13 flexible and plastic packaging plants, 13 carton and sack plants, four paper mills and a glass plant.

Amcor Australasia had a turnover of over A$2.5 billion in 2003-04, of which 95% relates to sales within Australia and New Zealand. Approximately 8% of the paper manufacturing group's sales relates to exports into South East Asian countries and to Amcor subsidiaries in the US. The metals, cartons and plastics businesses have some export sales within the Pacific region and some small volumes to South East Asia and the US. For these businesses, however, export sales represent no more than 4 to 8% of the total sales of each business. The fibre and glass businesses have no significant export sales.

Amcor Australasia participates in most packaging segments and therefore supplies packaging to most manufacturing sectors in Australia and New Zealand. Its main market however is the food and beverage industry, with approximately 70% of total sales made to this market.

Seasonality

The Australasian packaging market is not subject to large seasonal swings in demand, given the high dependence on the food and beverage industry. Consumer demand does increase over the main holiday periods of Christmas and Easter and this is reflected in increased demand from Amcor Australasia's customers in the lead up to these holiday periods. In particular, this affects Amcor Australasia's Beverage Can business and the confectionery segments of the Cartons and Flexibles businesses. These seasonal variations are well understood and planned for by the food and beverage industry and as a result, Amcor Australasia's monthly turnover during peak periods is no more than 10% higher than average.

Fresh fruit and produce is a major part of the Australasian food industry and the Corrugated Fibre Box and Food Can businesses have significant sales into that market. Clearly, individual crops within this segment have seasonal peaks but the product range of the industry and Amcor Australasia's broad customer base means that individual seasons do not have a significant overall impact.

Raw Materials

Raw Materials of the business fall into three broad areas. The main raw material of the Paper, Corrugated Box and Carton business is wood fibre, either virgin or recycled. Globally the price of fibre does follow a cycle as the supply/demand balance is affected by the large changes in supply brought on by new, high capacity paper mills as opposed to more gradual, market driven changes in demand. This cycle tends to run over a period of several years. In Australasia, the industry is somewhat insulated from these movements as there is a good supply of virgin fibre from the domestic forest industry and a well developed recycling industry to supply recycled fibres. Fibre prices have therefore remained relatively stable in recent years. Furthermore, when increases have occurred in the past, it has generally been possible to recover them from the market.

The main raw materials of the plastic packaging businesses are petroleum based and with a reasonable correlation to the price of crude oil, are more volatile than fibre prices. In these businesses, the impact of changing raw material prices is passed on to customers through rise and fall pricing contract clauses wherever possible. This is generally achieved with the larger and more sophisticated customers, with whom we have long term contracts and who understand the raw material markets. With smaller customers and commodity type products, the ability to pass on price changes depends on market conditions at the time.

The main raw materials of the metal packaging businesses are steel and aluminium. Both of these materials are subject to world pricing movements and aluminium in particular is traded globally. The impact of changes in these raw material prices is also passed on to customers through rise and fall clauses wherever possible.

Competitive Position

Australasia is a relatively small market in global terms with a relatively small number of major competitors. These factors allow market research to provide a reasonably accurate picture of our market position. Such market research is conducted on a regular basis by a small central marketing team and Amcor Australasia is also a member of several industry associations.

Our overall share of the Australasian packaging market is approximately 26%, which is higher than any of our competitors. Within each of the segments that we compete in, we hold the number 1 or 2 position in terms of turnover in most segments.

Broadly, the Australasian packaging market is mature and has limited growth prospects. Within packaging however, some segments such as flexible packaging, wine bottles and PET bottles, have growth opportunities. Others, while profitable, are either static or in decline due to substitution from other packaging and from the industry life cycle of products.

Excess capacity exists in most packaging segments and most major competitors continue to replace old equipment with state of the art technology. At the same time, our customers continue to find attractive returns difficult to achieve as the major supermarket chains seek greater market power and continue to increase demands upon their suppliers. The concentration in the retail sector has risen, with the two major supermarket chains increasing their market share from 65% to 80% in the last eight to ten years.

To meet this competitive business environment, Amcor Australasia focuses on product leadership, growth of niche food & beverage segments, adding value for customers, and continually lowering of the cost base. Amcor Australasia also has an active reinvestment program and the total value of major new capital projects is consistently in excess of annual depreciation.

Patents and Licences

Amcor Australasia has an extensive portfolio of over 100 patents and over 200 trademarks and registered designs. Many of these intellectual property rights are registered in both Australia and New Zealand and a selected few also have wider international registrations, reflecting their world-leading nature. Historically, patents and designs were held for the competitive advantage of our business and current income from licensing is minimal but Amcor Australasia is now actively pursuing revenue opportunities in this area, including through collaborations with other international Amcor divisions.

Several businesses are also party to a number of technical assistance agreements with international manufacturers, especially in metal packaging. These provide access to new technology in terms of both product design and manufacturing processes. In particular, Amcor Glass pays an annual fee to Heye Glass of Europe, under a Technical Assistance Agreement that allows Amcor to use their technical knowledge, including their recuperative furnace technology.

Amcor Flexibles

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Amcor Flexibles was initially created in 2001 through the combination of all relevant flexible packaging assets of Amcor Limited, Danisco A/S and Ahlstrom Corporation. The following acquisitions have since been undertaken to create the current business:

The acquisition of Tobepal the flexible packaging and extrusion operations of the Tobepal Spanish operations in May 2002;

The acquisition of two flexible packaging plants in the UK from Rexam in May 2002;

The purchase of the 28.1% minority stake in Amcor Flexibles from Danisco and Ahlstrom in July 2003; and

The acquisition of the flexible healthcare business of Rexam in October 2003.

Amcor Flexibles is headquartered in the United Kingdom and it operates 40 manufacturing plants throughout Europe and 7 in the Americas.

Products

Amcor Flexibles is active in providing high quality flexible packaging and supplies a wide range of food and beverage markets including confectionery, coffee, fresh food, dairy and healthcare applications. Its technological capabilities include gravure and flexographic printing, coating and lamination, co-extrusion, metallising, micro-perforation pouch and bag making and Die Cut lids.

Flexible packaging is part of the wider packaging industry which includes rigid and semi-rigid packaging using materials such as glass, cartonboard, tin and rigid plastic (e.g. carton boxes for cigarettes and biscuits, tins for food, jars for coffee, cans for beer, plastic bottles for milk and other drinks, yoghurt cups, PVC sandwich packaging etc.) Flexible packaging involves the manufacture, supply and conversion of plastic and cellulose films, aluminium foils and papers into reels of packaging to be used for primary retail food packaging and labelling and certain other non-food sectors. There are thousands of different flexible packaging products, based on a variety of films, papers and foils. These materials can be used independently (as monowebbs) or in combinations (laminates) for a very wide range of different end uses.

Most demand for flexible packaging is bespoke in the sense that each customer has very specific requirements for each product it is packaging. The customer selects a bespoke product based on a number of considerations: cost, functionality, shelf life, machinability and look and feel. A combination of these factors determined by the customer will set the parameters within which the raw materials and conversion processes used for the specific product supplied will be chosen. As a result, similar products may often be packaged very differently, whilst different products may be packaged with similar packaging. On the demand-side, it is therefore not meaningful to sub-divide the flexible packaging market into narrower sub-markets.

Seasonality

Given the wide diversity of product offering that Amcor Flexibles produces it is not considered to be a seasonal business. However elements of its product portfolio are by their nature seasonal, for example ice cream and snacks, which experience a growth in sales during warm weather, while products such as coffee will have slower sales during this type of weather. In terms of fresh produce these products are packed during specific crop seasons and as such show higher sales during these periods. Given Amcor Flexibles position as a predominantly European business, July and August are slower months as there are manufacturing shut downs and holiday periods for certain European countries such as France and Sweden.

Raw Materials

The principal raw materials used in the production of flexible packaging are as follows: polyethylene (PE), polyamide (PA-nylon), ethylvinylalcohol (EVOH), biaxially oriented polypropylene (BOPP), cast polypropylene (CPP), polyvinylchloride (PVC), polyvinylidene chloride (PVdC), polyester, cellulose film, aluminium foil and various types of paper. Raw materials generally have a wide range of applications across our products and have numerous suppliers with which Amcor has established relationships.

Competitive Position

Amcor Flexibles is the number two producer of flexible packaging material within Europe behind Alcan (measured in terms of sales value). Amcor Flexibles is the global leader in terms of sales and service capability for medical packaging. The Company has a European leadership position in the following segments, Dairy, Produce and Beverage. While within other key segments such as Confectionery, Snacks and Processed Food it holds the number two position. With 40 plants in Europe Amcor Flexibles has a large manufacturing footprint which enables it to not only service its Pan-European customers but also to provide local or regional production for national customers.

There is a very high degree of supply-side substitutability in the sense that manufacturers of flexible packaging with one set of characteristics can readily produce flexible packaging displaying a different set of characteristics. Amcor Flexibles distinguishes itself from its competitors through innovation, product quality, safety, focus on customer service and its ability to deliver global packaging solutions to its customers.

Patents and Licences

Innovation is a key component of Amcor Flexibles strategy to be an industry leader and it invests significant resources to ensure that it meets the market needs for innovation. Amcor Flexibles has a rigorous intellectual property development system, based on an Amcor wide business process of Product Leadership & Innovation which facilitates the efficient development of new concepts and the filing of appropriate patents to ensure protection.

Amcor Flexibles currently holds 103 patents. Patents are held for a wide variety of process improvements and new products. Patents are held both at a national and regional level as appropriate.

As noted Amcor Flexibles technical capabilities include gravure and flexographic printing, coating and lamination, co-extrusion, metallising, micro-perforation pouch and bag making and Die Cut lids.

Amcor Sunclipse

Products

The Amcor Sunclipse business is made up of both manufacturing and distribution operations. The manufacturing business produces corrugated board and boxes and consists of 3 corrugated sheet operations and 9 manufactured packaging products facilities. The distribution group, known as the Kent H. Landsberg Company, operates from 33 distribution facilities in 13 US states and 4 in Mexico. There are also 4 divisions that are considered re-distributors who sell to other distributors. The distribution group sells all types of industrial and janitorial supplies including flexible packaging. It services markets with heavy concentrations of manufacturing. The company has been gradually expanding from its California roots.

Seasonality

The overall business is vulnerable to the levels of manufacturing activity in the US and Mexico and benefits during periods of prosperity in manufacturing. The shift of manufacturing from Mexico to Asia has adversely impacted the Mexican operations particularly in Guadalajara. The strongest period for the business is typically the September through November time frame prior to the Christmas holidays. The quietest time is usually in January and February after the holidays.

Raw Materials

The three corrugated sheet manufacturers presently rely on three major suppliers for their paper roll stock. However there are in excess of ten other minor supply relationships in place. Many of these minor suppliers have far reaching capabilities. This creates a healthy competitive environment even in a market that has experienced some tightness after an extended three to four year period of abundant supply. The distribution group has access to numerous suppliers for all its products both domestic and overseas.

There is exposure to typical raw material or finished goods supply price movements. These are initiated for a variety of reasons, such as supply conditions tightening and or increases in the price of oil and labour. The business has shown an ability to pass on these costs to their customers as the price increases usually impact the competition in a similar manner.

Competitive Position

Business is conducted typically on an order by order basis. Sales emanating from supply agreements with customers do not represent a significant percentage of total sales. The company's suppliers also work on an order by order basis although there are some supply agreements in place with our major corrugated rollstock suppliers. The company does not rely on patents, exclusive licenses or contracts.

Amcor Rentsch and Closures

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Amcor Rentsch, headquartered in Switzerland, is a producer of tobacco packaging and specialty folding cartons for the cosmetics and confectionery industries. It has seven manufacturing plants in six countries – Switzerland (2), France, Germany, Poland, Portugal and Russia. There is also a small joint venture operation in Spain, Litographia Romero, where Amcor Rentsch is a minority shareholder (40%).

As Amcor Rentsch's main product line is tobacco packaging the demand profile is not seasonal. There are external factors, e.g. regulatory health warnings or tax increases, which from time to time can drive demand and activity peaks.

The principal raw material is fibreboard, in both roll and sheet stock. The vast majority of customers control the purchase price of these raw materials and consequently our supply contracts have full raw material cost movement and price adjustment mechanisms.

Business is conducted on a contractual basis, with typical terms of 1 to 4 years. In Europe, our principal market, four competitors have over 75% of the market. The tobacco industry has extremely demanding quality requirements, which raises the barriers to entry.

Amcor Closures is a global producer of metal and plastic closures with 12 plants in 11 countries and is headquartered in Switzerland. This business group's main products are metal vacuum closures for glass jars and bottles. It also produces a range of plastic closures for beverage and specialty applications through its Bericap joint venture in North America.

The Closures business has a significant amount of business in the beverage, fruit and vegetable segments and volume is consequently higher during the Northern Hemisphere summer season.

Principal raw materials are tinplate steel for metal closures and polypropylene resin for plastic closures. The business has numerous suppliers of these materials.

Business is generally conducted on an annual supply agreement. In the case of metal closures prices are generally agreed for a 12 month period. For plastic closures, agreements have full pass through of resin and foreign exchange movements on a six month basis. The metal closures business derives its competitive position from its leading market share in Europe and Asia and industry leading low cost position. The plastic closure business has a number of innovative products with predominantly its own intellectual property and some license arrangements.

Amcor Asia

Amcor Asia, headquartered in Singapore, supplies corrugated and tobacco packaging in the region. Other products supplied include flexible packaging, paper sacks and closures. The business has 15 manufacturing plants across five countries - Singapore, Malaysia, Indonesia, China and Thailand.

The business has six corrugated box plants and four tobacco packaging plants in the area. Its other products include closures, flexible packaging and paper sacks.

Corrugated packaging is normally a very competitive market with excess capacity throughout Asia. The ability of key customers to reposition their production facilities to alternative countries as labour costs impact on their products causes a continual shift and scramble for corrugating work.

Tobacco packaging is a market segment Amcor operates in, that has only three major international cigarette manufacturers together with the monopoly of the State run industry within China, Thailand and other Asian countries. The dominance of these three international cigarette manufacturers creates strong pricing pressure as they benchmark packaging prices around the world.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Flexibles packaging is a growing segment in Asia as the cost base is so much lower than Europe or US. However the majority of specialized Flexible packaging for Asia is still supplied by European or US manufacturing.

Paper sacks is a specialised market, with a relatively small market size, excluding cement sacks. It operates in an over capacity environment within Asia. Most large paper sack manufacturers have positioned production facilities within the Asian region. There is quite a limited choice in the sourcing of sack kraft paper throughout the world.

Within the corrugated market the demand for food and beverage packaging is higher in the annual festive season of December through to April. This is offset by the electronic segments high season of June through to November. There are no significant seasonal factors influencing the tobacco segment. Flexibles packaging is influenced by the food and beverage segments which causes a higher level of activity in the period November to February.

Raw materials are sourced throughout the world with Amcor Asia directly affected by both world prices (driven by supply and demand) and foreign currency exchange fluctuations.

Environmental and Other Regulations

The regulatory constraints on Amcor's businesses include compliance with the following:

the provisions of various jurisdictions' corporate regulations;

trade practices and consumer protection legislation labor legislation;

the provisions of various jurisdictions' Anti Trust legislation; numerous laws relating to workers' compensation and rehabilitation, occupational health and safety, dangerous goods handling; and environmental regulations of various kinds.

The ACCC and the NZCC have commenced investigations of conduct by the Company that may breach Australian and New Zealand competition laws. These investigations and the Company's internal investigations of the same matters are at an early stage. See Item 8, Financial Information - Legal Proceedings, for further information relating to the investigations.

Amcor's worldwide manufacturing operations are subject to extensive environmental regulation. Amcor believes it is substantially in compliance with these regulations. There were no significant environmental incidents in 2003-04.

Amcor's current environmental management system is based on International Standard ISO14001. A detailed program of environmental auditing provides feedback on the effectiveness of the management system and includes site inspections and assessments of environmental risk. Amcor's environmental performance is monitored regularly by management and the Board and is a component of management performance appraisal and remuneration.

Amcor's major environmental objectives are to ensure that:

all major manufacturing sites are certified to ISO14001;

there is a reduction in energy per unit of product; and there is a reduction in waste to landfill per unit of product.

During 2003-04, the number of sites certified to ISO14001 increased with the flexibles sites in the UK achieving certification.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

The Dow Jones Sustainability Index includes the top 10% of the world's leading sustainability companies. Sustainability encompasses a company's activities, performance and contribution in regard to environment, safety and the community, without compromising the needs of future generations. Amcor was assessed against other packaging companies and was included in the Index in 2004 for the fourth consecutive year.

Amcor is committed to recycling and is actively involved in recycling many of its products. Amcor Australasia is a recycler of packaging and glass and is involved with local supermarkets in the recycling of soft plastics, while Amcor PET Packaging operates a recycling plant in France.

Amcor was a founding member of Australia's National Packaging Covenant in 1999 which was established for an initial period of five years. Its fourth Action Plan was published in November 2003 and reported on Amcor's activities in relation to recycling, resource utilisation, product development and research, education and support systems. We are currently reviewing the Covenant with a view to extending it for a further five years.

Amcor complies with a number of food and medical packaging standards such as EN 868 for medical packing produced within Europe, standards published by the Agricultural Development Advisory Service (ADAS), The American Institute of Baking (AIB), the British Retail Consortium (BRC) and US Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

Amcor, like all corrugated suppliers, continues to prepare for the implementation of the Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) tagging requirements. This is a mandatory U.S. Department of Defense requirement for corrugated boxes sold to the military branch of the U.S. government effective January 1, 2005. The company does not presently do business with the U.S. government however this RFID requirement may lead to a more general acceptance.

Amcor believes that its facilities are suitable and adequate for its present needs and are generally well maintained and in good operating condition. Amcor carries insurance covering property, casualty and certain other risks to which its worldwide facilities and operations may be subject.

108 of Amcor's principal manufacturing and distribution facilities are owned. Those facilities which are not owned are leased by Amcor for periods varying from one to 10 years. Amcor does not believe any of its businesses is dependent on any single facility.

Capital expenditure on property, plant and equipment, excluding acquisition of controlled entities and businesses is outlined in the table below. Net capital expenditure is arrived at after deducting proceeds on disposal of property, plant and equipment and does not include proceeds on disposal of controlled entities, businesses and investments.

	2004	Year Ended June 30
	A$m	2003	2002
	A$m	A$m	A$m
Gross capital expenditure	605	890	351
Proceeds on disposal on property, plant and equipment	98	58	207
Net Capital expenditure	507	832	144

In 2003-04 the major items of capital expenditure included the PET injection and blow moulding assets of Arca in Mexico, upgrade of the paper mill in Queensland, Australia and additional printing presses at Rentsch's plant in Russia.

In 2002-03 the major items of capital expenditure included the expansion of PET Packaging's injection moulding and blow moulding capacity, upgrade of paper mill in Queensland, Australia to improve board quality and expansion of plastic closure capacity in Poland.

In 2001-02 the major items of capital expenditure included the expansion of the PET business in Canada, purchase and installation of a flexograph press for Amcor Australasia at Scoresby Preprint, Victoria, Australia; and purchase of blowmould machines for CNC Containers at Arizona and Washington, USA.

ITEM 5 OPERATING AND FINANCIAL REVIEW AND PROSPECTS

A. Operating Results

The discussion below contains certain forward-looking statements. Amcor's actual results could differ materially from those anticipated by those forward-looking statements due to a variety of factors, including those set forth under "Forward-Looking Statements", "Risk Factors" and elsewhere in this Annual Report.

Critical Accounting Policies (refer F-11 Note 1 Accounting Policies)

Amcor's consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Australian GAAP. Our significant accounting policies are more fully described in Note 1 to our financial statements. The preparation of our financial statements requires management to make estimates and judgements that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses and the disclosure of contingent liabilities. We continually evaluate our estimates and judgements including those related to bad debts, inventories, intangible assets, income taxes, financing activities, restructuring costs, contingencies and litigation. We base our estimates and judgements on historical experience and on various other assumptions we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances. This forms the basis for making judgements about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions.

Our accounting policies have been developed over many years as generally accepted accounting principles or GAAP have evolved. As our financial statements are prepared under A-GAAP our accounting policies are necessarily compliant with all aspects of A-GAAP. A-GAAP is based on a substance over form conceptual framework that requires us to look through the legal interpretation of an arrangement or transaction to its underlying purpose and to reflect it in our financial statements on that basis.

Changes in Amcor's accounting policies generally reflect changes to currently applicable Australian Accounting Standards and disclosure requirements of Australia's professional accounting bodies. These changes are described in Note 1 to our financial statements, as are the financial effects of these changes in the current or prior periods.

In developing accounting policies, in addition to A-GAAP requirements, we also consider industry practice. Where there is no conflict with A-GAAP we also consider the suitability of accounting policies under US-GAAP. This reduces the number of A-GAAP/US-GAAP reconciliation differences required to be adjusted in Note 33 to our financial statements.

In all material respects our accounting policies are applied consistently across Amcor. The critical accounting policies discussed below generally apply to all segments of Amcor. Management has discussed the development and selection of these critical accounting policies with the Audit and Compliance Committee of our Board of Directors. The following are the critical accounting policies we apply in producing our A-GAAP financial statements.

On July 3 2002, the Australian Financial Reporting Council announced that Australia would adopt International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), formerly known as International Accounting Standards, for financial years beginning on or after January 1, 2005 (fiscal year ending June 2006 for Amcor). Refer to Note 32 to our financial statements for a discussion of the key areas where accounting policies will change and may have an impact on the financial report of Amcor. At this stage the consolidated entity has not been able to reliably quantify the impacts on the financial report.

Recovery of Long-lived Assets

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Long-lived assets, consisting primarily of property, plant and equipment and intangibles, comprise a significant portion of Amcor's total assets. Changes in the intended use of these assets may cause the estimated period of use or the value of these assets to change.

Long-lived assets, including goodwill and intangibles, are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances have indicated that changes in their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. Estimates and assumptions used in both setting depreciable lives and testing for recoverability require both judgements and estimations. Property assets are independently valued on an existing use basis every three years and we assess the recoverable amounts of our plant and equipment bi-annually, based on an analysis of the current replacement cost of plant and equipment at each business location. We assess the carrying value of acquired goodwill for impairment at least annually based on its recoverable amount. Our assessments include methodologies such as earnings multiples and discounted cash flow. If earnings and earnings multiples change, Amcor may have to record additional impairment charges not previously recognized.

Acquisition Accounting

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

In future years, Amcor may continue to grow our business through acquisitions. Amcor accounts for the acquisitions using the purchase method of accounting. The accounting for business acquisitions is complex and involves the use of significant judgment.

Under the purchase method of accounting, a business acquisition is accounted for at a purchase price based upon the fair value of the consideration given, whether it is in the form of cash, assets, stock or the assumption of liabilities. The assets and liabilities acquired are measured at their fair values, and the purchase price is allocated to the assets and liabilities, since the majority of the assets and liabilities acquired do not have fair values that are readily determinable. Different techniques may be used to determine fair values, including market prices, where available, appraisals, comparisons to transactions for similar assets and liabilities and present value of estimated future cash flows. Since these estimates involve the use of significant judgment, they can change as new information becomes available.

Capitalization of Costs

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

When we incur costs, we classify them as either operating expenses or capital costs. We expense operating expenses to the statement of financial performance as they are incurred. We only capitalize costs where we consider that they will generate future economic benefits. Capital costs are recorded as assets and shown in our statement of financial position based on the asset class considered most appropriate to those costs. Management and accounting policy guidelines are used in determining costs to be capitalized.

Doubtful Debts

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

We maintain provisions for doubtful debts based on an estimate of the inability of our customers to pay amounts due to us. These provisions are based on historical trends and management's assessment of general economic conditions. If the financial condition of our customers deteriorates these provisions may not be sufficient and may lead to an increase in bad and doubtful debt expenses. We have no reason to believe that the provisions we have raised will not sufficiently cover bad debts arising out of the receivables we currently have on hand. Our provision for doubtful debts was A$52 million at June 30, 2004, A$60 million at June 30, 2003 and A$43 million at June 30, 2002. Trade debtors before any provision for doubtful debts were A$1,283 million at June 30, 2004, A$1,163 million at June 30, 2003 and A$1,122 million at June 30, 2002.

Slow Moving and Obsolete Inventory

Amcor's policy is to maintain a provision for slow moving and obsolete inventory based on our best estimate of such amounts at year-end. We base our estimate on a systematic, on-going review and evaluation of inventory balances. As part of this evaluation, we also consider the average age of the inventory as compared to anticipated necessary levels for future periods. We believe that the accounting estimate related to the establishment of a provision for slow moving and obsolete inventory is a critical accounting estimate because the evaluation is inherently judgemental and requires the use of significant judgements about expected future sales levels which may be susceptible to significant change.

Amcor's inventories are valued at the lower of cost (including an appropriate proportion of fixed and variable overheads) and net realisable value in the normal course of business.

Our provision for diminution in value of inventories was A$72 million at June 30, 2004, A$72 million at June 30, 2003 and A$58 million at June 30, 2002. Total value of inventories before any provision for diminution were A$1,442 million at June 30, 2004, A$1,356 at June 30, 2003 and A$1,003 at June 30, 2002.

Results of Operations

The following discussion is based on Amcor's consolidated financial statements as prepared under A-GAAP. A discussion of the differences between A-GAAP and US-GAAP, and the impact of those differences on the consolidated financial statements, is set out in Note 33 to the consolidated financial statements.

Amcor's senior management and Board review results on a PBITA basis and believe it is the most informative and reliable gauge for measuring and understanding trends across a diverse range of businesses. Given that Amcor will report under IFRS next year when there will be no amortization of goodwill, it is more appropriate to report segment results currently on a pre amortization basis.

2003 restructuring expenses following acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca businesses A$86.7 million.

2002 loss on disposal of tobacco packaging business in Canary Islands A$18.6 million; profit on disposal of balance of investment in Kimberly Clark Australia Pty Ltd A$553.4 million.

Year Ended June 30, 2004 Compared with Year Ended June 30, 2003

Sales

Sales revenue decreased slightly from A$10.7 billion in 2002-03 to A$10.4 billion in 2003-04. The decrease of 2.8% reflected a combination of increases due to the acquisitions of Rexam's Healthcare flexibles packaging business, Alcoa's Latin American PET packaging business, and the negative impact of translating foreign sales into Australian dollars. Other revenue was lower in 2003-04 due mainly to the sale in 2002-03 of our 65% share of Amcor White Cap LLC to Silgan Holdings Inc.

Interest

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Amcor's overall average interest rate in 2003-04 of 4.7%, was down from 5.0% in 2002-03. This, coupled with the impact of currency translation were the main reasons that net borrowing costs fell in 2003-04 to A$132.2 million from A$146.3 million in 2002-03 despite net debt increasing by 17% from A$2,297 million in 2002-03 to A$2,689 million in 2003-04.

Income Tax

Amcor's income tax rate in 2003-04 before significant items of 20.4% fell from 22.1% in 2002-03. This is primarily due to debt push down in higher rate jurisdictions and increases in loss recoupment in high tax rate jurisdictions.

Significant Items

The significant item in 2002-03 of A$86.7 million related to restructuring expenses following the acquisition of the PET and Closures businesses from Schmalbach-Lubeca. The significant items in 2003-04 totalled A$99.8 million and were made up of expenses associated with the PET business integration and restructure A$19.9 million; the Flexibles market sector rationalization A$69.3 million; and the write-down of residual assets of the former Twinpak group A$10.6 million

Net Profit

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Amcor's Australian GAAP net profit after tax decreased from A$361.3 million in 2002-03 to A$345.7 million in 2003-04. This result was negatively impacted by A$34 million from the translation, for reporting purposes, of overseas profits into Australian dollars, the currency in which we report our results. If exchange rates in 2002-03 had remained unchanged in 2003-04, net profit after tax would have been A$34 million higher in 2003-04.

The Company's US GAAP net profit increased from A$367.6 million in 2002-03 to A$377.6 million in 2003-04. The difference between the 2003-04 Australian GAAP net profit and the US GAAP net profit is detailed in Note 33 to the consolidated financial statements included in Item 18.

Dividend

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

A final dividend of A$0.16 per share (franked to 40%) was declared on all fully paid ordinary shares registered as at September 9, 2004, and paid on September 29, 2004. The final dividend, combined with the interim dividend of A$0.16 per share, represented an annual dividend of A$0.32 per share. This represents an increase of A$0.02 per share over the 2002-03 dividend.

Amcor PET Packaging

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2003-04 A$m	2002-03 A$m	Change %
Sales	3,205.2	3,236.2	(0.9)
Segment result (PBITA)	268.2	301.6	(11.1)

Amcor PET Packaging had a mixed year in 2003-04 with PBITA in US dollars increasing by 7.6% compared with 2002-03 (from US$176.8 million to US$190.3 million). As can be seen from the table, above, however, in Australian dollar terms, PBITA in 2003-04 fell by 11.1% from 2002-03. This was before significant items of A$19.9 million expense in 2004 relating to the PET business integration and restructure and A$ 59.5 million restructuring expenses in 2003 following acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca businesses.

Overall unit volumes in 2003-04 grew by 17% to 32.4 billion, of which just under 5% was due to acquisitions (see Recent Developments). This volume growth was achieved in all three regions (North America, Latin America and Europe).

The North American operations, including Canada, experienced volume growth in 2003-04 of 13.6% over 2002-03. This growth came primarily from the strength of the bottled water and custom markets, the latter driven by growth in the single serve juice and sports drinks categories. PBITA, however was down in 2003-04 by 13% compared with 2002-03. The higher Canadian dollar against US dollar forced prices lower and in the US there was strong pricing pressure from large customers.

In response, the business has undergone a rationalisation and restructuring plan which, together with a review of overhead expenses, is expected to reduce the number of North American employees by 250 people. In addition, PET Packaging has begun a review of pricing in the carbonated soft drink/water segment as, in many cases, prices are delivering unacceptable returns on the assets employed.

In Latin America (excluding acquisitions) volume growth in 2003-04 was 7.7% up on 2002-03. PBITA in this region was 25% higher in 2003-04 compared with 2002-03 with strong performances in Argentina and Venezuela helping offset shortfalls in Brazil where over-capacity and general economic conditions are causing some concern.

The European operations volumes in 2003-04 were 9% ahead of 2002-03 and PBITA, in US dollar terms was 42% ahead for the equivalent period (in local currency terms, PBITA in 2003-04 was 20% ahead of 2002-03). The good summer weather in Europe in 2003-04 assisted the businesses in the UK, Spain and France to improve volumes and PBITA over 2002-03 and the German operations also benefited from strong growth in the carbonated soft drink market and increased volumes in 2003-04 by 75%.

Excluding acquisitions, capital expenditure in 2003-04 was significantly less than in 2002-03 and was well under 2003-04's depreciation expense. Capital in 2003-04 was invested primarily in strengthening the push into higher margin, custom markets, including juices, food and personal care products.

Amcor Australasia

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2003-04 A$m	2002-03 A$m	Change %
Sales	2,537.9	2,455.7	3.3
Segment result (PBITA)	316.5	282.8	11.9

Growth in sales volume of glass wine bottles and restructuring initiatives in the fibre packaging, folding cartons and food can sectors contributed to Amcor Australasia's sales and profit improvement in 2003-04 over 2002-03. Sales and PBITA increased in 2003-04 by 3.3% and 11.9% respectively. One-off costs of restructuring were effectively offset by profit on sale of properties. However, the strength of the Australian dollar in 2003-04 had a negative impact on export margins, particularly in the paper and flexibles businesses.

In the fibre packaging segment the drought in Australia in 2003-04 had an adverse affect on corrugated box volumes in the dairy, fruit and produce markets. However this was partly offset by stronger demand in the meat market in Australia and New Zealand. Overall corrugated box volumes in 2003-04 were slightly down in Australia and up 5% in New Zealand compared with 2002-03.

The recycled paper mills continued to operate efficiently in 2003-04 but experienced a difficult year with lower demand from the Australian fibre box business, lower pulp sales and an adverse impact of the strengthening of the Australian dollar on export pricing.

The folding carton business improved its PBITA in 2003-04 over 2002-03 due in part to the restructuring of its operations on the east coast of Australia resulting in a lower cost base. The upgrade of the Petrie Mill in Queensland, Australia is expected to improve board quality and create an opportunity for replacement of imported whiteboards. Low margin export volumes, as expected, were adversely impacted by the shutdown of the mill for the upgrade.

The sacks business experienced a difficult year in 2003-04 with the drought conditions in Australia affecting dairy volumes. Additionally, the sacks market in Australia is very competitive. In the metal packaging segment, beverage can volumes in 2003-04 were 4% up on 2002-03, mainly in the soft and mixer drink sectors.

The full year benefits of the closure of the Dandenong, Australia food can plant contributed to the improved PBITA in 2003-04 of this business despite sales volumes being flat. Overall sales volumes in the aerosol can business improved in 2003-04, particularly aluminium cans.

In Amcor Australasia's plastics segment, the flexibles business's sales volumes in 2003-04 were slightly higher than 2002-03; however the strengthening of the Australian dollar had an adverse impact on the profit margins of exports. Resin supply was adversely affected by a gas field fire at Moomba, South Australia which necessitated importing resin and unfavourably impacted productivity. Overall, however, PBITA in 2003-04 was slightly up on 2002-03.

The glass wine bottle operation operated at full capacity in 2003-04 and sales volume exceeded expectations. Most major customers experienced strong export volumes during the year. A second glass furnace is on schedule for start-up in January 2005.

Amcor Flexibles

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2003-04 A$m	2002-03 A$m	Change %
Sales	2,241.0	2,170.3	3.3
Segment result (PBITA)	131.2	132.6	(1.1)

In local currency (euros), Amcor Flexibles' PBITA in 2003-04 increased 5.4% on 2002-03, from 74.2 million to 78.2 million. In Australian dollar terms, however, there was a decrease of 1.1%. This was before a significant item of A$69.3 million expense in 2004 for the Flexibles' market sector rationalization. The result was below expectations due to a decline in sales in the processed food sector, operational underperformance at some plants, poor economic conditions across much of Europe and a strong euro which impacted margins on export sales.

In Europe, Amcor Flexibles is organised into three markets – fresh food, healthcare and processed foods. Our Americas business is predominantly a healthcare business with some positions in processed and fresh food.

The fresh food sector, benefited from increased demand from consumers for fresh produce, chilled foods and dairy products in the UK and Southern Europe. As a result, PBITA in 2003-04 showed a substantial improvement over 2002-03.

The healthcare business has operations in Europe and the Americas. Assisted by the acquisition of the Rexam healthcare flexibles business in October 2003, sales volume and PBITA improved in 2003-04 compared with 2002-03. The integration of the Rexam acquisition has been completed and it is expected that synergy benefits will be achieved in future periods.

Difficult conditions in certain market segments and operational performance below expectations contributed to a difficult year in the processed food sector. Sales values in 2003-04 were around 7% below 2002-03 and volumes for the sector were impacted by economic conditions in Europe including a trend to more generic packaging. PBITA in 2003-04 was 15 million below 2002-03.

In order to address the operational difficulties experienced in 2003-04 in the processed food sector, Amcor Flexibles has recently announced plans to restructure or close a number of plants. It also plans to improve profitability in 2004-05 by reducing overheads.

Amcor Sunclipse

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2003-04 A$m	2002-03 A$m	Change %
Sales	1,158.1	1,299.0	(10.8)
Segment result (PBITA)	57.6	84.8	(32.1)

Reflecting adverse economic conditions in the USA, Amcor Sunclipse experienced a difficult year in 2003-04 with PBITA in US dollars down 17.7% from US$49.7 million in 2002-03 to US$40.9 million. In Australian dollar terms, PBITA was down 32.1% in 2003-04 compared with 2002-03.

In local currency, volume growth contributed to an 8% improvement in sales value in 2003-04 over 2002-03, however substantial pricing pressure led to reduced margins and a lower return on funds invested.

The manufacturing business, concentrated in California, was negatively impacted in 2003-04 by overcapacity, pricing pressures and loss of business to Asia and Mexico. Although volumes remained steady year on year, margins in 2003-04 were below those in 2002-03.

Paper suppliers implemented price increases in 2003-04 for the first time in 18 months, US$50 per tonne in March 2004 and US$50 per tonne in June 2004. The increases are expected to have a positive effect on the manufacturing business's profitability in 2004-05.

For the distribution business, a more complete full line selling approach contributed to sales values improving in 2003-04 by 7.6% over 2002-03 which helped to ensure PBITA was steady year on year.

Amcor Sunclipse's focus has been and will continue to be on reducing its cost base in an effort to ensure any improvement in sales values also reflects higher margins.

Amcor Rentsch and Closures

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2003-04 A$m	2002-03 A$m	Change %
Sales	1,012.2	1,310.6	(22.8)
Segment result (PBITA)	100.6	83.3	20.8

The combined Amcor Rentsch and Amcor Closures business improved PBITA in local currency (euros) and Australian dollars in 2003-04 compared with 2002-03 by 28.9% and 20.8% respectively. This was before a significant item of A$8.2 million restructuring expenses in 2003 following the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca businesses.

In Amcor Rentsch, sales increased by 6% in 2003-04 to 325 million and PBITA was also ahead of the equivalent period in the previous year.

In Russia, demand remains strong; a fourth printing press installed in the first half of 2003-04 is fully loaded and a fifth machine is currently being installed and is expected to start-up in December 2004. After the installation of the fifth press, this plant, which was first commissioned in 2000, will supply product to all major cigarette producers.

Ongoing growth has necessitated a second line be added to the new press in Portugal, which was started up in late 2003 to meet increased demand resulting from a new contract in the Southern European market.

As new health warnings on cigarette packets are progressively introduced across Europe, increased printing capability is required. Accordingly, Amcor Rentsch's present machines, which range from six to nine-colour, will be upgraded to 10-colour over the next two to three years.

Amcor Closures sales volumes and PBITA in 2003-04 were ahead of 2002-03 on a comparable basis. Sales and PBITA in 2002-03 included the 65% owned North American plastic and metal closures operations that were sold in January 2003 to the joint venture partner, Silgan Holdings.

In Europe a number of projects were completed or commenced in 2003-04 which are expected to support the business going forward. These included the relocation of the plant in Turkey to new premises; the start-up of the new plastic closures plant in Poland and the commissioning of three new, in-house designed, manufacturing lines in Germany.

Despite the stronger Canadian dollar, the Bericap joint venture had a satisfactory year with strong operational performances in the Canadian plants. The new plant in California, which is in its second year of operation, is performing profitably.

Amcor Asia's PBITA in Singapore dollars was up 12.7% in 2003-04 compared with 2002-03 (2003-04 S$37.2 million; 2002-03 S$32.1 million). PBITA in the six months to June 2004 of S$20.0 million was 55% ahead of the equivalent period in 2002-03 which was severely affected by the SARS epidemic in the region.

Overcapacity, aggressive pricing and paperboard price increases in the corrugating business, particularly in Malaysia, led to a difficult year and an adverse impact on PBITA.

The tobacco packaging business had a strong 2003-04 with sales volumes and PBITA substantially ahead of 2002-03. The two plants in China performed better than expected and Malaysian and Singaporean operations' PBITA in 2003-04 improved on 2002-03.

The flexibles operation, which consists of two plants in China and the recently acquired Rexam Healthcare plant in Singapore, had a solid year with PBITA in 2003-04 ahead of 2002-03.

The outlook for Asia is positive and it is expected that improving economic conditions will assist growth in the region in 2004-05.

Sales

Sales revenue grew 43% from A$7.5 billion in 2001-02 to A$10.7 billion in 2002-03 mainly as a consequence of the increased sales in Amcor PET Packaging and Amcor Rensch and Closures following the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca in July 2002. Other revenue in 2001-02 of A$1.1 billion was A$0.8 billion more than 2002-03 due mainly to the disposal in 2001-02 of Amcor's remaining 45% investment in KCA. Amcor's share of associates' net profit in 2001-02 was A$48 million but was zero in 2002-03 following the disposal of KCA.

Interest

Amcor's average interest rate decreased in 2002-03 to 5.0% from 5.2% in 2001-02; however net interest increased to A$146.3 million in 2002-03 from A$121.5 million in 2001-02 due to the increase in debt levels following the Schmalbach-Lubeca acquisition.

Income Tax

Amcor's income tax rate before significant items fell from 26.9% in 2001-02 to 22.1% in 2002-03. This is in part due to the full-year benefit of the tax deduction on the PACRS issued in 2001-02 (which is charged below net profit after tax and shown as a distribution of profits); this had a 2.2% positive effect on the tax rate in 2002-03. Amcor also implemented more efficient offshore capital structures in 2002-03 by pushing debt into higher tax environments.

Significant Items

The majority of the significant gain in 2001-02 of A$534.8 related to the gain on sale of Amcor's remaining holding in KCA and compares with a significant loss (after tax) in 2002-03 of A$70.1 million. This loss refers to the restructuring expenses consequent upon the acquisition of the PET and Closures businesses from Schmalbach-Lubeca.

Net Profit

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Amcor's Australian GAAP net profit after tax decreased from A$851.7 million in 2001-02 to A$361.3 million in 2002-03.

The Company's US GAAP net profit decreased from A$819.3 million in 2001-02 to A$367.6 million in 2002-03. The difference between the 2002-03 Australian GAAP net profit and the US GAAP net profit is detailed in Note 33 to the consolidated financial statements included in Item 18.

Dividend

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

A final dividend of A$0.15 per share (franked to 40%) was declared on all fully paid ordinary shares registered as at September 11, 2003, and paid on October 1, 2003. The final dividend, combined with the interim dividend of A$0.15 per share, represented an annual dividend of A$0.30 per share. This represented an increase of A$0.02 per share over the 2001-02 dividend.

Amcor PET Packaging

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2002-03 A$m	2001-02 A$m	Change %
Sales	3,236.2	802.5	303.1
Segment result (PBITA)	301.6	79.2	280.8

Amcor PET Packaging had a strong year in 2002-03 with volumes up 11%, on a comparable year basis over 2001-02, to 27.7 billion containers. Growth in the higher margin custom business was 27% with this business segment representing 16% of total annual sales volume in 2002-03. This was before significant items of A$59.5 million restructuring expenses in 2003 following acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca businesses.

PBITA was up 280% in 2002-03 to A$301.6 million, reflecting the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca businesses as well as strong volume growth in all sectors of the market.

The business in the US showed particularly strong volume growth in 2002-03; it grew 23% over 2001-02 on a comparable basis. This was due to underlying volume growth in the bottled water market and continued penetration of single serve juices and sports drinks.

In 2002-03 custom bottle growth was 25% over 2001-02 continuing the strong trend in this higher margin segment over the past few years. The Canadian business experienced volume growth during the year of 12%, mainly attributable to increased demand in the water segment.

The North American business yielded an increase in PBITA in 2002-03 of 22% over the prior year on a comparable basis due to increased demand for PET bottles and the benefit of synergies.

In Latin America, overall volumes in 2002-03 were in line with the 2001-02. In Mexico, volumes were up strongly, particularly in the higher margin custom business driven mainly by the rapid growth of sports drink and juice containers.

In Brazil, volumes were down year on year due to a renewed focus on strategic customers, while in Argentina, the overall market in 2002-03 was slowly recovering from the 2002 economic crisis. For the Latin American region, PBITA in 2002-03 was ahead of 2001-02.

In Europe, volume growth in 2002-03 was 4% on a comparable basis, but with an improved performance in the second half when volumes were up 6%. There was continued strong growth in the UK, France and Spain, while volumes in Germany were impacted by government deposit legislation and were well down on 2001-02.

PBITA in Europe for 2002-03 was up 18% on 2001-02, after being slightly lower in the first half. The UK operations had a strong growth in profit, however the delayed start-up of the new recycling facility at Beaune in France had an adverse impact. Elsewhere, volume and profit expectations were largely met and custom containers continued to grow as a percent of the overall product mix.

The PET business continued to experience new growth opportunities and during 2002-03 over US$120 million, excluding the acquisition of Alcoa's PET operations in Latin America (see Recent Developments), was approved for expansion; this consisted of an additional 26 injection moulding machines and 29 blow moulding machines.

The 2002-03 year marked the first full year of operation after the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca's PET business. The business ended the year having completed its restructuring program (combining two plants in Southern California and upgrading the remaining plant and combining the Peru and Venezuela businesses) and implemented an integrated worldwide management structure.

Amcor Australasia

	2002-03 A$m	2001-02 A$m	Change %
Sales	2,455.7	2,367.7	3.7
Segment result (PBITA)	282.8	254.2	11.3

Amcor Australasia recorded another sound performance with sales up 4% from A$2.368 billion in 2001-02 to A$2.456 billion in 2002-03 and PBITA improving by 11.3% from A$254.2 million to A$282.8 million in 2002-03.

In the fibre packaging segment, corrugated box volumes were up 6%. More settled industrial conditions in Australia underpinned volume growth of 7% with 2% volume growth in New Zealand. Earnings improved both in Australia and New Zealand due to continued productivity gains, fibreboard rationalisation initiatives and price increases recovering cost increases.

The recycled paper mills' buoyant first half continued with strong domestic demand while export prices held their first half levels. The mills continued to operate efficiently and were assisted by paperboard specification rationalisation. Wastepaper collections totalled 815,000 tonnes in 2002-03 up 4% on 2001-02.

The folding carton business consists of a paper mill at Petrie in Queensland, Australia as well as a number of conversion plants in Australia and New Zealand. The Petrie Mill experienced strong domestic demand and productivity levels, which offset some volume losses in the conversion business. During 2002-03 a $55 million upgrade was approved for the Petrie Mill to improve the board quality and in the conversion business there was a restructuring of operations, which included a labour force reduction of 6%.

The sacks business continued to focus on the dairy market, with innovative new products that reduce transport costs of bulk products. The drought conditions impacted volumes in 2002-03, which were down 9% from 2001-02.

In metal packaging, the beverage can business had a solid year with volumes up 2% in 2002-03 on the previous year. Pre-mixed alcoholic beverages and soft drink multipack promotions were the main drivers of growth. Strategic capital investment totalling $30 million was approved for product development initiatives that include shaped and poly coated steel cans and a new low cost can end.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

The food can business performed strongly in 2002-03 despite being impacted by drought conditions in Australia. With the closure of the plant at Dandenong, Australia the business had three focused manufacturing plants in the Goulburn Valley in Victoria, South Queensland and Hamilton, New Zealand at June 30, 2003.

In plastics, the flexible packaging business achieved volume growth of 3% in 2002-03, which was slightly below expectations due to the drought conditions affecting the dairy and produce segments of their market. Profit rose in 2002-03 compared with 2001-02 and with further capital investment targeted at cost reduction, a strong focus on product development together with synergies flowing from the flexibles sector, the business is positioned to deliver improved results in future periods.

The glass wine bottle operation generated a positive profit contribution for the 2002-03 year. A trouble free start up, strong customer support with sales above forecast levels and strong productivity levels were the key drivers to the profit contribution. Growth rates in the export wine market remain strong and during 2002-03 Amcor obtained customer support to enable the justification of a further investment of $125 million in a second furnace that is expected to come on stream in the first half of calendar year 2005 (see Recent Developments).

Amcor Flexibles (AF)

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2002-03 A$m	2001-02 A$m	Change %
Sales	2,170.3	1,976.6	9.8
Segment result(PBITA)	132.6	93.2	42.3

AF continued to make strong progress in 2002-03 with PBITA up 42.3% on 2001-02 to A$132.6 million. This performance was achieved in an environment of volatile raw material prices and uncertain economic conditions, particularly in France and Germany in the second half of the fiscal year.

The PBITA to sales margin improved from 4.7% in 2001-02 to 6.1% in 2002-03. Further improvements came from ongoing cost reductions and new product developments in prior years.

The primary focus in 2002-03 was to improve the product mix to higher margin products and actively manage the impact of volatile raw material prices and as a result, volumes were flat. However, added value improved in all market sectors and raw material price increases were successfully managed through strong relationships with our customers and suppliers.

The acquisitions of Rexam Food Flexibles and Tobepal (see Recent Developments) were integrated into the AF business successfully in 2002-03.

The portfolio restructuring programme, which commenced in 2001-02, continued during the year with the sale of the non-core Unibag business in Denmark, the acquisition of the Leaderpack (Portugal) minorities in July 2002, the closure of the Dutch Flexibles business at Haarlem in August 2002 and the closure of the small Synco operation in Belgium in December 2002. Further minor restructuring continued at a number of plants with a resultant improvement in the operating cost base. Synergy benefits from the three-way merger in June 2001 continued to remain ahead of expectations.

During the 2002-03 year great emphasis was placed on plant focus, product leadership and innovation (PLI) and customer service. The PLI strategy strengthened AF's market, customer and product portfolio. Improvements were also achieved in customer satisfaction, with service, quality and on-time deliveries contributing to stronger customer relationships.

The small North American flexibles business performed to expectations and, along with other non-European Amcor flexibles operations, delivered synergy benefits from its association with a large European flexibles group.

The second half of 2002-03 saw softer demand due to economic weakness in France and Germany and, as a result, order books were generally weaker than anticipated going into the summer period.

Industry consolidation continued in the European flexibles packaging industry and AF was an active participant with emphasis on value and strategic enhancement.

Amcor Sunclipse

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2002-03 A$m	2001-02 A$m	Change %
Sales	1,299.0	1,413.2	(8.1)
Segment result(PBITA)	84.8	95.2	(10.9)

For the 2002-03 year Amcor Sunclipse's PBITA was flat in US$ terms, after being up 8% on 2001-02 in the first half. In A$ terms, PBITA in 2002-03 was down 10.9% compared with 2001-02.

The economy in the second half of 2002-03 was impacted by the war in Iraq, reducing demand across all segments of the business.

In the manufacturing business, cost containment efforts were not able to keep up with reduced prices and margins and PBITA was down 10% in 2002-03 compared with 2001-02. Competition and difficult economic conditions were especially prevalent in the main area of operation, Southern California.

In the distribution business, the Mexican operations experienced a reduction in demand as increased NAFTA tariffs resulted in several multinational customers moving manufacturing operations from Mexico to Asia. In response, the Mexican operations increased their focus on Mexican based opportunities.

The distribution business's largest United States sales regions are Southern California, Northern California and Texas. The Northern Californian operations experienced reduced demand from the technology sector and, as a consequence, increased their focus on wine and produce opportunities. Southern California and Texas operations generally experienced flat activity.

Overall, in local currency, sales grew by 4.8% in 2002-03 over the previous year and operating margins remained stable despite intense competitive pressure caused by the severe contraction in business activity. In A$ terms sales were down 8.1% in 2002-03 from A$1,413 million in 2001-02 to A$1,299 million.

In 2002-03 the rookie sales force was increased by 11% over 2001-02 aimed at increasing the ability to penetrate both new and existing accounts and markets. Best practices in the areas of procurement and logistics proved effective in defending market share and improving customer service. Specifically, worldwide purchasing, the development of a hub and satellite logistics network and inventory rationalisation projects yielded positive results.

Amcor Rentsch and Closures

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2002-03 A$m	2001-02 A$m	Change %
Sales	1,310.6	611.3	114.4
Segment result(PBITA)	83.3	48.6	71.4

For the combined Amcor Rentsch and Amcor Closures operations, PBITA was up 73% from A$48.6 million in 2001-02 to A$84.1 million in 2002-03 and sales were up 114% for the equivalent period mainly due to the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca's closures operations. This was before significant items A$8.2 million restructuring expenses in 2003 following the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca businesses and A$18.6 million loss on disposal of a business.

Amcor Rentsch had a strong year with sales up 15% in 2002-03 to A$549 million (from A$477 million in 2001-02) and profit before interest, tax and goodwill amortisation in 2002-03 also up on the equivalent period last year.

Volumes were particularly strong in Russia with the third printing press installed at Novgorod in November 2002 operating at full capacity.

Volume growth in Western Europe was assisted by the implementation of the European Union's directive for new health warnings on cartons. New designs from customers led to strong sales for product development services.

The business started up a new press in Portugal in late 2003, to meet increased volumes resulting from a new contract in the Southern European market.

In January 2003 Amcor announced the sale of its 65% holding in the North American metal and plastic closure business to its joint venture partner Silgan Holdings, via an existing agreement where Silgan Holdings exercised its right to acquire Amcor's shareholding.

Subsequent to the 2002-03 year-end, Amcor sold its plastic tub business for A$36 million. This business did not make a positive contribution to profit for the 2002-03 year.

For the ongoing White Cap Closures operations, volumes in 2002-03 were down 3.6% compared with 2001-02 due to a combination of the impact of deposit legislation in Germany, the weaker economy in Europe and the political uncertainty in Venezuela. The business continued to focus on ongoing cost cutting initiatives to improve operating productivity.

Expansion of the plastic closure capacity in Poland was completed and production commenced in January 2004. A new plant in the Philippines commenced operations and is supplying innovative proprietary closure technology to a food customer in the Asian region.

The 51% owned plastic closure joint venture with Bericap in North America operated two plants in 2002-03, one in Ontario and a new plant in California, which commenced production in July 2002. Sales for the 2002-03 year were up 12% on 2001-02, mainly due to the start-up of this new plant. The weakness in the US$ impacted margins in Canada for those closures exported to the US.

Amcor Asia

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

	2002-03 A$m	2001-02 A$m	Change %
Sales	263.4	310.4	(15.1)
Segment result	32.1	44.5	(27.9)

Amcor Asia had a difficult year with PBITA in 2002-03 down 21% in local currency terms and down 28% in Australian dollar terms to A$32 million from A$45 million in 2001-02.

After a flat first half of 2002-03, the economies of Asia were severely impacted by the SARS virus and the advent of the war in Iraq. Sales were down 15% from A$310 million in 2001-02 to A$263 million in 2002-03.

As a result of the SARS virus, the corrugated business, which has exposure to a broad range of industries, faced unstable paper prices and a substantial fall in demand. The plant at Dongguan in Southern China was particularly hard hit by its impact.

The tobacco carton business performed satisfactorily, although the plant in Beijing was severely impacted when distribution in the city almost came to a halt during the SARS epidemic.

The two flexible plants in China continued to improve their operating performance and PBITA in 2002-03 was ahead of 2001-02.

B. Liquidity and Capital Resources

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Amcor believes that its operating cash flow and existing credit facilities should be sufficient to fund all of its existing business needs for the foreseeable future, including currently anticipated capital expenditure, debt repayments and other contingent liabilities.

As indicated in the following table, Amcor has expended significant funds on capital expenditure projects and acquisitions over the past five fiscal years.

	Year Ended June 30,
	2004	2003	2002	2001	2000
(In millions, except percentages)
Capital expenditure	A$ 605	A$ 890	A$ 351	A$ 289	A$ 330
Acquisitions	A$ 618	A$ 2,858	A$ 371	A$ 663	A$ 101
Gearing: net debt/net debt and shareholders equity	36%	33%	(6)%	46%	43%
Total liabilities as % of total assets	54%	52%	48%	63%	63%

Capital expenditure commitments and contingent liabilities at June 30, 2004 were A$122 million and nil, respectively. Acquisition expenditure in 2003-04 of A$618 million related mainly to the acquisition of Rexam's Healthcare flexibles business and Alcoa's Latin American PET packaging business and the buyout of the minority interest of Amcor Flexibles.

Amcor ensures that adequate back-up funding facilities are in place to cover the risk of a loss of credit support or a general market disruption. Amcor has arranged back-up facilities to support sources of working capital funding.

Undrawn bank facilities available to Amcor at June 30, 2004 totalled A$2,211 million, of which A$1,220 million is committed funding. These unutilized credit lines included:

a A$600 million promissory note facility (undrawn at June 30, 2004 A$600 million);

a US$200 million commercial paper program (undrawn A$103 million); a US$200 million multi-currency Euronote facility (undrawn A$289 million); a A$350 million committed bi-lateral multi-currency term loan facility (undrawn A$46 million); and a US$1,000 million committed syndicated revolving multi-currency loan facility (undrawn A$1,134 million).

Total borrowings increased from A$2,013 million at June 30, 2003 to A$2,505 million at June 30, 2004. Net of cash and short-term deposits, net debt was A$1,851 million as at June 30, 2003 compared with net debt of A$2,356 million at June 30, 2004.

	2004		2003		At June 30, 2002		2001		2000
	(In A$ millions, except where indicated)
Long-term debt (excluding undated subordinated convertibles but including finance leases)(1)	A$	1,776	A$	1,004	A$	1,145	A$	1,559	A$	990
Net debt/(cash surplus)(2)	A$	2,356	A$	1,851	A$	(818)	A$	1,733	A$	984
Average interest rate(3)		4.7%		5.0%		5.5%		6.0%		6.6%

(1) Non-current liabilities (ie. debt which is due to be repaid more than twelve months after balance date). Undated subordinated convertible securities of A$332 million are not included in long term debt.

(2) Current and non-current bank and other borrowings, current and non-current lease liabilities and current indebtedness to related parties net of cash and deposits

(3) Includes an interest rate of 7.25% on A$332 million undated subordinated notes.

By keeping a proportion of variable-rate debt, Amcor was able to maintain the average interest rate paid on all borrowings in 2003-04 at 4.7% (2002-03 5.0%). Net interest cover at 4.5 times is higher than at June 30, 2003 and is well within the prudential limit established by Amcor's Board of Directors. Balance sheet gearing (net debt as a proportion of net debt plus shareholders' equity) was 36% at June 30, 2004, compared with 33% as at June 30, 2003.

Amcor retains Standard & Poor's and Moody's Investor Services to provide an independent rating of its creditworthiness. This provides a current assessment of the Group's overall financial capacity to meet its financial obligations. Current credit ratings for Amcor are as follows:

Short-term: A-2 (Standard & Poor's)
P-2 (Moody's)
Long-term: BBB+ Credit Watch Negative (Standard & Poor's)
Baa1 Stable Outlook (Moody's)

Amcor believes that having an investment grade rating delivers a conservative capital structure, retains financial flexibility, provides a buffer through the business cycle and allows good access to capital as required.

Amcor believes that it maintains a high level of liquidity including positive working capital (current assets less current liabilities), cash balances and substantial credit facilities (described above). Our working capital increased by A$150 million at June 30, 2004 due to an increase in current assets of A$102 million (receivables A$26 million, inventories A$86 million and cash (A$10 million)) and a decrease in current liabilities of A$48 million (accounts payable (A$185 million), borrowings A$280 million and provisions (A$47 million)).

The following table sets forth Amcor's cash flow information for the last five fiscal years:

	2004	2003	Year Ended June 30, 2002 (In A$ millions)	2001	2000
Net cash inflow from operating activities	1,032	875	901	416	467
Net cash inflow/(outflow) from investing activities	(1,061)	(3,504)	269	(934)	322
Net cash inflow/(outflow) from financing activities	106	398	810	608	(783)
Net increase/(decrease) in cash held	77	(2,231)	1,980	90	6

The decrease in cash outflow from investing activities reflects lower levels of expenditure in 2003-04 on acquisitions and capital. The outflow in 2002-03 mainly refers to the cash settlement of the purchase of the PET and Closures businesses from Schmalbach-Lubeca. Net cash from financing activities in 2003-04 is less than in 2002-03 due mainly to the lower levels of net borrowings in 2003-04.

Issued share capital increased from 848.2 million Ordinary Shares outstanding at June 30, 2003 to 878.0 million Ordinary Shares outstanding at June 30, 2004 due primarily to the shares issued for the Dividend Reinvestment Plan (DRP) and the conversion to ordinary shares of convertible securities.

On October 1, 2003, 30,178 shareholders participated in the DRP; 6,833,330 shares were issued at a price of A$8.59 per share and on March 31, 2004, 29,614 shareholders participated in the DRP; 4,505,792 shares were issued at a price of A$7.87 per share. On September 29, 2004, 29,834 shareholders participated in the DRP and 3,819,048 shares were issued at a price of A$7.34 per share.

c. Research and Technology

Research and development is an integral part of Amcor's strategy with a global presence established through Centres of Excellence in North America, Europe and Australasia. Communication between these facilities, and the subsequent exchange of information, provides Amcor's customers with packaging solutions on a global scale. Additionally, Amcor's Product Leadership and Innovation program, which was launched during the year to June 2003, is now a part of our culture with increased market and customer focus.

A key element of Amcor's research and development activities is the securing of intellectual property (IP) for Amcor and its customers. Our IP program ensures that ideas generated by Amcor employees to solve customers' needs and developments of innovative, cost-effective products and processes are kept as the IP of Amcor by utilising a range of registration or confidentiality agreements.

During 2003-04 Amcor spent approximately A$48 million on research and development. This compares with approximately A$50 million in 2002-03 and A$36 million in 2001-02.

Examples of Amcor's recent initiatives include:

Our P-Plus technology which enables pre-cut salads and vegetables in a sealed bag to remain fresh and nutritious for up to 10 days;

Our new Powerflex PET technology for PET bottles which offers the benefits of smooth sidewalls as well as vacuum control; it has a special vacuum-absorbing diaphragm built into its base and a unique sidewall designed to resist distortion;

The TrayBon Muffin Tray development which eliminates the need for repackaging as muffins are baked, cooked, cooled, transported and sold in the tray; and AromaSeal, a plastic canister designed for Proctor and Gamble's Folgers coffee; a feature of the canister is Amcor's one-way valve, SoftValve, which releases carbon dioxide emitted from freshly-ground coffee, while preventing air from entering and affecting the coffee's freshness.

D. Trend Information

Relevant trends are discussed for Amcor as a whole and for each business in Item 5A Operating Results

E. Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements*Non-recourse Receivables Securitization Programme*

Amcor utilises an uncommitted, multi-currency receivables securitization programme in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Spain and US. The trade receivables of some of the group entities in these jurisdictions are sold, on a non-recourse basis, into an independent securitization conduit which issues asset-backed commercial paper into organised markets.

The programme limit is A$210 million and the balance of trade receivables sold at June 2004 was A$198 million (there was a balance of A$190 million at June 2003).

The programme is not required to be included on balance sheet for A-GAAP purposes, but is added back and included on balance sheet in the reconciliation to US-GAAP (refer Financial Statements F-97).

C. Board Practices

Role of the Board

The Board's primary role is the protection and enhancement of long-term shareholder value. To fulfil this role, the Board is responsible for the overall corporate governance of the consolidated entity including approving the strategic direction put forward by management, approving and monitoring capital expenditure, setting remuneration, appointing removing and creating succession policies for directors and senior executives, establishing and monitoring the achievement of management's goals and ensuring the integrity of internal control and management information systems. It is also responsible for approving and monitoring financial and other reporting. Details of the Board's charter are located on the company's website (www.amcor.com).

The Board has delegated responsibility for operation and administration of the company to the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer and executive management. Responsibilities are delineated by formal authority delegations.

On December 7, 2004 the Chairman of Amcor Limited, Mr Chris Roberts, announced the resignation of Mr R H (Russell) Jones. Mr Roberts became Executive Chairman and Mr Louis Lachal (Executive General Manager Operations) became Acting Chief Operating Officer for the interim period prior to appointing a replacement Managing Director. During this period the responsibilities of the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer as referred to below will be appropriately discharged by the Executive Chairman and the Acting Chief Operating Officer.

Board Processes

To assist in the execution of its responsibilities, the Board has established the following Board committees -

Executive

Nomination

Human Resources, and

Audit and Compliance

These committees have written mandates and operating procedures, which are reviewed on a regular basis.

The Board has also established a framework for the management of the consolidated entity including a system of internal control, a business risk management process and the establishment of appropriate ethical standards.

The Board currently holds six scheduled meetings during the year plus strategy meetings and any extraordinary meetings at such other times as may be necessary to address any specific significant matters that may arise. The agenda for meetings is prepared in conjunction with the Chairman, Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer and Company Secretary. Standing items include the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer's report, business group Managing Directors' reports, financial reports, strategic matters and governance and compliance issues. Board papers are circulated in advance and executives regularly provide input to Board discussion. In addition, Directors have other opportunities for contact with a wider group of employees with regular visits to business units and plants, both local and overseas.

Composition of the Board

The composition of the Board is determined using the following principles:

a minimum of seven directors, with a broad range of expertise both nationally and internationally;

a majority of independent non-executive directors;

a majority of directors having extensive knowledge of the company's industries, and those which do not, having extensive expertise in significant aspects of financial reporting and risk management of large companies;

a non-executive independent director as Chairman; enough directors to serve on Board committees without overburdening the directors or making it difficult for them to fully discharge their responsibilities; and directors retire at the Board meeting following their 70th birthday and are subject to re-election at least every three years (except for the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer).

Nomination Committee

The Nomination Committee oversees the appointment and induction process for directors and committee members, and the selection, appointment and succession planning process of the company's Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer. The committee makes recommendations to the Board on the appropriate skill mix, personal qualities, expertise and diversity of each position. When a vacancy exists or there is a need for particular skills, the committee in consultation with the Board determines the selection criteria based on the skills deemed necessary. The committee identifies potential candidates with advice from an external consultant. The Board then appoints the most suitable candidate. Board candidates must stand for election at the next general meeting of shareholders.

The Nomination Committee also conducts an annual review of the effectiveness of the Board, its committees, individual directors, and senior executives. This review has been completed for the 2003-04 financial period. The review is conducted in-house and involves self-assessment. All directors have an opportunity to contribute to the review process. The reviews generate recommendations to the Board.

The Nomination Committee continues to review its evaluation processes to establish performance indicators that are both measurable and qualitative.

The Nomination Committee currently comprises the following members:

C I Roberts (Chairman) - Executive Chairman

E A Alexander - Independent Non-Executive Director

D C K Allen - Independent Non-Executive Director

Further details of the Nomination Committee's charter and policies, including those for appointing directors are available on the company's website.

The Executive Chairman and the Executive General Manager Finance have declared, in writing to the Board, that except for the conduct related to possible breaches of Australian and New Zealand competition laws detailed in Item 8, Financial Information – Legal Proceedings, the financial reporting risk management and associated compliance and controls have been assessed and found to be operating effectively. financial reporting accuracy and compliance with the financial reporting regulatory framework (see below); environmental regulation compliance (see below).

The consolidated entity strives to ensure that its products are of the highest standard. Towards this aim it has undertaken a program to achieve AS/NZS ISO 9002 quality assurance accreditation for each of its business segments.

Financial reporting

The Executive Chairman of the Board of Directors and the Executive General Manager Finance have declared, in writing to the Board, that except for the conduct related to possible breaches of Australian and New Zealand competition laws detailed in Item 8, Financial Information Legal Proceedings, the company's financial reports are founded on a sound system of risk management and internal compliance and control which implements the policies adopted by the Board.

Assessment of effectiveness of risk management

The internal auditors assist the Board in ensuring compliance with the internal controls and risk management programs by regularly reviewing the effectiveness of the abovementioned compliance and control systems. The Audit and Compliance Committee is responsible for approving the program of internal audit visits to be conducted each financial year and for the scope of the work to be performed on a regular basis.

Ethical standards

All directors, managers and employees are expected to act with the utmost integrity and objectivity, striving at all times to enhance the reputation and performance of the consolidated entity. Every employee has a nominated supervisor to whom they may refer any issues arising from their employment. The Board reviews the Corporate Code of Conduct and Ethics Policy regularly and processes are in place to promote and communicate these policies.

(1) E A Alexander also holds 50,000 partly paid shares paid to five cents.

(2) L J Lachal also holds 20,000 partly paid shares paid to one cent.

The aggregate of the fully paid ordinary shares in the above table represents approximately 0.2% of the company's fully paid ordinary shares.

As of December 20, 2004 executive officers and employees had been issued with 12,816,395 ordinary shares representing approximately 1.5% of issued capital, under employee share purchase plans.

Share Based and Employee Bonus Compensation Plans

Employee Share Purchase Plans

In 1985, the consolidated entity established the Employee Share Purchase Plan (ESPP). The maximum number of shares that can be issued under all plans cannot exceed 10% of the company's issued capital.

Employee Incentive Share Plan

Under the Employee Incentive Share Plan (EISP), shares are offered for the benefit of all full-time employees, permanent part-time employees and executive directors of Amcor Limited with more than twelve months' service. The number of shares offered depends upon the company's increase in earnings per share and is currently on the following basis: an increase in earnings per share of less than 5% will result in no offer; from 5% to 10%, an offer of 100 shares; from more than 10% to 15%, an offer of 200 shares will be made; and above 15%, an offer of 300 shares will be made.

Under the EISP, shares have been issued at a 40% discount to the prevailing market price of Amcor Limited shares. The subscription amount is funded by an interest-free loan from the company with the exception of senior executives who are not provided with the loan facility. Dividends on the shares are applied in repayment of the loan balance. If the employee leaves the company, the shares are sold and the proceeds are applied to discharge the loan. The employee is not liable for any deficiency upon such discharge.

Due to the restrictions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 in the US, no such loans referred to in the above plans have been made or extended to directors and executive officers since July 1, 2002.

Senior Executive Retention Share Plan

Under the Senior Executive Retention Share Plan (SERSP), the Board may nominate certain senior executives as being eligible to receive fully paid ordinary shares in part satisfaction of their remuneration for the relevant financial year. The number of shares issued is entirely at the Board's discretion. The shares may not be disposed of by the employee for a restricted period of up to 5 years, unless the employee ceases employment 3 years after the shares were issued. Any right or interest in the shares will be forfeited if the employee voluntarily ceases employment within three years from the date the shares were issued or if the employee is dismissed during the restricted period for cause or poor performance. The shares subject to the SERSP carry full dividend entitlements and voting rights.

Employee Share/Option Plans

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

In 1985, the consolidated entity also established the Employee Share/Option Plan (ESOP). Under the ESOP, partly paid shares or options of the company can be issued to executive officers and directors (including directors who are executives) and senior staff members selected by the directors. The shares are issued at market price at the time of issue. The call outstanding only becomes payable on retirement, death or at the directors' discretion. These shares do not carry dividend entitlements unless determined otherwise by the directors. Voting rights exercisable by holders of partly paid ordinary shares are reduced pro rata to the portion of the issue price paid up on those shares under the Australian Stock Exchange Listing Rules.

Options granted under the ESOP may be issued upon such terms and subject to such conditions as the directors of the company determine at the time. Options which have been granted under the ESOP have an exercise price which is based on the market price of Amcor Limited ordinary shares at the date of grant of the options.

2000 CEO Restricted Share and Option Issue

Shareholders at the 2000 Annual General Meeting approved the issue of three million options to the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer. The grant of options was made on August 18, 2000 at an exercise price of $5.67 which was the weighted average market price of Amcor Limited shares traded on the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX) for the week ended August 18, 2000. All options previously held by the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer were cancelled following the approval by shareholders of the issue of the three million options.

These options were issued in three equal annual tranches. Each tranche is subject to two performance hurdles: for the first half of each tranche, the Board must be satisfied that the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer has continued to demonstrate effective performance having regard to the financial and operating performance of the Company and any other factors affecting the reputation of the company or otherwise as the Board deems appropriate. For the second half, the Amcor Limited total shareholder return is to exceed a comparator total shareholder return. Full details of these performance criteria are set out in the explanatory notes mailed to shareholders for the 2000 Annual General Meeting.

At the 2000 Annual General Meeting, shareholders also approved the issue of Restricted Shares to the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer as part of his Short Term Incentive Bonus (STI Bonus). The number of Restricted Shares depends upon both the size of the STI Bonus in each year and a formula which incorporates the simple average of the closing price of Amcor Limited shares for each ASX trading day of the relevant year.

Details of the terms of issue of both the options and the Restricted Shares are set out in full in the explanatory notes for the 2000 Annual General Meeting.

2002 CEO Option Issue

Shareholders at the 2002 Annual General Meeting approved the issue of three million options to the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer. The grant of options was made on August 14, 2002 at an exercise price of $8.20. These options were issued in three equal annual tranches. Each tranche is subject to the Amcor Limited total shareholder return exceeding a comparator total shareholder return. Full details of these performance criteria are set out in the explanatory notes mailed to shareholders for the 2002 Annual General Meeting.

Other Compensation Plans

The Employee Bonus Payment Plan (EBPP) is an alternative to the ESPP and the ESOP and is in place in countries where the company is unable to issue shares or options. Participants are offered entitlements and over the period during which employees hold their entitlements, their value will mirror the fluctuating value of Amcor's shares, including (in the case of the ESPP) all dividends paid on the shares during this time. Employees are only able to convert their entitlements into a cash bonus payment when they leave the company or three years have passed since the date on which the entitlements were originally issued.

From time to time, the Board may nominate certain employees in Belgium, New Zealand, Poland, Switzerland and the USA as being eligible to participate in a Senior Executive Retention Payment Plan (SERPP) under which Plan entitlements, instead of fully paid ordinary shares, are issued in part satisfaction of an employee's remuneration for the relevant financial year. The value of each Plan entitlement is linked to the performance of Amcor Limited shares (including the value of accrued dividends). Plan entitlements may be converted into a cash payment after the 5 year restriction period has expired, provided that the employee has not been dismissed for cause or poor performance during this time. If the employee voluntarily ceases employment within four or five years from the date the Plan entitlements were issued, the employee forfeits 40% or 20% of their Plan entitlements (respectively).

The Share Appreciation Option Plan offered executive directors the opportunity to receive options subject to certain performance targets being met. This plan closed in 1999.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Share Appreciation Entitlements may be issued to employees who take part of their bonus by way of entitlements. During the period the employee holds them, the value of entitlements will be equivalent to the fluctuating value of Amcor Limited shares.

Phantom options are issued to employees residing in jurisdictions that, for statutory reasons, are not covered by option plans described above. The phantom option plan operates in a manner similar to other option plans although no entitlements to actual shares or options exist.

B. Related Party Transactions

A number of loans have been provided by the Company to, or for the benefit of, certain Directors who are Executives and Executive Officers. The aggregate amount of such loans outstanding as at October 14, 2004 was A$1.1 million. Interest on these loans is charged at a rate varying from 0% to 5%. This represents 0.02 per cent of total equity as at June 30, 2004. (See Note 31 to the Consolidated Financial Statements for details on loans issued and repaid). In addition, the Company continues to guarantee, in favour of a Director who is an Executive, a loan of A$0.4 million. Due to the restrictions of the recently enacted Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 in the US, no such loans have been made or extended to Directors and Executive Officers since July 1, 2002.

Under Amcor's Employee Share Plans which are described in Item 6, interest-free loans are made available to eligible employees to acquire shares, which are repaid over time by dividends received on the shares. In the past these interest-free loans have been made available to directors and executive officers of Amcor to acquire shares. However, due to the Sarbanes-Oxley restrictions Directors and Executive Officers will no longer receive this interest-free loan.

No Director or Officer of the Company (or any relative or spouse thereof) has any interests in any material transactions of Amcor which were effected by the Company or any of its subsidiaries since the current or immediately preceding financial year or were effected by the Company or any of its subsidiaries during an earlier financial year and remain in any respect outstanding at the date hereof. Directors and Executive Officers of Amcor have participated in recent issues of shares under Employee Share Plans which are described in Item 6.

Amcor trades with certain partly owned controlled entities in the normal course of business and on an arm's length basis. The amounts of these transactions were not material to any parties.

ITEM 8 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

A. Financial Statements

Amcor's Consolidated Financial Statements are included as Item 18

Legal Proceedings

CFMEU Proceedings

On June 15, 2000, the Construction, Forestry, Mining and Energy Union (CFMEU) filed a proceeding in the Federal Court of Australia against Amcor. The proceeding related to a claim for redundancy-related payments arising out of the change of employment of CFMEU members stemming from the demerger by Amcor in April 2000 of the PaperlinX Group.

On May 13, 2002 the court found that Amcor employees whose employment was transferred to PaperlinX Ltd had technically been made redundant and that the Court could not interpret the relevant clauses of the certified agreement in a manner which relieved Amcor of the obligation to make redundancy severance payments to the transferred employees. Amcor appealed this decision.

The appeal was heard by the Full Bench of the Federal Court on February 24, 2003 and its decision, dismissing Amcor's appeal was handed down on March 28, 2003. Amcor subsequently filed an application for special leave to appeal to the High Court, which was granted on December 12, 2003. The appeal was heard by the High Court on August 4, 2004 and the decision on the appeal is pending. After considering legal advice, the directors are of the opinion that no provision is required.

However, in the event we are ultimately unsuccessful in the appeal, we could be required to make redundancy payments to the former employees. Such payments, if eventually required may have a material effect on Amcor's results of operations in the year such a judgement is made. It is not possible to reliably estimate the amounts which might be involved.

Anti-Trust Investigations and Related Management Changes

Board Announcements

On November 23, 2004, Amcor announced that it had received information that led it to believe the Company's Australian business may have been involved in conduct which breaches competition laws. Amcor immediately informed the ACCC of the information received and informed the ACCC that it would provide full cooperation in any investigation which the ACCC undertakes. Amcor also initiated its own investigation of these matters.

On December 7, 2004, Amcor announced that after it had received the information referred to in its November 23 announcement, the Board immediately:

notified the ACCC of the information and advised the ACCC that it would cooperate fully with any investigation by the ACCC;

notified the ASX of possible breaches of competition laws; and instructed its legal advisors to review the available information and to conduct interviews with relevant members of management who may be able to assist in the investigation.

In the December 7 announcement the Board stated that it had met on December 6, 2004 to receive and consider an interim report in the matter from its legal advisors. The Board also resolved to accept offers of resignation given by each of Mr. Russell Jones (Managing Director of the Company) and Mr. Peter Sutton (Managing Director, Amcor Australasia) from their employment (and any directorships and other positions) with the Amcor Group. Mr. Peter Brown retired as Managing Director of Amcor Australasia in October 2003 and became a consultant to the Group. That consultancy was also terminated.

The Board announced its intention that Messrs. Jones and Sutton would receive only their minimum legal entitlements on resignation and that any additional contractual payments (whether by way of accrued performance payments or payments in lieu of notice or otherwise) would not be made to them.

The Board also announced the following interim appointments:

Mr. Chris Roberts (Chairman) would become Executive Chairman.

Mr. Louis Lachal, who was then the Executive General Manager Operations would become the Acting Chief Operating Officer of the Company. Mr. Lachal has been with the Amcor Group for 24 years and has worked in a number of divisions, both in Australia and the United Kingdom.

Mr. Darryl Roberts, who was then the Group General Manager Fibre Packaging in Australasia, would become the Acting Managing Director of Amcor Australasia. Mr Roberts has extensive experience working within a number of divisions in Australasia, including 10 years managing the metal can operations.

The Board has commenced the process of identifying suitable candidates for subsequent appointment to the executive positions.

The Board's December 7 announcement included the following background information.

On September 28, 2004, four senior executives who had worked in the corrugated box business of the Amcor Group in Australia resigned. On November 10, 2004, Amcor sought orders in the Federal Court relating to the return of confidential information belonging to the Amcor Group and injunctions to prevent use of that information by those former executives. Subsequently, the Company joined Mr. Jim Hodgson (former head of its Australia and New Zealand corrugated box business) to the proceeding. The Federal Court granted orders providing for the delivery up of any such confidential information.

On the afternoon of November 19, 2004, the solicitors for those former executives delivered material to the Company's solicitors which suggested that the Company may have been involved in conduct which breached competition laws. As noted above, on November 22, 2004, the Company's Board met to discuss the matter and resolved to refer the material which it had to the ACCC and to fully cooperate with any investigation which the ACCC may undertake.

The Board also resolved that the Company would urgently undertake its own investigation of the matter.

The Company's investigation is at an early stage. To date, its investigation has revealed that certain of its officers and employees appear to have entered into and given effect to arrangements which constituted cartel conduct in the corrugated box business in Australia and New Zealand. The full nature and extent of the cartel conduct has not yet been ascertained by the Company.

The Board is continuing to investigate the full nature and extent of the cartel conduct in the corrugated box business in Australia and New Zealand. At this stage, the Board is not aware of any cartel conduct affecting any other part of the Company's operations. It is to be expected that the ACCC, in the course of its investigation, will seek to ascertain whether any cartel conduct has occurred in any of the Company's operations other than its corrugated box business in Australia and New Zealand.

The Australian and New Zealand corrugated box business represented approximately 9% of Group sales revenue and 8% of Group PBITA in the year ended June 30 2004, 9% of Group sales revenue and 9% of Group PBITA in the year ended June 30 2003, and 11% of Group sales revenue and 11% of Group PBITA in the year ended June 30 2002.

Leniency Application Australia

The ACCC is the statutory authority responsible for administering Australia's anti-trust laws, the Trade Practices Act 1974 (TPA).

On November 22, 2004 Amcor applied for leniency pursuant to the ACCC's Leniency Policy for Cartel Conduct (ACCC Leniency Policy).

The ACCC Leniency Policy allows for immunity from ACCC initiated proceedings to the first person involved in a cartel to come forward with information about the cartel. To obtain immunity, an applicant must meet certain requirements (see <http://www.accc.gov.au/content/index.phtml/itemId/454181>), including the provision of full co-operation on a continuous basis with the ACCC in its investigation and any ensuing proceedings.

In circumstances where the ACCC Leniency Policy does not apply, the ACCC will consider any application for leniency pursuant to its Cooperation Policy for Enforcement Matters.

The operation of the ACCC Leniency Policy does not in any way exclude or limit the rights of third parties who claim to have suffered loss or damage as a result of a contravention of the TPA to commence legal proceedings for damages and other relief against those involved in the contravention.

Leniency Application New Zealand

The NZCC is the regulatory agency responsible for enforcing New Zealand's anti-trust laws, the Commerce Act 1986 (Commerce Act).

On November 29, 2004 Amcor notified the NZCC that the Company may have been involved in cartel conduct in New Zealand. Amcor applied for leniency pursuant to the NZCC's Leniency Policy for Cartel Conduct (NZ Leniency Policy). The NZ Leniency Policy allows for immunity from NZCC initiated proceedings to the first person involved in a cartel to come forward with information about the cartel and co-operate fully with the NZCC in its investigation and prosecution of the cartel (see <http://www.comcom.govt.nz/TheCommission/LeniencyPolicy/leniencypolicynew.aspx>).

Amcor was granted conditional immunity on December 1, 2004. Pursuant to the NZ Leniency Policy, Amcor entered into an agreement with the NZCC under which Amcor is obliged to comply with specified conditions including full cooperation with the NZCC.

The operation of the NZ Leniency Policy does not exclude or limit claims by third parties who claim to have suffered loss or damage as a result of the cartel conduct. Under the Commerce Act, third parties may pursue private claims for compensatory or exemplary damages.

Estimated Penalties and Damages Australia and New Zealand

It is not possible to provide either a reasonable estimate, or a reasonable estimated range, of either the statutory penalties which might be imposed on Amcor or of the amounts, if any, which might become payable by way of damages to any third parties who might have suffered loss as a result of any cartel conduct in Australia and New Zealand.

The following factors (among others) would be relevant to any attempted assessment of any such estimate or estimated range:

First, a breach of Australia's relevant anti-trust laws may involve the imposition of a civil pecuniary penalty for a corporation of up to $10 million for each breach. Corporations found to be in breach of New Zealand's relevant anti-trust laws may face, for each breach, a civil pecuniary penalty up to the greater of:

NZ$10 million; or either three times the value of any commercial gain resulting from the contravention; or if the commercial gain cannot be ascertained, 10 per cent of the annual turnover of the body corporate and its interconnected bodies corporate as a result of trading by that body corporate in New Zealand.

A court may, in its discretion, choose to impose a penalty for a lesser amount.

Second, at this early stage of its own investigation, Amcor is not aware of the full nature and extent of any cartel conduct and is not able to make any reliable assessment of how many breaches of anti-trust laws may have occurred. Based on the limited information which Amcor has received since it first became aware of the cartel conduct on November 19, 2004, Amcor believes that cartel conduct may have occurred in Australia and New Zealand for a number of years. Amcor does not know either when the cartel conduct first commenced or how many breaches of anti-trust laws may have occurred over a period which is likely to be a number of years.

Third, as referred to above, Amcor has applied for leniency and/or immunity under the ACCC Leniency Policy and the NZCC Leniency Policy. It is not possible at such an early stage in the investigations being conducted by the ACCC and the NZCC to make a reasonable assessment of whether or not such leniency/immunity applications will or will not be ultimately successful, in whole or part, or of the financial impact if either of such applications is not successful.

Fourth, Amcor does not know when the ACCC and NZCC will make a decision as to whether to commence legal proceedings, and, if a decision is taken to commence proceedings, when any such proceedings will be commenced. Any such legal proceedings may not be heard and determined by the courts for a number of years. Accordingly, no reliable assessment can be made at present of how many breaches of anti-trust laws may be found by the courts to have occurred or as to the quantum of any pecuniary penalties which may be imposed by the courts. Equally, no reliable assessment can be made at present of the prospects of success or the quantum of damages, if any, that may be awarded in any proceedings which may be instituted by third parties.

Although it is not possible to establish a reasonable estimated range of either penalties or damages, there can be no assurance that the penalties or damages ultimately incurred will not be material to the results of operations or financial condition of Amcor.

Other

There are other outstanding court proceedings, claims and possible claims against companies in the Amcor Group, arising in the ordinary course of business, the aggregate amount of which cannot be readily quantified. While the outcome of such proceedings and claims cannot be predicted with certainty, Amcor considers that no such proceedings or claims, individually or in aggregate, will have a material adverse effect on the business, consolidated financial condition or results of operations of Amcor. The foregoing discussion includes certain forward-looking statements. See Forward-Looking Statements and Risk Factors .

Dividend Policy

Amcor has not published a formal dividend policy. Interim and final dividends are determined at the discretion of the Directors.

B. Significant Changes

No significant changes have occurred since the date of the Consolidated Financial Statements, except for those disclosed in Note 32 to the Consolidated Financial Statements Events Subsequent to Balance Date.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

A. Share Capital

Not applicable

B. Constitution

The following provides information on the material provisions of Amcor's constitution. A full copy of Amcor's constitution is filed with the SEC.

Certain information in the constitution on Directors is also included in Item 6, Directors, Senior Management and Employees.

General Meetings

By a resolution of the Board, Amcor may call a general meeting of the Company. No shareholder may convene a general meeting except where entitled under the Corporations Act 2001 to do so. Where a general meeting has been called, notice of the meeting may be given in the form and manner the Board thinks fit. All provisions of the constitution as to general meetings apply to any special meeting of any class of shareholders which may be held under the operation of this constitution or the Corporations Act 2001.

The business of an annual general meeting is to consider the accounts and reports required by the Corporations Act 2001 to be laid before the meeting, to elect Directors in the place of those retiring under this constitution, when relevant, to appoint an auditor and to transact any other business which, under this constitution, is required to be transacted at any annual general meeting.

Three shareholders must be present to form a quorum. No business may be transacted at a meeting except the election of a Chairman and the adjournment of the meeting unless a quorum is present.

Votes of Shareholders

Shareholders may vote at a meeting of the Company in person, by proxy or attorney. Shareholders must vote on a show of hands unless a poll is called. A poll may be called either before a vote is taken or before or immediately after the voting results on a show of hands are declared. A poll may be demanded by a shareholder under the Corporations Act 2001 (and not otherwise) or by the Chairman.

Powers of the Board

The management and control of the business and affairs of Amcor are vested in the Board including raising or borrowing money, guaranteeing debts or obligations of any person, providing security for a debt and authorizing persons in whose favour debenture, mortgage or other security is executed to make calls on shareholders in respect of uncalled capital.

Except where a Director is restrained by the Corporations Act 2001, a Director may be present at a meeting of the Board while the matter in which the Director has an interest is being considered and may vote in respect of that matter.

As remuneration for services, each non-executive Director is to be paid out of the funds of the Company a sum determined by the Board but the aggregate remuneration paid to all non-executive Directors in any year may not exceed an amount fixed by Amcor in general meeting.

Dividends

The Board determines that a dividend is payable and fixes the amount, time for payment and method of payment. The Board may establish and maintain one or more dividend plans under which shareholders may elect to reinvest dividends by subscribing for shares in the capital of the Company. The Board also determines the timing and amount of interim dividends.

The Board may retain any dividends in respect of which Amcor has a lien or charge and may apply any retained dividends towards satisfaction of the calls, instalments or sums owing in respect of which the lien or charge exists.

All unclaimed dividends may be invested or otherwise made use of by the Board for the benefit of Amcor until claimed or otherwise disposed of according to law.

Preference Shares

If Amcor at any time proposes to issue preference shares, the preference shares confer on the holders a right to receive out of the profits of the Company available for dividend a preferential dividend at the rate or of the amount and on the basis determined by the Board at the time of issue of the preference shares.

The preference shares are to confer on the holders the right on redemption and, in a winding up, to payment in cash in priority to any other class of shares of the amount paid on each of the preference shares and the amount equal to the aggregate of any dividends accrued but unpaid.

The preference shares do not confer on the holders any further rights to participate in assets or profits of Amcor.

Partial Takeovers

Where a partial takeover offer is made, a contract to accept the offer is prohibited until an Approving Resolution is passed. An Approving Resolution is to be voted on at a meeting, convened and conducted by Amcor and is taken to have been passed if more than one-half of eligible votes are in favour of the resolution; otherwise it is rejected.

C. Material Contracts

There were no material contracts, other than those entered into in the normal course of business, to which the company or any member of the group is a party from July 1, 2002 to the date of this report.

D. Exchange Controls and Other Limitations Affecting Security Holders

Under existing Australian legislation, the Reserve Bank of Australia does not inhibit the import and export of funds, and no permission is required by Amcor for the movement of funds, into and out of Australia. However, Amcor is required to lodge a currency transfer report disclosing all transfers of A$10,000 or more out of Australia with the Australian Transaction Reports and Analysis Centre.

There are no limitations, either under the laws of Australia or under the Constitution of Amcor, on the right of non-residents to hold or vote Ordinary Shares.

The Foreign Acquisitions and Takeovers Act 1975 (the FATA) and the Corporations Act 2001 (the Act) each regulate acquisitions giving rise to ownership of substantial amounts of a company s shares. A summary of the main provisions of the FATA and the Act is given below.

(a) Foreign Acquisitions and Takeovers Act 1975

The FATA prohibits:

- (i) a natural person not ordinarily resident in Australia;
- (ii) a corporation in which either a natural person not ordinarily resident in Australia or a foreign corporation (as defined in the FATA) holds a substantial interest or a controlling interest;

(iii) a corporation in which two or more persons, each of whom is either a natural person not ordinarily resident in Australia or a foreign corporation, hold an aggregate substantial interest or an aggregate controlling interest;

(iv) the trustee of a trust estate in which a natural person not ordinarily resident in Australia or a foreign corporation holds a substantial interest; or

(v) the trustee of a trust estate in which two or more persons, each of whom is either a natural person not ordinarily resident in Australia or a foreign corporation, hold an aggregate substantial interest, from entering into an agreement to acquire shares if, after the acquisition, such person or corporation would hold a substantial shareholding or controlling interest in an Australian corporation (other than an exempt corporation, the definition of which excludes a corporation such as Amcor) without first applying in the prescribed form for approval thereof by the Australian Treasurer and such approval being granted or 40 days having elapsed after such application was made.

Substantial Interest

A person will be deemed to hold a substantial interest in a corporation if the person alone or together with any associates (as defined in the FATA), is in a position to control not less than 15 percent of the voting power in the corporation or holds legal or equitable interests in not less than 15 percent of the issued shares in that corporation. Two or more persons will be deemed to hold an aggregate substantial interest in a corporation if they, together with any associates, are in a position to control not less than 40 percent of the voting power in the corporation or hold legal or equitable interests in not less than 40 percent of the issued shares in that corporation.

Controlling Interests

A substantial interest or aggregate substantial interest will be deemed a controlling interest or aggregate controlling interest respectively, unless the Treasurer is satisfied that, having regard to all circumstances, the person or persons, together with any associates (as defined), is not or are not in a position to determine the policy of the corporation.

(b) Corporations Act 2001

The Act prohibits a person (including a corporation) from acquiring a relevant interest in issued voting shares in a listed company (or an unlisted company with more than 50 members) if, after the acquisition, the voting power in the company of that person or any other person increases:

from 20% or below to more than 20%; or from a starting point that is above 20% and below 90%.

Relevant Interest

A person is considered to have a relevant interest in a security if they (whether solely or jointly, directly or indirectly, whether enforceable or not and irrespective of certain restrictions and restraints on such powers and other matters and things specified in the Act):

(i) are the holder of the security;

(ii) have power to exercise, or control the exercise of, a right to vote attached to the security; or

(iii) have power to dispose of, or control the exercise of, a power to dispose of, the security.

The Act also deems that a person acquires a relevant interest in voting shares in a company if:

securities in which the person already had a relevant interest become voting shares in the company; or

there is an increase in the number of votes that may be cast on a poll attached to voting shares that the person already had a relevant interest in.

In these circumstances, the acquisition of the relevant interest will occur when the securities become voting shares or the number of votes increases.

Voting Power

$$\frac{\text{person's and associate's votes}}{\text{total votes in company}} \times 100$$ where:

person's and associate's votes is the total number of votes attached to all the voting shares in the company (if any) that the person or an associate has a relevant interest in; and total votes in the company is the total number of votes attached to all voting shares in the company.

The Act provides that the number of votes attached to a voting share in a company is the maximum number of votes that can be cast in respect of the share on a poll:

on the election of a director of the company (if the election of directors is determined by the casting of votes attached to voting shares); or on the adoption or amendment of the company's constitution (if the election of directors is not determined by the casting of votes attached to voting shares).

Exceptions to the Prohibition

Exceptions to this prohibition are outlined in section 611 of the Act. Some of the more significant exceptions are:

Section 611 (item 1) permits a person who proposes to become entitled to more than 20 percent of the voting shares of a company to make a formal takeover offer to the shareholders of the target company to acquire their shares. Separate takeover schemes are required for each class of shares sought.

Under Section 611 (item 2), a person (either alone or together with others) can acquire in excess of 20 percent of a company's voting shares by an on-market purchase during a bid period. The bid must be for all the voting shares in the bid class and be unconditional or only conditional on the happening of an event which entitles the bid to be withdrawn under sections 652C(1) or (2).

Under Section 611 (item 7), a person (either alone or together with others) is permitted to acquire shares in excess of 20 percent of a company's issued capital where that company has agreed to the acquisition by a resolution passed at a general meeting at which no votes were cast in relation to the resolution in respect of any shares held by the acquirer and their associates or the persons (if any) from whom the acquisition is to be made and their associates.

Under Section 611 (item 9), a person who has been entitled to 19 percent or more of the target company's voting power for a continuous period of not less than six months is permitted to acquire voting power in the company which is no more than 3 percentage points higher than they had 6 months before the acquisition.

E. Taxation

Australian Taxation

The following summary discusses the Australian tax consequences of owning ADSs or Ordinary Shares. The summary is not exhaustive and is based on law in force as of the date of this Annual Report. Holders of ADSs are advised to consult their own tax advisers as to the tax and stamp duty consequences of their ownership of and dealings in ADSs and Ordinary Shares.

Under the current double taxation convention between Australia and the United States, dividends paid by Amcor to a United States resident shareholder of Amcor, including an ADS holder, who is not deemed to be an Australian resident for tax purposes, and does not have a permanent establishment in Australia or perform in Australia independent personal services from a fixed base situated in Australia, will be subject to a maximum Australian withholding tax of 15 percent of such gross dividend.

From July 1, 2003 the applicable rates of dividend withholding tax are as follows:

0% - for 80% or greater shareholders (down from 15%)

5% - for 10% or greater shareholders (down from 15%)

15% for others (no change)

To the extent that withholding tax is paid, this is a final tax and no other Australian tax would be payable.

Dividends paid to non-residents of Australia will not attract Australian withholding tax to the extent that the dividend has been franked. A dividend will be franked to the extent that the corporation declaring the dividend has tax credits available from the payment of Australian corporate tax and has declared that the dividend is so franked.

The Australian Government introduced a holding period for shares operative from July 1, 1997, such that franking credits will be denied on dividends payable on shares, and distributions paid on an interest in shares where:

the taxpayer effectively holds ordinary shares (or similar interests) for less than 45 days, or less than 90 days in the case of preference shares; and during this period a dividend is payable on the shares, or a distribution is payable on the interest in the shares, so that the taxpayer would be entitled to franking credits or the section 46 inter-corporate dividend rebate (or both) in respect of the dividend distribution.

The test will focus only on arrangements (share investments and related hedges) which remove 70% or more of downside and upside risk in relation to the shares.

Dividends paid to United States residents which are not franked (or are partly franked) will, subject to the comments below, attract withholding tax at the rates listed above on the unfranked amount.

bWith effect from July 1, 1994, unfranked dividends paid to non-residents of Australia will, in certain circumstances, be wholly or partly exempt from Australian withholding tax. Where the unfranked dividend is paid out of profits derived by Amcor from qualifying foreign dividends, withholding tax will not be payable on any foreign dividend account (FDA) amount specified in a notice provided by Amcor to shareholders.

Since the introduction of the imputation system, 27 dividend distributions have been made by Amcor, all of which have been at least partly franked. Dividend distributions, paid in April 1995, October 1995, April 1996 and October 1996 were franked to 100%. The dividends paid in April 1997 were franked to 70%. Dividends paid in October 1997 and April 1998 were franked to 25% and those paid in October 1998 were franked to 35%. The dividends paid in April 1999, October 1999 and April 2000 were franked to 20%. The dividend paid in October 2000 was franked to 35% and the dividends paid in April 2001, October 2001, March 2002, October 2002 and April 2003 were franked to 50%. The dividends paid in October 2003, March 2004 and September 2004 were franked to 40%. Amcor has provided and will continue to provide all shareholders with notices which specify the franked and unfranked amount of each dividend and the amount (if any) of dividend withholding tax deducted.

Since July 1, 1991 Amcor has been obliged to deduct tax at the highest marginal rate plus the Medicare Levy (currently 48.5%) from unfranked dividends or interest paid to investors resident in Australia who have not supplied the Company with a tax file number or exemption form. Collection of tax file number information is authorized by and its use and disclosure is strictly regulated by the Tax Laws and Privacy Act.

A United States citizen who is a resident of Australia, or a United States corporation which is a resident of Australia (by reason of carrying on business in Australia and having its voting power controlled by shareholders who are residents of Australia, or being managed or controlled in Australia) may be liable to pay Australian income tax in respect of the profit or capital gain (if any) derived upon the disposal of ADSs or Ordinary Shares. Under current Australian tax laws, no tax is payable in respect of the disposal of ADSs or Ordinary Shares held by non-residents of Australia except:

- (a) if the ADSs or Ordinary Shares are trading stock of the holder or if an ordinary incident of the holder's business is the sale of securities for a profit, or the profit arises out of a profit making scheme (in certain circumstances) and, in any case, the profit is sourced in Australia; or
- (b) if disposed of and the ADSs or Ordinary Shares beneficially owned by the non-resident or his associates, or the non-resident together with his associates, at any time during the period of five years preceding the disposal represent 10 percent or more of the issued share capital of Amcor (excluding share capital carrying no right to participate beyond a specified amount in a distribution of profits or capital).

From October 1, 1999 any taxable unindexed capital gain on ADSs or Ordinary Shares acquired on or after October 1, 1999 and held for at least one year is reduced by half for individuals and by one third for superannuation funds. Individuals and superannuation funds that acquired ADSs and Ordinary Shares before October 1, 1999 and hold them for at least one year can either calculate their taxable unindexed capital gain, as above or choose to make an indexed capital gain being the whole of the difference between the realisation price and the indexed cost base as at September 30, 1999. Corporations do not benefit from such concessions and are disadvantaged by the removal of indexation.

Notwithstanding that the profit or gain upon the disposal of the ADSs or Ordinary Shares is assessable in Australia in the circumstances of (a) or (b) above, if the vendor is a resident of the United States, then depending on the circumstances of the case, relief from Australian tax may nevertheless be available under the current double taxation convention referred to above.

Effective from July 1, 2001 stamp duty on Australian share transfers has been abolished. In addition, under current Australian tax law, no Australian State or Federal estate duty or other inheritance taxes will be payable in respect of ADSs or Ordinary Shares upon the death of a holder thereof, regardless of the holder's domicile. For capital gains purposes, the death of the holder will only produce a deemed disposal, if the ADSs or Ordinary Shares are bequeathed to a tax exempt person or if the deceased was an Australian resident, the ADS or Ordinary Shares are bequeathed to a non-resident, and the ADS or Ordinary Shares did not fall within the meaning of a taxable Australian asset as referred to in paragraph (b) above. In all other circumstances, the liability for tax on any gain is effectively transferred to the deceased's legal representatives or beneficiaries, subject to those matters referred to above. Such deemed disposal or a disposal subsequently by the beneficiary will have the consequences set out above.

United States Federal Income Taxation

The following discussion is a summary of the material U.S. federal income tax consequences to you of the ownership and disposition of the Amcor ADSs and Ordinary Shares, but it does not purport to be a comprehensive description of all of the United States tax considerations of the ownership and disposition of ADSs or Ordinary Shares.

The discussion is based on the tax laws of the United States, including the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, its legislative history, existing and proposed regulations, published rulings and court decisions, and the tax laws of Australia, as well as the double taxation convention between Australia and the United States, and a protocol thereto (collectively the "Treasury"), all as currently in effect and all subject to change at any time, perhaps with retroactive effect. In addition, the discussion is based in part upon the representations of the Depositary and the assumption that each obligation provided for in the Deposit Agreement and any related document will be performed in accordance with its terms.

You should consult your own tax adviser as to the United States, Australian, or other tax consequences of the ownership and disposition of the Amcor ADSs or Ordinary Shares in your particular circumstances.

The discussion relating to U.S. tax consequences only applies to you if you hold your ADSs or Ordinary Shares as capital assets for tax purposes and you are not a member of a special class of holders subject to special rules, including a dealer in securities, a trader in securities that elects to use a mark-to-market method of accounting for their securities holdings, a tax-exempt organization, a life insurance company, a person liable for alternative minimum tax, a person that actually or constructively owns 10% or more of our voting stock, a person that holds Ordinary Shares or ADSs as part of a hedging or straddle or conversion transaction or a person whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar.

You are a U.S. holder if you are a beneficial owner of Ordinary Shares or ADSs and you are: (i) a citizen or resident of the United States, (ii) a domestic corporation, (iii) an estate whose income is subject to United States federal income tax regardless of its source, or (iv) a trust if a United States court can exercise primary supervision over the trust's administration and one or more United States persons are authorized to control all substantial decisions of the trust.

For U.S. federal income tax purposes if you hold ADRs evidencing ADSs, you will be treated as the owner of the underlying Ordinary Shares represented by those ADSs, and exchanges of Ordinary Shares for ADSs, and ADSs for Ordinary Shares, will not be subject to United States federal income tax.

Taxation of Dividends

Subject to the passive foreign investment company ("PFIC") rules discussed below, if you are a U.S. holder you must include in your gross income the gross amount of any dividend (or other distribution, other than certain distributions in redemption of ADSs or Ordinary Shares or distributions of our capital stock or rights to subscribe for our capital stock) paid (before reduction for Australian withholding taxes) by us out of our current or accumulated earnings and profits (as determined for United States federal income tax purposes). The dividend is ordinary income that you must include in income when you receive the dividend, either actually or constructively, in the case of Ordinary Shares, or when the depositary receives such dividend, in the case of ADSs. For tax years beginning after December 31, 2002, dividends will be taxed at capital gains rates, 15% for individuals with taxable income in an income tax bracket above 15% and 5% for those with taxable income in the 10% - 15% tax brackets. The dividend will not be eligible for the dividends-received deduction generally allowed to United States corporations in respect of dividends received from other United States corporations. Distributions in excess of current and accumulated earnings and profits, as determined for United States federal income tax purposes, will be treated as a non-taxable return of capital to the extent of your basis in the ADSs or Ordinary Shares and thereafter as capital gain.

The amount of the dividend distribution that you must include in your income will be the U.S. dollar value of the Australian dollar payments made, determined at the spot Australian dollar/U.S. dollar rate on the date such dividend distribution is includible in your income, regardless of whether the payment is in fact converted into U.S. dollars. Generally, any gain or loss resulting from currency exchange fluctuations during the period from the date you include the dividend payment in income to the date such payment is converted into U.S. dollars will be treated as ordinary income or loss. Such gain or loss will generally be income or loss from sources within the United States for foreign tax credit limitation purposes.

Subject to certain limitations, the Australian tax withheld in accordance with the Treasury and paid over to Australia will be creditable against the U.S. holder's United States federal income tax liability. For foreign tax credit purposes, the dividend will be income from sources outside the United States, but generally will be passive income or financial services income which is treated separately from other types of income for purposes of computing the foreign tax credit allowable to you. No United States foreign tax credit will be allowed to U.S. holders of Ordinary Shares or ADSs in respect of any personal property or similar tax imposed by Australia (or any taxing authority thereof or therein).

Distributions of additional Ordinary Shares to U.S. holders with respect to their Ordinary Shares or ADSs that are made as part of a pro rata distribution to all our shareholders generally will not be subject to United States federal income tax.

Taxation of Capital Gains

Subject to the PFIC rules discussed below, if you are a U.S. holder and you sell or otherwise dispose of your Ordinary Shares or ADSs, you will recognize a gain or loss for United States federal income tax purposes in an amount equal to the difference between the U.S. dollar value of the amount realized and your tax basis (determined in U.S. dollars) in such Ordinary Shares or ADSs. Generally such gain or loss will be long-term capital gain or loss if your holding period for such Ordinary Shares or ADSs exceeds one year and any such gain or loss will be income or loss from sources within the United States for foreign tax credit limitation purposes. As a result of the Jobs and Growth Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2003, long-term capital gains of a non-corporate U.S. holder occurring after May 6, 2003 are subject to tax at 15% for those with taxable income in an income tax bracket above 15% and 5% for those with taxable income in the 10% - 15% tax brackets. For sales or exchanges occurring prior to May 6, 2003, the maximum capital gains rate is 20%. (10% for individuals in the 10% or 15% tax bracket). However, for tax years beginning after December 31, 2000, lower capital gain rates may apply depending on the holding period and the U.S. individual holder's tax bracket. A lower capital gains rate of 18% (8% for individuals in the 10% or 15% tax bracket) may be applied if the individual holds the asset more than five years.

PFIC Rules

We believe that our Ordinary Shares and ADSs should not be treated as stock of a PFIC for United States federal income tax purposes, but this conclusion is a factual determination made annually and thus may be subject to change. If we were to be treated as a PFIC, unless a U.S. holder elects to be taxed annually on a mark-to-market basis with respect to the Ordinary Shares or ADSs, gain realized on the sale or other disposition of Ordinary Shares or ADSs would in general not be treated as capital gain, and a U.S. holder would be treated as if such holder had realized such gain and certain excess distributions rateably over the holder's holding period for the Ordinary Shares or ADSs and would be taxed at the highest tax rate in effect for each such year to which the gain was allocated, together with an interest charge in respect of the tax attributable to each such year.

ITEM 11

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

The discussion below contains certain forward-looking statements. See comments regarding Forward Looking Statements on page 4 of this report.

Derivative financial instruments are not held or used by Amcor for speculative or trading purposes. Our policy is to hedge all material foreign exchange transactions by entering into forward foreign exchange contracts and currency swaps and to manage our exposure to movements in interest rates by entering into interest rate swaps.

In order to control any exposure which may result from non-performance by counterparties, these contracts are only entered into with major banks with a minimum long term rating of A+ by Standard & Poor's or A2 by Moody's. In addition, these banks must be approved for use by the Amcor Limited Board, and specific internal guidelines have been established with regard to limits, dealing and settlement procedures. The estimated credit risk exposure of Amcor is minimal.

Amcor is exposed to adverse movements in interest rates under various debt facilities. By monitoring global interest rates and, where appropriate, hedging interest rate exposures, Amcor seeks to manage its interest rate risk.

As at June 30, 2004, Amcor's ratio of fixed rate debt to total debt was 64%, up from 55% at June 30, 2003. The increase in the proportion of fixed rate debt was due to the issue of a 7 year 350 million Eurobond at a fixed coupon of 4.25% in March 2004. The Eurobond replaced a number of maturing floating rate debt facilities and was also used to repay euro denominated debt that had been drawn to fund acquisitions completed during the year. Amcor achieved an average interest rate paid on all borrowings (excluding the coupon on PACRS) for 2003-04 of 4.7% (5.0% last year in 2002-03). This was largely due to the Eurobond replacing more expensive floating rate debt and the overall low interest rate environment experienced in the majority of countries in which Amcor operates.

Amcor enters into interest rate swap agreements and forward rate agreements to allow the consolidated entity to swap floating rate borrowings into fixed rates. Interest rate swaps are also used to swap fixed rate borrowings into floating rates. Cross currency interest rate swaps allow the consolidated entity to swap long term Australian denominated borrowings into foreign currencies, to hedge the investment in self sustaining foreign operations. Maturities of swap contracts are principally between one and three years. Each contract involves quarterly or semi-annual payment or receipt of the net amount of interest. Floating rates are based on interest rate settings in the currencies concerned plus the consolidated entity's credit margin.

From time to time the consolidated entity also enters into interest rate options to reduce the impact of changes in interest rates on floating rate long-term debt.

In March 2004, Amcor issued EUR350 million Amcor Limited Eurobond notes in the Eurobond market. The notes mature in 2011 and pay an annual coupon of 4.25%.

In December 2002, Amcor successfully completed arrangements for a US$500 million private placement of debt securities to US-based institutional investors. The placement was done in tranches of 7, 10, 12 and 15 years (average duration 11.5 years) at a weighted average interest rate of 5.8%.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

The placement was made in two instalments with US$350 million being used immediately to replace the bridge finance facility established at the time of the Schmalbach-Lubeca acquisition and a further US$150 million refinancing notes that matured in June 2003.

Interest Rate Risk Exposures

Foreign Currency Exchange Rate Risk

In relation to transactional foreign currency exposures, Amcor policy is to hedge all net forecast or actual currency exposures greater than A$100,000. The gains or costs on entering the hedge and the exchange differences up to the date of the purchase or sale are deferred and recognised as assets or liabilities on the statement of financial position from the inception of the hedge contract, not when the specific purchase or sale occurs. At maturity, the costs or gains are included in the measurement of the underlying transaction.

Accounts payable and borrowings include amounts payable in foreign currencies shown at their Australian dollar equivalents. All material foreign currency liabilities are hedged or matched by equivalent assets in the same currencies, such assets representing a natural hedge.

The following table sets out the gross value to be received under foreign currency contracts, the weighted average contracted exchange rates and the settlement periods of contracts outstanding as at June 30:

Commodity Risk

Amcor enters into various fixed price swap contracts on behalf of certain customers. Hedging undertaken is based on customer instructions, and all related costs are passed on to the customer. The following table sets out the gross value to be received under commodity swap contracts, the weighted average contracted London Metals Exchange rates and the settlement periods of contracts outstanding as at 30 June:

Credit Risk

On Balance Sheet Financial Instruments

The maximum credit risk on Amcor's financial assets, other than investments in shares, is generally the carrying amount of receivables, net of provisions for doubtful debts.

Amcor minimises its concentrations of credit risk by undertaking transactions with a large number of customers and counterparties in various countries. There is no material exposure to any individual customer.

Derivative Financial Instruments

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

In order to control any exposure which may result from non-performance by counterparties, hedging contracts are only entered into with major banks with a minimum long-term credit rating of A- by Standard & Poor's. In addition, the Amcor Limited Board must approve these banks for use, and specific internal guidelines have been established with regard to limits, dealing and settlement procedures.

The credit risk exposure arising from the derivative financial instruments is the sum of all contracts with a positive replacement cost. The maximum credit risk exposure on foreign currency contracts is the full amount of the foreign currency Amcor is contracted to receive when settlement occurs. As at June 30, 2004 the sum of all contracts with a positive replacement cost was A$50.5 million compared to A$50.3 million at June 30, 2003.

Net Fair Values

On Balance Sheet Financial Instruments

Instruments traded on organised markets are valued by reference to market prices prevailing at balance date.

The net fair value of other monetary financial assets and financial liabilities approximates their carrying value.

The carrying amounts and net fair values of financial assets and liabilities as at June 30 are as follows:

	Carrying Amount 2004 A$m	Net Fair Value 2004 A$m	Carrying Amount 2003 A$m	Net Fair Value 2003 A$m

The valuation reflects the estimated amounts which Amcor expects to pay or receive to terminate the contracts or replace the contracts at their current market rates as at reporting date. This is based on independent market quotations and determined using standard valuation techniques. For foreign exchange related contracts, the net fair value is taken to be the unrealised gain or loss at balance date calculated by reference to current market rates.

The net fair value of off balance sheet financial instruments held as at reporting date are:

	2004 A$m	2003 A$m
Interest rate swaps	(20.3)	(21.3)
Cross currency swaps	35.1	41.7

ITEM 15 CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

We have received information that leads us to believe that certain officers and employees in the Company's corrugated box business in Australia and New Zealand appear to have entered into, and given effect to, arrangements which constituted cartel conduct. See Item 8, "Financial Information - Legal Proceedings", for further information relating to this matter. We informed the ACCC and the NZCC and we are cooperating with the investigations they have initiated. We are also conducting our own investigation of these matters. The preliminary results of our investigation indicate that there have been weaknesses in internal disclosure controls and procedures in relation to the recording, processing, summarizing and reporting in a timely manner to all appropriate people within the Company of information concerning our compliance with competition laws and related matters. We are continuing to investigate the circumstances relating to these matters and the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures.

Under the requirements of the United States Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, the Executive Chairman and the Chief Financial Officer must each review and evaluate the Company's disclosure controls and procedures, including internal control over financial reporting. This evaluation has been performed, with the participation of the Company's management. Based on that evaluation they have concluded that, except for the conduct related to possible breaches of Australian and New Zealand competition laws referred to above, which remains under investigation, the Company's disclosure controls and procedures were effective as at June 30, 2004.

There have been no changes in the Company's internal controls over financial reporting that occurred during the year that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal control over financial reporting.

AUDIT COMMITTEE FINANCIAL EXPERT

The Board of Directors has determined that Ms Elizabeth Alexander is an audit committee financial expert. Although the Board has determined that this individual has the requisite attributes defined under the rules of the SEC, her responsibilities are the same as those of the other audit committee members. She is not an auditor or an accountant, does not perform field work and is not a full-time employee. The SEC has determined that an audit committee member who is designated as an audit committee financial expert will not be deemed to be an expert for any purpose as a result of being identified as an audit committee financial expert. The audit committee is responsible for oversight of management in the preparation of Amcor's financial statements and financial disclosures. The audit committee relies on the information provided by management and the external auditor. The audit committee does not have the duty to plan or conduct audits to determine Amcor's financial statements and disclosures are complete and accurate.

Pre-Approval Policy

The following non-audit services pre-approval policy has been adopted by Amcor.

To achieve the appropriate balance, there are two broad principles which Amcor will adhere to:

1. The external auditors should not provide services which are fundamentally in conflict with their role as independent statutory auditors. In broad terms this means that they should not be in a position where they are seen to:

assume the role of or as employees of Amcor perform work which they will subsequently be required to audit; become an advocate for Amcor; or have a mutual or conflicting interest with Amcor.

2. For services that do not come into these categories, it is in the best interests of Amcor that the company is able to select the best service provider for particular services, provided that there is appropriate transparency and proper approval processes are in place.

Non-Audit - The external auditors shall not provide services to Amcor which are services considered to be in conflict with the guiding principles set out by current and prospective Australian and international legislative requirements, including the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, passed in the United States in August 2002. In particular, the external auditors may not provide the following non-audit services:

1. Bookkeeping or other services related to the accounting records or financial statements of Amcor.
2. Financial information systems design and implementation.
3. Appraisal or valuation services, where these result in figures which are included in the company's accounts;
4. Fairness opinions.
5. Actuarial services.
6. Internal audit outsourcing services.
7. Secondments to Amcor or other engagements involving management or human resources functions.
8. Broker or dealer, investment adviser or investment banking services.
9. Legal services or expert witness services unrelated to the audit.

Other services, including taxation services, may be provided by the external auditors provided pre-approval has been obtained from the Audit & Compliance Committee.

Permitted non-audit service engagements (PNASEs) may be provided by external auditors, subject to adherence to the following process:

All PNASEs must be notified, with reasonable specificity to the Chairman of the Audit & Compliance Committee;

The notification must specify the services to be provided, specify the period during which the services will be performed and specify the maximum total fees to be paid, before the engagement is commenced;

Any one member of the Audit & Compliance Committee is delegated to pre-approve individual PNASEs up to a financial limit of A$500,000;

The Secretary of the Audit & Compliance Committee shall keep a financial year running list of approved PNASEs and submit the cumulative list, together with a reasonably specific description of services provided to each meeting of the Audit & Compliance Committee for noting; and

The Audit & Compliance Committee must specifically preapprove all proposed PNASEs. Where pre-approval is to be sought for the external auditors to perform non-audit services, this should in the first instance be referred to the Executive General Manager Finance who will seek the appropriate Audit & Compliance Committee pre-approval prior to commencement of the work.

Certification of each PNASE recommended for pre-approval by the Executive General Manager Finance must be supported by a confirmation by the external auditor that the performance of the proposed engagement will not impair the independence of the external auditor under applicable law in Australia or the United States. The external auditor will provide the Audit & Compliance Committee with an annual certification of their continued independence, under applicable law and professional standards both in Australia and in the United States and, in particular, confirm that they have not carried out any engagements during the year which would impair their professional independence.

Our Audit & Compliance Committee has not approved any services described in categories (b) through (d) above pursuant to paragraph (c)(7)(i)(C) of Regulation S-X Rule 2-01.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Amcor Limited Board of Directors and Shareholders

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Amcor Limited and its subsidiary companies (the consolidated entity) as of June 30, 2004 and 2003, and the related consolidated statements of income, cash flows and changes in shareholders' equity and for each of the years in the three-year period ended June 30, 2004, all expressed in Australian dollars. These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the consolidated entity at June 30, 2004 and 2003 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended June 30, 2004, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in Australia.

Accounting principles generally accepted in Australia vary in certain significant respects from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Information relating to the nature and effect of such differences is presented in Note 33 to the consolidated financial statements.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

The significant accounting policies which have been adopted by Amcor Limited and its controlled entities (the consolidated entity) in the preparation of this financial report are:

(1) Accounting Standards

The consolidated entity adopts the currently applicable Accounting Standards and disclosure requirements of the professional accounting bodies in Australia.

(2) Basis of Preparation

The financial report of the consolidated entity is a general purpose financial report prepared in accordance with Accounting Standards, Urgent Issues Group Consensus Views, other authoritative pronouncements of the Australian Accounting Standards Board and the Corporations Act 2001 (Australian GAAP).

This financial report has been prepared on the basis of historical costs and, except where stated, does not take into account changing money values or current valuations of non-current assets.

The preparation of the financial statements involves management estimates.

These accounting policies have been consistently applied by each entity in the consolidated entity and, except where there is a change in accounting policy, are consistent with those of the previous year.

The Consolidated Statements of Income, Balance Sheets and Statements of Shareholders' Equity are prepared using a US GAAP format for presentation of operating profit, assets, liabilities and shareholders' equity which have been measured in accordance with Australian GAAP.

F-11

(3) Consolidated Financial Statements

The consolidated financial statements comprise the financial statements of the company, being the parent entity, and its controlled entities in accordance with Accounting Standard AASB 1024 Consolidated Accounts . The financial statements of controlled entities are included in the consolidated financial statements from the date control commences until the date control ceases.

In preparing the financial statements all balances and transactions between entities included in the consolidated entity have been eliminated.

(4) Revenue Recognition

Sale of Goods

Sales revenue comprises revenue earned (net of returns, discounts and allowances) from the provision of products to entities outside the consolidated entity. Sales revenue is recognized when control of the goods passes to the customer.

Interest Income

Interest income is recognized as it accrues, taking into account the effective yield on the financial asset.

Sales of Non-Current Assets

The gross proceeds of asset sales are included as revenue of the consolidated entity. The profit or loss on disposal of assets is brought to account at the date control of the asset passes to the buyer. The profit or loss on disposal is calculated as the difference between the carrying amount of the asset at the time of disposal and the net proceeds on disposal.

(5) Taxation

General

The consolidated entity adopts the accounting policy for treatment of company income tax as set out in Accounting Standard AASB 1020 Tax Effect Accounting whereby the taxation benefits or liabilities which arise due to differences between the time when items are taken up in the consolidated entity's financial statements and when they are to be taken up for income tax purposes are shown either as a future income tax benefit or as a deferred tax liability. The deferred tax asset and deferred tax liability are taken up at tax rates applicable to the periods in which they are expected to reverse.

The deferred tax asset relating to tax losses is not carried forward as an asset unless the benefit can be regarded as being virtually certain of realization. These benefits will be brought to account as a reduction in income tax expense in the period in which they are recouped. The tax effect of capital losses is not recorded unless realization is virtually certain.

Capital Gains Tax

Capital gains tax, where applicable, is provided in the period in which an asset is sold.

Goods and Services Tax

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognized net of the amount of goods and services tax (GST), except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). In these circumstances the GST is recognized as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or as part of the expense.

Receivables and payables are stated with the amount of GST included.

The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included as a current asset or liability in the Consolidated Balance Sheets.

Cash flows are included in the Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows on a gross basis. The GST component of cash flows arising from investing and financing activities which are recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO are classified as operating cash flows.

(6) Depreciation

Property, plant and equipment, excluding freehold land, are depreciated at rates based upon their expected useful lives using the straight line method.

Depreciation rates used for each class of asset are as follows:

Land improvements between 1% - 3% (2003 1% - 3%)

Buildings between 1% - 5% (2003 1% - 5%)

Plant and equipment between 3% - 25% (2003 3% - 25%)

Finance leases between 4% - 20% (2003 4% - 20%)

(7) Employee Entitlements

Wages, Salaries, Annual Leave and Sick Leave

Liabilities for employee entitlements such as wages, salaries, annual leave, sick leave and other current employee entitlements represent present obligations resulting from employees' service provided to reporting date, calculated at undiscounted amounts based on wage and salary rates that the consolidated entity expects to pay as at reporting date including related on-costs.

Liabilities for employee entitlements include, where appropriate, forecast future increases in wages and salaries, grossed up for on-costs, and are based on the consolidated entity's experience with staff departures.

Long Service Leave

Liabilities relating to long service leave and post-employment benefits have been calculated to represent the present value of estimated future cash outflows discounted to reporting date.

Liabilities which are not expected to be settled within 12 months are discounted using the rate attaching to those national government securities at reporting date which most closely match the terms of maturity of the related entitlements.

Profit Sharing and Bonus Plans

A liability is recognized for profit sharing and bonus plans, including benefits based on the future value of equity instruments and benefits under plans allowing the consolidated entity to settle in either cash or shares.

Entitlements under the Employee Bonus Payment Plan (EBPP) are estimated and accrued at the end of the financial reporting period.

Employee Share and Option Plans

The consolidated entity maintains two Employee Share Schemes, the Employee Share Purchase Plan (ESPP) and the Employee Share/Option Plan (ESOP). Both Schemes were introduced in 1985, and have been subsequently amended and approved by shareholders at Annual General Meetings.

Issues relating to the ESPP and the ESOP are detailed in Note 19.

Loans to assist in the purchase of shares are shown as non-current receivables. Shares are held in trust until the loan is settled. The loans can be paid off at any time and must be settled when an individual ceases to be employed by the consolidated entity. No value is recognized at the time of issue of options under the ESOP. If exercised, contributions are recognized as equity. Shares issued under the ESOP are treated as equity to the extent the shares are paid-up. Shares issued under the ESPP are credited to equity at the discounted value at the time of allotment.

Superannuation Funds

The consolidated entity contributes to employee superannuation funds. Contributions are charged against profit as and when they are incurred. Further information is set out in Note 19.

(8) Provisions

A provision is recognized when there is a legal, equitable or constructive obligation as a result of a past event and it is probable that a future sacrifice of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, the timing or amount of which is uncertain.

If the effect is material, a provision is determined by discounting the expected future cash flows (adjusted for expected future risks) required to settle the obligation at a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability, being risk free rates on government bonds most closely matching the expected future payments, except where noted below. The unwinding of the discount is treated as part of the expense related to the particular provision.

When some or all of the economic benefits required to settle a provision are expected to be recovered from a third party, the recovery receivable is recognized as an asset when it is probable that the recovery will be received and is measured on a basis consistent with the measurement of the related provision.

In the Consolidated Statements of Income, the expense recognized in respect of a provision is presented net of the recovery. In the Consolidated Balance Sheets, the provision is recognized net of the recovery receivable only when the entity:

has a legally recognized right to set-off the recovery receivable and the provision; and intends to settle on a net basis, or to realize the asset and settle the provision simultaneously.

Restructuring

A provision for restructuring, including employee termination benefits, related to an acquired entity or operation is recognized at the date of acquisition where:

the main features of the restructuring were announced, implementation of the restructuring commenced, or contracts were entered into by the date of acquisition;

a detailed formal plan is developed by the earlier of three months after the date of acquisition and the completion of this financial report.

The provision only relates to costs associated with the acquired entity, and is included in the determination of the fair value of the net assets acquired. The provision includes liabilities for termination benefits that will be paid to employees of the acquired entity as a result of the restructuring.

Other provisions for restructuring or termination benefits are only recognized when a detailed plan has been formally approved and the restructuring or termination benefits have either commenced or been publicly announced, or firm contracts related to the restructuring or the termination benefits have been entered into. Costs related to ongoing activities are not provided for. The liabilities for termination benefits that will be paid as a result of these restructurings have been included in the provision for restructuring.

Dividends

A provision for dividends payable is recognized in the reporting period in which the dividends are declared, for the entire undistributed amount, regardless of the extent to which they will be paid in cash.

Onerous Contracts

A provision for onerous contracts is recognized after impairment losses on assets dedicated to the contract have been recognized and when the expected benefits are less than the unavoidable costs of meeting the contractual obligations. A provision is recognized to the extent that the contract obligations exceed future economic benefits.

Insurance and Other Claims

Provisions for worker's compensation, insurance and other claims are made for claims received and claims expected to be received in relation to incidents occurring prior to reporting date, based on historical claim rates.

Estimated net future cash flows are based on the assumption that all claims will be settled and the weighted average cost of historical claims adjusted for inflation will continue to approximate future costs.

(9) Borrowing Costs

Borrowing costs include interest, amortization of discounts or premiums relating to borrowings, amortization of ancillary costs incurred in connection with the arrangement of borrowings, foreign exchange differences on borrowings other than those designated as net investment hedges and lease finance charges.

Borrowing costs are brought to account in determining profit for the year, except to the extent the interest incurred relates to major capital items, in which case, interest is capitalized as a cost of the asset up to the time it is ready for its intended use and amortized over the expected useful economic life.

The total amount of interest capitalized during the year as part of the carrying amount of assets is shown in Note 3.

(10) Investments and Other Financial Assets

Investments in listed and unlisted securities, other than controlled entities and associates, in the financial report, are brought to account at cost and dividend income is recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Income when receivable.

The consolidated entity follows the requirements of AASB 1016 Accounting for Investments in Associates and applies the equity method of accounting for investments in associates. Associates are those entities over which the consolidated entity exercises significant influence, but does not control. The equity method requires the carrying amount of investments in associates to be adjusted by the consolidated entity's share of associates' net profit or loss after tax and other movements in reserves. Investments in associates are carried at the lower of the equity accounted amount and the recoverable amount. These amounts are recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Income and consolidated reserves.

(11) Non-Current Assets

The recoverable amount of non-current assets carried at cost is reviewed at each reporting date using profit multiples and undiscounted cash flows. Non-current assets are written down to recoverable amount where the carrying value of any non-current asset exceeds recoverable amount. The write-down is recognized as an expense in the Consolidated Statements of Income in the reporting period in which it occurs.

(12) Inventories

Inventories are valued at the lower of cost (including an appropriate proportion of fixed and variable overheads) and net realizable value in the normal course of business.

(13) Foreign Currency Translation

The financial statements of overseas controlled entities which are classified as self-sustaining are converted to Australian currency at balance date using the current rate method as set out in Accounting Standard AASB 1012 Foreign Currency Translation . Any exchange gains/losses arising from the effect of currency fluctuations on these investments are taken directly to the exchange fluctuations reserve on consolidation.

Prior to translation, the financial reports of self-sustaining operations in hyper-inflationary economies are restated to account for changes in the general purchasing power of the local currency, based on relevant price indices at reporting date. For hyper-inflationary self-sustaining operations, the translated amounts for non-monetary assets, other than inventory, are compared to recoverable amounts translated at spot rates at reporting dates and any excess is expensed, unless a revaluation reserve balance exists for non-current assets carried at fair value.

Foreign exchange differences relating to foreign currency transactions hedging a net investment in a self-sustaining foreign operation, together with any related income tax, are transferred to the exchange fluctuations reserve on consolidation.

With the exception of transactions hedging a net investment in a self-sustaining foreign operation, all material foreign currency transactions are subject to forward cover contracts and any exchange gains/losses arising from the effect of currency fluctuations on the underlying transactions are offset by the exchange gains/losses on the forward cover contract.

In this circumstance, hedged transactions are initially recorded at the relevant rate at the date of the transaction. Hedges outstanding at reporting date are valued at the rates ruling on that date and gains or losses are brought to account in the Consolidated Statements of Income. Costs or gains arising at the time of entering into the hedge are deferred and amortized over the life of the hedge.

(14) Financial Instruments

Financial Instruments Included in Equity

Details of shares and other securities issued and the terms and conditions of options outstanding over ordinary shares at balance date are set out in Notes 18 and 19.

The issue of $400 million of Perpetual Amcor Convertible Reset Securities (PACRS) and $210 million of 2002 Perpetual Amcor Convertible Reset Securities (PACRS2) are classified as equity and the coupon interest payable on the PACRS and PACRS2 is treated as a distribution of shareholders' equity. The Consolidated Statements of Income do not include the coupon interest on the PACRS or PACRS2.

Financial Instruments Included in Liabilities

Liabilities are recognized for amounts to be paid in the future for goods and services received, whether or not billed to the consolidated entity.

Bank overdrafts, bank loans, mortgage loans and other loans are carried at their principal amounts. Interest is charged as an expense as it accrues other than for amounts capitalized - refer Note 1(9).

Commercial Paper is carried at the principal amount. The discount interest is carried as a deferred expense and brought to account on an accruals basis.

US$ Notes are carried at face value and translated at the rates ruling at reporting date. Interest is charged as an expense as it accrues.

Eurobond notes are carried at face value less their discount, with the discount amortised over the period to maturity. Interest is charged as an expense as it accrues.

Undated subordinated convertible securities were initially recorded at the amount of consideration received. Where applicable, these securities have been translated at the rate of exchange ruling at reporting date. Interest payable on these securities is recognized when entitlements accrue and is calculated in accordance with the terms of each issue. The terms and conditions of undated subordinated convertible securities outstanding are set out in Note 17.

Financial Instruments Included in Assets

Trade Debtors are carried at nominal amounts due less any provision for doubtful debts. Collectability of overdue accounts is assessed on an ongoing basis. Specific provision is made for all doubtful accounts. A provision for doubtful debts is recognized when collection of the full nominal amount is no longer probable.

Receivables other than trade debtors are carried at nominal amounts due.

Derivatives

The consolidated entity's policy on interest rate risk management is to monitor and, where appropriate, hedge the consolidated entity's exposure to movements in interest rates through the use of various hedging products available in the financial markets.

The consolidated entity enters into interest rate and cross currency swaps, forward rate agreements and interest rate options to hedge interest rate and foreign currency exposures. These instruments are not held for speculative purposes. Where hedge transactions are designated as a hedge of the anticipated purchase or sale of goods or services or an anticipated interest transaction, gains and losses on the hedge arising up to the date of the anticipated transactions are included in the measurement of the anticipated transaction when the transaction has occurred as designated. Any gains or losses on the hedge transaction after that date are included in the Consolidated Statements of Income.

The net amounts receivable or payable under forward foreign exchange contracts and the associated deferred gains or losses are recorded in the Consolidated Balance Sheets until the hedge transaction occurs. When recognized, the net receivables or payables are revalued using the rate of exchange ruling at reporting date.

Where a hedge transaction is terminated early and the anticipated transaction is still expected to occur, the deferred gains and losses that arose prior to its termination are included in the measurement of the purchase or sale or interest transaction when it occurs. Where a hedge transaction is terminated early because the anticipated transaction is no longer expected to occur, deferred gains and losses that arose on the hedge instrument are included in the Consolidated Statements of Income.

Net receipts and payments under the interest rate swap contracts, forward rate agreements and cross currency swaps are recognized on an accruals basis as an adjustment to interest expense. The premiums paid on interest rate options are included in other assets and amortized to borrowing costs over the term of the agreement.

(15) Leased Assets

Leases under which the consolidated entity assumes substantially all the risks and benefits of ownership are classified as finance leases. Other leases are classified as operating leases.

Finance leases are capitalized. A lease asset and a lease liability equal to the present value of the minimum lease payments are recorded at the inception of the lease.

Payments made under operating leases are expensed over the term of the lease.

(16) Research and Development Expenditure

Expenditure on research and development associated with product research and development innovation is charged against operating profit in the year in which the expenditure is incurred.

Where such expenditure is considered to have a demonstrable future economic benefit and commercial value, it is capitalized and amortized over the period of time during which the benefits are expected to arise.

Expenditure on significant commercial development, including major software applications and associated systems, is capitalized and amortized over the period of time during which the benefits are expected to arise, typically not exceeding 10 years.

(17) Trademarks / Licences

The consolidated entity writes off expenditure on trademarks / licences to profit as incurred.

(18) Goodwill

The consolidated entity recognises goodwill on acquisitions of controlled entities and businesses as required by Accounting Standard AASB 1013 Accounting for Goodwill .

All goodwill is amortized in equal instalments over the period of time during which the benefits are expected to arise but for a period not exceeding 20 years. The unamortized balance of goodwill is reviewed at reporting date and adjusted where it is considered that the carrying amount exceeds the expected future benefits.

(19) Earnings per Share (EPS)

Basic Earnings per Share

Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing the net profit attributable to members of the consolidated entity for the reporting period, after adjusting for distributions on PACRS, by the weighted average number of ordinary shares of the consolidated entity, adjusted for any bonus issue.

Diluted Earnings per Share

Diluted EPS earnings is calculated by adjusting the basic EPS earnings for the after tax effect of financing costs and the effect of conversion to ordinary shares associated with dilutive potential ordinary shares.

The diluted EPS weighted average number of shares includes the number of ordinary shares assumed to be issued for no consideration in relation to dilutive potential ordinary shares. The number of ordinary shares assumed to be issued for no consideration represents the difference between the number that would have been issued at the exercise price and the number that would have been issued at the average market price.

The identification of dilutive potential ordinary shares is based on net profit or loss from continuing ordinary operations and is applied on a cumulative basis, taking into account the incremental earnings and incremental number of shares for each series of potential ordinary shares.

(20) Acquisition of Assets

All assets acquired, including property, plant and equipment and intangibles other than goodwill, are initially recorded at their cost of acquisition at the date of acquisition, being the fair value of the consideration provided plus incidental costs directly attributable to the acquisition. Acquired in-process research and development is only recognized as a separate asset when future benefits are expected beyond any reasonable doubt to be recoverable.

(21) Repairs and Maintenance

Costs associated with repairs and maintenance are expensed as incurred where such costs serve to maintain the asset's operating capacity at its previously assessed standard of performance.

(22) Reclassification of Financial Information

Certain items in the comparative periods have been reclassified to conform to current period disclosures.

Note 15 BANK AND OTHER BORROWINGS

The consolidated entity borrows funds in various currencies to finance the group's operations. All material foreign currency liabilities are hedged or matched by equivalent assets in the same currencies, such assets representing a natural hedge.

The consolidated entity does not, as a rule, pledge assets as security for borrowings, however, at June 30, 2004, bank overdrafts, bank loans and other loans totalling $10.2 million (2003 $23.7 million) were secured, principally against group property, plant and equipment. These security arrangements relate to acquired subsidiaries and were in place prior to the companies concerned becoming part of the consolidated entity.

The carrying value of current and non current pledged assets (included in the total of Property, Plant and Equipment in Note 11) at June 30, 2004 is $66.2 million (2003 $100.0 million), principally representing assets in North America and Europe. The directors believe there are no restrictions on the net assets of subsidiary companies other than the above mortgages entered into in the normal course of borrowings.

The market price at date of conversion is the last bid price of the Nasdaq National Market on the date of conversion. The notes were convertible from 19 November 1996 and may be converted until 19 November 2006.

These notes have no maturity dates, are only redeemable after 19 November 2006, and then only at Amcor Limited's option, and are subordinated to all other obligations of the company save for issued capital. Interest on these notes is payable semi-annually.

Perpetual Amcor Convertible Reset Securities (PACRS) are fully paid perpetual, non-cumulative, subordinated, convertible, reset, unsecured notes. Non-cumulative interest is paid semi-annually on the initial PACRS at a coupon rate of 8.5733% and on the PACRS2 at a coupon rate of 8.57% per annum which are fixed until the first reset dates being 30 April 2006 for PACRS and 30 April 2007 for PACRS2.

On the reset dates, holders may convert some or all outstanding PACRS into ordinary shares calculated with reference to the conversion discount. The issuer may convert some or all of the outstanding PACRS at any time in the six months before a reset date. Coupon rates, conversion terms and the conversion discount are able to be reset by the issuer on the reset date.

After adjusting for the conversion discount, the number of ordinary shares issued on conversion will be subject to a minimum of approximately 10.26 per PACRS (a maximum conversion price of $9.75 per ordinary share) and a maximum of 100 per PACRS (a minimum conversion price of $1.00 per ordinary share). The ordinary share price is calculated via reference to the volume weighted average sale price on the ASX during the 20 business days immediately preceding the conversion date.

The fair value of the PACRS as at 30 June 2004 was $670.4 million.

Included in the above employee benefits of the consolidated entity are provisions relating to directors' retiring allowances. These provisions only relate to non-executive directors of Amcor Limited and are in accordance with the company's Constitution and with agreements between the company and individual directors.

Employee Share Purchase Plans (ESPP)

In 1985, the consolidated entity established the ESPP. The maximum number of shares that can be issued under all plans cannot exceed 10% of the company's issued capital.

Employee Incentive Share Plan (EISP)

Under the EISP, shares are offered for the benefit of all full-time employees, permanent/casual employees and executive directors of Amcor Limited with more than 12 months' service. The number of shares offered depends upon the consolidated entity's increase in earnings per share and is currently on the following basis: an increase in earnings per share of less than 5% will result in no offer; from 5% to 10%, an offer of 100 shares; from more than 10% to 15%, an offer of 200 shares will be made; and above 15%, an offer of 300 shares will be made.

Under the EISP, shares have been issued at a 40% discount to the prevailing market price of Amcor Limited shares. The subscription amount is funded by an interest-free loan from the company with the exception of senior executives who are not provided with the loan facility. Dividends on the shares are applied in repayment of the loan balance.

On 10 February 2004, 16,982 employees in 18 countries elected to participate and received an allotment of 100 ordinary shares each in respect of the 2003 financial year. 1,606,600 ordinary shares were issued at a price of $4.59; and in one country, due to legislative requirements, 91,600 ordinary shares were issued at a price of $1.91.

Senior Executive Retention Share Plan (SERSP)

Under the second plan, the SERSP, the Board may nominate certain senior executives as being eligible to receive fully paid ordinary shares in part satisfaction of their remuneration for the relevant financial year. The number of shares issued is entirely at the Board's discretion. The shares may not be disposed of by the employee for a restricted period of up to 5 years, unless the employee ceases employment 3 years after the shares were issued. Any right or interest in the shares will be forfeited if the employee voluntarily ceases employment within three years from the date the shares were issued or if the employee is dismissed during the restricted period for cause or poor performance. The shares subject to the SERSP carry full dividend entitlements and voting rights.

Employee Share/Option Plan (ESOP)

In 1985, the consolidated entity also established the Employee Share/Option Plan (ESOP). Under the ESOP, partly paid shares or options of the company can be issued to executive officers and directors (including directors who are executives) and senior staff members selected by the directors. The shares are issued at market price at the time of issue. The call outstanding only becomes payable on termination, death or at the directors' discretion. These shares do not carry dividend entitlements unless determined otherwise by the directors. Voting rights exercisable by holders of partly paid ordinary shares are reduced pro rata to the portion of the issue price paid up on those shares under the Australian Stock Exchange Listing Rules.

Options granted under the ESOP may be issued upon such terms and subject to such conditions as the directors of the company determine at the time. Options granted under the ESOP are exercisable at a price equal to the closing share market price of Amcor Limited shares traded on the Australian Stock Exchange at the date on which the options were granted or a weighted average market price during a four day period up to and including the date of grant.

Options are granted under the ESOP at no consideration and carry no dividend entitlement or voting rights until they are exercised to ordinary shares on a one-for-one basis.

For the majority of options issued in the years ended June 30, 2004 and June 30, 2003, executives and certain members of staff are generally only eligible to exercise the options issues, if returns on average funds invested exceed targeted levels at the end of the financial reporting period in which the options were granted. Returns on funds invested are defined as Earnings Before Interest Tax and Amortisation (EBITA).

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

2000 CEO Restricted Share and Option Issue

Shareholders at the 2000 Annual General Meeting approved the issue of three million options to the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer. The grant of options was made on August 18, 2000 at an exercise price of $5.67 which was the weighted average market price of Amcor Limited shares traded on the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX) for the week ended August 18, 2000. All options previously held by the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer were cancelled following the approval by shareholders of the issue of the three million options.

These options were issued in three equal annual tranches. Each tranche is subject to two performance hurdles: for the first half of each tranche, the Board must be satisfied that the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer has continued to demonstrate effective performance having regard to the financial and operating performance of the Company and any other factors affecting the reputation of the company or otherwise as the Board deems appropriate. For the second half, the Amcor Limited total shareholder return is to exceed a comparator total shareholder return. Full details of these performance criteria are set out in the explanatory notes mailed to shareholders for the 2000 Annual General Meeting.

At the 2000 Annual General Meeting, shareholders also approved the issue of Restricted Shares to the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer as part of his Short Term Incentive Bonus (STI Bonus). The number of Restricted Shares depends upon both the size of the STI Bonus in each year and a formula which incorporates the simple average of the closing price of Amcor Limited shares for each ASX trading day of the relevant year.

Details of the terms of issue of both the options and the Restricted Shares are set out in full in the explanatory notes for the 2000 Annual General Meeting.

During the year 84,541 ordinary shares were issued by way of bonus for nil consideration with performance restrictions of three and up to five years.

2002 CEO Option Issue

Shareholders at the 2002 Annual General Meeting approved the issue of three million options to the Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer. The grant of options was made on August 14, 2002 at an exercise price of $8.20. These options were issued in three equal annual tranches. Each tranche is subject to the Amcor Limited total shareholder return exceeding a comparator total shareholder return. Full details of these performance criteria are set out in the explanatory notes mailed to shareholders for the 2002 Annual General Meeting. During the year there were no options issued under this plan.

Other Compensation Plans

The EBPP is an alternative to the ESPP and the ESOP and is in place in countries where the company is unable to issue shares or options. Participants are offered entitlements and over the period during which employees hold their entitlements, their value will mirror the fluctuating value of Amcor's shares, including (in the case of the ESPP) all dividends paid on the shares during this time. Employees are only able to convert their entitlements into a cash bonus payment when they leave the company or three years have passed since the date on which the entitlements were originally issued.

On February 10, 2004, 2,334 employees in 11 countries elected to participate and received 100 ordinary entitlements each in respect of the 2003 financial year. 233,400 entitlements were issued at a price of $4.59.

From time to time, the Board may nominate certain employees in Belgium, New Zealand, Poland, Switzerland and the USA as being eligible to participate in a Senior Executive Retention Payment Plan (SERPP) under which Plan entitlements, instead of fully paid ordinary shares, are issued in part satisfaction of an employee's remuneration for the relevant financial year. The value of each Plan entitlement is linked to the performance of Amcor Limited shares (including the value of accrued dividends). Plan entitlements may be converted into a cash payment after the 5 year restriction period has expired, provided that the employee has not been dismissed for cause or poor performance during this time. If the employee voluntarily ceases employment within four or five years from the date the Plan entitlements were issued, the employee forfeits 40% or 20% of their Plan entitlements (respectively). Details of entitlements issued during the three years ended June 30, 2004 are shown in the table below.

Share Appreciation Entitlements may be issued to employees who take part of their bonus by way of entitlements. During the period the employee holds them, the value of entitlements will be equivalent to the fluctuating value of Amcor Limited Shares. Details of entitlements issued during the three years ended June 30, 2004 are shown in the table below.

(1) During the year, 150,000 shares were issued to an employee who took part of his bonus by way of entitlements under the SAE. The number of entitlements issued was determined by an option price formula determined by the Hay Group. During the period during which the employee holds his entitlements, their value will mirror the fluctuating value of Amcor Limited shares. The employee is able to convert his entitlements to cash as they vest or when he leaves the consolidated entity.

Phantom options are issued to employees residing in jurisdictions that, for statutory reasons, are not covered by option plans described above. The phantom option plan operates in a manner similar to other option plans although no entitlements to actual shares or options exist. Details of entitlements issued during the three years ended June 30, 2004 are shown in the table below.

Employee options

As described above, an employee share scheme has been established where the consolidated entity may grant options over the ordinary shares of Amcor Limited to executive directors, executives and certain members of staff of the consolidated entity. The options, issued for nil consideration, are granted in accordance with performance guidelines established by the directors of Amcor Limited. The options are issued for up to a term of ten years. The options cannot be transferred and will not be quoted on the Australian Stock Exchange.

(1) Where necessary, the exercise price has been reduced by $1.22 to reflect the capital reduction arising from the Paperlinx demerger.

The number of options with vesting dates after July 1, 2003 are 19,189,982. The weighted average fair value for these options vesting is $1.36.

The fair value of each option is estimated on the date of grant using a Black-Scholes option-pricing model with the following weighted average assumptions used for grants made in the year to June 30, 2004, June 30, 2003 and June 30, 2002:

	2004	2003	2002
Dividend yield (%)	3.9	3.4	4.6
Expected volatility (%)	20.0	20.0	22.7
Historical volatility (%)	20.0	20.0	22.7
Risk-free interest rate (%)	5.1	5.3	5.3
Expected life of option (years)	4.9	5.7	5.0

The dividend yield reflects the assumption that the current dividend payout will continue with no anticipated changes. The expected life of the options is based on historical data and is not necessarily indicative of exercise patterns that may occur. The expected volatility reflects the assumption that the historical volatility is indicative of future trends, which may also not necessarily be the actual outcome.

Currently, the fair values of options granted are not recognized as expenses in the financial statements. However, should these grants be expensed, they would be amortized over the vesting periods resulting in an increase in employee benefits expense of $8.0 million for the 2004 financial year (2003 $17.8 million). Note that no adjustments to these amounts have been made to reflect estimated or actual forfeitures (i.e. options that do not vest).

Based on similar valuation principles, if the ESPP shares and the ordinary shares issued for nil consideration (refer above) were to be expensed, an increase in the employee benefit expense of $6.7 million (2003 $10.8 million) would result.

The consolidated entity participates in a number of superannuation funds which were established to provide benefits for employees and their dependants. Details of these plans are set out in Note 26.

Note 23 CONTINGENT LIABILITIES

Details of contingent liabilities which the directors consider should be disclosed are set out below. The directors are of the opinion that provisions are not required in respect of these matters, as it is either not probable that a future sacrifice of economic benefits will be required or the amount is not capable of reliable measurement.

Amcor Ltd has indemnified the PaperlinX Limited Group in relation to potential taxation and work cover liabilities in excess of any provisions made in the financial statements of the PaperlinX Limited Group at March 31, 2000.

Under the terms of the ASIC Class Order 98/1418 (as amended) dated August 13, 1998, which relieved certain wholly-owned subsidiaries from the requirement to prepare audited financial statements, Amcor Limited and certain wholly-owned subsidiaries have entered into approved deeds for the cross guarantee of liabilities with those subsidiaries. No liabilities subject to the deeds of cross guarantee at June 30, 2004 are expected to arise to Amcor Limited and its subsidiaries as all such subsidiaries were financially sound and solvent at that date.

On June 15, 2000, the Construction, Forestry, Mining and Energy Union (CFMEU) filed a proceeding in the Federal Court of Australia against Amcor. The proceeding related to a claim for redundancy-related payments arising out of the change of employment of CFMEU members stemming from the demerger by Amcor in April 2000 of the PaperlinX Group.

On May 13, 2002 the court found that Amcor employees whose employment was transferred to PaperlinX Ltd had technically been made redundant and that the Court could not interpret the relevant clauses of the certified agreement in a manner which relieved Amcor of the obligation to make redundancy severance payments to the transferred employees. Amcor appealed this decision.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

The appeal was heard by the Full Bench of the Federal Court on February 24, 2003 and its decision, dismissing Amcor's appeal was handed down on March 28, 2003. Amcor subsequently filed an application for special leave to appeal to the High Court, which was granted on December 12, 2003. The appeal was heard by the High Court on August 4, 2004 and the decision on the appeal is pending. After considering legal advice, the directors are of the opinion that no provision is required.

However, in the event we are ultimately unsuccessful in the appeal, we could be required to make redundancy payments to the former employees. Such payments, if eventually required may have a material effect on Amcor's results of operations in the year such a judgement is made. It is not possible to reliably estimate the amounts which might be involved.

Remuneration of directors and executives

Principles used to determine the nature and amount of remuneration

The objective of the company's executive reward framework is to ensure reward for performance is competitive and appropriate for the results delivered. The framework aligns executive reward with achievement of strategic objectives and the creation of value for shareholders and conforms with market best practice for delivery of reward. The directors ensure that executive reward satisfies the following key criteria for good reward governance practices:

In consultation with external remuneration consultants, the company has structured an executive remuneration framework that is market competitive and complementary to the reward strategy of the organisation.

Alignment to shareholders' interests:

focuses on sustained growth in share price and delivering constant return on assets as well as focusing the executive on key non-financial drivers of value attracts and retains high calibre executives.

Alignment to program participants' interests:

rewards capability and experience

provides recognition for contribution.

The framework provides a mix of fixed and variable pay, and a blend of short and long term incentives. As executives gain seniority within the consolidated entity, the balance of this mix shifts to a higher proportion of at risk rewards.

Non-Executive Directors

Fees and payments to non-executive directors reflect the demands which are made on, and the responsibilities of, the directors. Non-executive directors' fees and payments are reviewed annually by the Board. The Board has also accepted the advice of independent remuneration consultants to ensure non-executive directors' fees and payments are appropriate and in line with the market. The Chairman's fees are determined independently to the fees of non-executive directors based on comparative roles in the external market.

The Chairman is not present at any discussions relating to determination of his own remuneration. Non-executive directors do not receive share options. Each year non-executive directors receive a percentage of their remuneration in Amcor Limited shares, which are acquired on-market. A minimum of 20% of remuneration has been allocated in this way since shareholders approved this arrangement on October 22, 1999.

Directors' Fees

The current base remuneration was last reviewed with effect from July 1, 2003. The Chairman's Remuneration is inclusive of committee fees while non-executive directors who chair or are members of any committees receive additional yearly fees. An additional fee is also payable to the non-executive director who chairs the Amcor Superannuation Fund.

Non-executive directors' fees are determined within an aggregate directors' fee pool limit, which is periodically recommended for approval by shareholders.

Retirement Allowances for Directors

On August 1, 2003, the Board resolved to remove retirement allowances for non-executive directors appointed after that date.

Executive Pay

The executive pay and reward framework has four components:

- base pay and benefits
- short term performance incentives
- long term incentives through participation in option plans
- other remuneration such as superannuation.

The combination of these comprises the executive's total remuneration. The company intends to continue its long term option plan for executives during the year ended 30 June 2005.

Base Pay

Base pay is structured as a total employment cost package which may be delivered as a mix of cash and prescribed non-monetary benefits at the executive's discretion.

Executives are offered a competitive base pay that comprises the fixed component of pay and rewards. External remuneration consultants provide analysis and advice to ensure base pay is set to reflect the market for a comparable role. Base pay for senior executives is reviewed annually to ensure the executive's pay is competitive with the market. An executive's pay is also reviewed on promotion.

There are no guaranteed base pay increases fixed in any senior executive's contract.

Benefits

Executives receive benefits including health insurance, car allowances and tax advisory services.

Retirement benefits

Retirement benefits are delivered under superannuation funds. These funds currently provide defined benefits based on years of service and final average salary and/or accumulation type benefits.

Short-Term Incentives

A short-term incentive (STI) pool is available for executives for allocation during the annual review subject to achievement of company and/or personal objectives. Incentives (bonuses) are payable in cash on 30 September each year. Using a profit target as one of the performance triggers ensures a significant portion of this variable reward is only available when value has been created for shareholders and when profit is consistent with the business plan. The incentive pool is leveraged for performance above the threshold to provide an incentive for executive out-performance.

Each executive has a target STI opportunity depending on the accountabilities of the role and impact on organisation or business unit performance. For senior executives the maximum target bonus opportunity is 100% of total base salary.

Each year, the Remuneration Committee considers the appropriate targets and key performance indicators (KPIs) to link the STI plan and the level of payout if targets are met. This includes setting any maximum payout under the STI plan, and minimum levels of performance to trigger payment of STI.

For the year ended June 30, 2004, the KPIs linked to short term incentive plans were based on group, individual business and personal objectives. The KPIs included reducing operating costs and achieving specific targets in relation to return on assets and profit after tax as well as other key, strategic non-financial measures linked to drivers of performance in future reporting periods. These KPIs are generic across the senior executive team.

The short term bonus payments are adjusted up or down in line with under or over achievement against the target performance levels.

The STI target annual payment is reviewed annually.

Note 26 SUPERANNUATION COMMITMENTS

The consolidated entity participates in a number of superannuation funds which were established to provide benefits for employees and their dependants. The funds cover company sponsored plans, industry/union plans, government plans and defined benefit plans.

Company Sponsored Plans

The principal benefits are pensions or lump sums for members on resignation, retirement, death or total permanent disablement. These benefits are determined on either a defined benefit or accumulation benefit basis.

Employee contribution rates are either determined by the rules of the fund or selected by members from a specified range of rates. In addition to legislative requirements, employer companies contribute to defined benefit funds as described below or, in the case of accumulation funds, the amounts set out in the appropriate fund rules.

Industry/Union Plans

Employer companies participate in industry and union plans on behalf of certain employees. These plans operate on an accumulation basis and provide lump sum benefits for members on resignation, retirement or death. The employer company has a legally enforceable obligation to contribute at varying rates to these plans.

Government Plans

Employer companies participate in government plans, on behalf of certain employees, which provide pension benefits.

There exists a legally enforceable obligation on employer companies to contribute as required by legislation.

Defined Benefit Plans

The consolidated entity maintains several defined benefit superannuation arrangements world-wide. On a vested benefit basis, some arrangements are in actuarial surplus, others are in a position of actuarial deficiency. Surpluses and deficiencies depend on many diverse factors and can vary significantly over time having regard, for example, to movements in the investment markets, future salary increases and changes in employment patterns. This note sets out the consolidated entity's position and accounting policy in relation to its defined benefit arrangements.

The consolidated entity's current intention is to make annual contributions to defined benefits funds at a rate determined from time to time following discussions with the funds' actuaries or other competent authorities and advisers. The consolidated entity expects that the contribution rates will be determined after taking into account sound actuarial principles and would be designed to enable all the consolidated entity's defined benefit funds to meet retirement expectations and relevant regulatory requirements. The consolidated entity's current intention is based on these assumptions.

While the consolidated entity does not expect its current intention to change, the consolidated entity does not accept any liability to fund any present or future deficiency in the funds, as calculated at any particular point in time. The consolidated entity reserves the right to increase, reduce or terminate its contributions to the funds as it sees fit.

Accordingly, the consolidated entity is of the opinion that, under Australian accounting standards, it has no constructive or legal obligation, as at the balance date, to fund deficits that may arise in particular funds from time to time. In all cases, however, the consolidated entity expects to have the financial capacity to make or cause to be made sufficient annual contributions to the funds that ensure employee retirement expectations will be met.

The consolidated entity's accounting policies and disclosures contained herein are in accordance with AASB 1028 Employee Benefits. All plans are listed below showing the last actuarial assessments, where applicable, made by independent actuaries on the dates indicated.

Fund assets net of liabilities other than accrued benefits (funds assets) at net market value as at the reporting date, accrued benefits as at the last actuarial review date and vested benefits of the funds/plans as at the reporting date are as follows:

Segment results and assets include items directly attributable to a segment as well as those that can be allocated on a reasonable basis, including inter-segment eliminations. Unallocated items mainly comprise other revenue. The accounting policies used in determining segment operating profit are consistent with the policies applied to the consolidated financial report.

Interest and net debt are managed by the central treasury function and therefore it is not considered appropriate to analyse these by segment.

Geographic Segment

The analysis of turnover is based on the country in which the order is received and would not be materially different to the country in which the goods are produced.

Note 30 ADDITIONAL FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS DISCLOSURE

Interest Rate Risk

The consolidated entity is exposed to movements in interest rates under various debt facilities. By monitoring global interest rates and, where appropriate, hedging interest rate exposures, the company is able to manage the consolidated entity's interest rate risk.

Cross Currency Interest Rate Swaps, Interest Rate Swaps, Options and Forward Rate Agreements.

Interest rate swaps and forward rate agreements allow the consolidated entity to swap floating rate borrowings into fixed rates. Interest rate swaps are also used to swap fixed rate borrowings into floating rates. Cross currency interest rate swaps allow the consolidated entity to swap long term Australian denominated borrowings into foreign currencies, to hedge the investment in self sustaining foreign operations. Maturities of swap contracts are principally between one and three years.

Each contract involves quarterly or semi-annual payment or receipt of the net amount of interest. Floating rates are based on interest rate settings in the currencies concerned plus the consolidated entity's credit margin.

There were no forward rate agreements outstanding at year end (2003 nil).

From time to time, the consolidated entity also enters into interest rate options to reduce the impact of changes in interest rates on floating rate long-term debt. There were no interest rate options outstanding at year end (2003 nil).

Foreign Exchange Risk

In relation to transactional foreign currency exposures, the consolidated entity's policy is to hedge all net forecast or actual foreign currency exposures greater than A$100,000. The gains or costs on entering the hedge and the exchange differences up to the date of the purchase or sale are deferred and recognised as assets or liabilities on the balance sheet from the inception of the hedge contract, not when the specific purchase or sale occurs. At maturity, the costs or gains are included in the measurement of the underlying transaction.

Accounts payable and borrowings include amounts repayable in foreign currencies shown at their Australian dollar equivalents. All material foreign currency liabilities are hedged or matched by equivalent assets in the same currencies, such assets representing a natural hedge.

The following table sets out the gross value to be received under foreign currency contracts, the weighted average contracted exchange rates and the settlement periods of contracts outstanding as at June 30:

Credit RiskOn Balance Sheet Financial Instruments

The maximum credit risk on financial assets of the consolidated entity, other than investments in shares, is generally the carrying amount of receivables, net of provisions for doubtful debts.

The consolidated entity minimises its concentrations of credit risk by undertaking transactions with a large number of customers and counterparties in various countries. There is no material exposure to any individual customer.

Derivative Financial Instruments

In order to control any exposure which may result from non-performance by counterparties, hedging contracts are only entered into with major banks with a minimum long term rating of A- by Standard & Poor's. In addition, the Amcor Limited Board must approve these banks for use, and specific internal guidelines have been established with regard to limits, dealing and settlement procedures.

The credit risk exposure arising from the derivative financial instruments is the sum of all contracts with a positive replacement cost. The maximum credit risk exposure on foreign currency contracts is the full amount of the foreign currency the consolidated entity is contracted to receive when settlement occurs. As at June 30, 2004 the sum of all contracts with a positive replacement cost was $50.5 million (2003 $50.3 million).

Net Fair ValuesOn Balance Sheet Financial Instruments

Instruments traded on organised markets are valued by reference to market prices prevailing at balance date.

The net fair value of other monetary financial assets and financial liabilities approximates their carrying value.

The carrying amounts and net fair values of financial assets and liabilities as at reporting date are as follows:

	Carrying Amount 2004 $m	Net Fair Value 2004 $m	Carrying Amount 2003 $m	Net Fair Value 2003 $m

Undated subordinated convertible securities	332.3	345.6	446.2	515.3

Derivative Financial Instruments

The valuation detailed reflects the estimated amounts which the consolidated entity expects to pay or receive to terminate the contracts or replace the contracts at their current market rates as at reporting date. This is based on independent market quotations and determined using standard valuation techniques. For foreign exchange related contracts, the net fair value is taken to be the unrealised gain or loss at balance date calculated by reference to current market rates.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

The net fair value of derivative financial instruments held as at reporting date are:

	2004 $m	2003 $m
Interest rate swaps	(20.3)	(21.3)
Cross currency swaps	35.1	41.7
Forward foreign exchange contracts	12.2	2.9
Commodity fixed price swaps	1.5
	28.5	23.3

An equivalent movement on the underlying transactions offsets the above net notional positions.

Non-recourse Receivables Securitisation Programme

The consolidated entity utilises an uncommitted, multi-currency receivables securitisation programme in the UK, France, Germany, Spain and the US. The trade receivables of some of the group entities in these jurisdictions are sold, on a non-recourse basis, into an independent securitisation conduit which issues asset-backed commercial paper into organised markets.

The cost of the programme is included in the expenses from ordinary activities of the consolidated entity.

The programme limit is $210.0 million (2003 $205.0 million) and the balance of trade receivables sold at June 2004 was $197.9 million (2003 $190.0 million).

Note 32 EVENTS SUBSEQUENT TO BALANCE DATE

(A) Dividends

Since the end of the financial year, the directors declared a final dividend of 16 cents per share franked to 40% payable on September, 29 2004. The financial effect of this dividend has not been brought to account in the financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2004 and will be recognised in subsequent financial reports.

(B) International Financial Reporting Standards

The consolidated entity has commenced transitioning its accounting policies and financial reporting from current Australian Standards to Australian equivalents of International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS). The consolidated entity has allocated internal resources and engaged expert consultants to perform diagnostics and conduct impact assessments to identify key areas that will be impacted by the transition to IFRS.

As a result of these procedures, the affected areas have been graded as either high, medium or low impact and dedicated project teams have been established to address each of the areas in order of priority as represented by the gradings.

An IFRS steering committee monitors the progress of each of the project teams and developments in IFRS. Regular progress reporting to the Audit and Compliance Committee on the status of the IFRS implementation project has been instituted.

As the consolidated entity has a June 30 year-end, priority has been given to considering the preparation of an opening balance sheet in accordance with AASB equivalents to IFRS as at 1 July 2004. This will form the basis of accounting for Australian equivalents of IFRS in the future, and is required when the consolidated entity prepares its first fully compliant financial reports for the half-year ending 31 December 2005 and the full year ending June 30, 2006.

Most adjustments required on transition to IFRS will be made, retrospectively, against opening retained earnings on 1 July 2004; however transitional adjustments relating to those standards where comparatives are not required will only be made on 1 July 2005.

Set out below are the key areas where accounting policies will change and may have an impact on the financial report of Amcor Limited under Australian GAAP. At this stage, the consolidated entity has not been able to reliably quantify the impacts on the financial report.

(i) Financial Instruments

Financial instruments will be required to be classified into categories which will, in turn, determine the accounting treatment of the item. The classifications are loans and receivables, held for trading, held-to-maturity and available for sale and, depending upon classification, measured at fair value or amortised cost.

This will result in a change in the current accounting policy that does not classify financial instruments. Current measurement is at amortised cost, with certain derivative financial instruments not recognised in the Balance Sheet.

All derivative contracts will be recognised on the consolidated entity's Balance Sheet and measured at fair value. IFRS recognise fair value hedge accounting, cash flow hedge accounting and hedges of investments in foreign operations.

The consolidated entity expects to predominantly use cash flow hedging in respect of its interest rate risk hedges and foreign exchange contracts held for hedging purposes, with changes in fair value reflected in equity reserves.

Other financial instrument effects may include:

Recognition in the Balance Sheet of certain securitised assets and off-balance sheet programs. Existing securitisations require review to determine whether they are grandfathered under IFRS, and if not, an assessment of accounting treatment that will be required under IFRS.

Re-classification of Perpetual Amcor Convertible Reset Securities as debt rather than equity. Interest accruing on these reset securities will be recorded as borrowing costs rather than a distribution from retained earnings.

(ii) Goodwill

Under Accounting Standard AASB 3 Business Combinations, goodwill will no longer be able to be amortised but instead will be subject to annual impairment testing. This will result in a change in the consolidated entity's current accounting policy which amortises goodwill over its useful life not exceeding 20 years. Under the new policy, amortisation will no longer be charged - refer Note 3 for amortisation expense for the year ended June 30, 2004. However, post the transition date of July 1, 2004, goodwill will be recognised immediately in the Statement of Income to the extent it is impaired.

Potentially higher expenses may result in the event of a business combination because an acquiring entity will not be permitted to recognise liabilities for terminating or reducing the activities of the acquired entity as part of allocating the cost of the business acquisition. Any such liabilities existing at transition will be adjusted against opening retained earnings.

(iii) Impairment of Assets

Under the Accounting Standard AASB 136 Impairment of Assets, the recoverable amount of an asset is determined as the higher of net selling price and value in use. This will result in a change in the consolidated entity's current accounting policy which determines the recoverable amount of an asset on the basis of undiscounted cash flows. Under the new policy, it is likely that impairment of assets will be recognised sooner and that the amount of write-downs charged to the Statement of Income could be greater.

(iv) Share-Based Payments

The consolidated entity does not currently recognise an expense for options issued to staff. On adoption of Accounting Standard AASB 2 Share-Based Payments, the Amcor consolidated entity will recognise an expense for all share based remuneration such as Amcor's Employee Incentive Share Plans. On transition, this change in accounting policy will result in a change to opening retained earnings.

(v) Income Taxes

Under Accounting Standard AASB 112 Income Taxes, the consolidated entity will be required to use a balance sheet liability method which focuses on the tax effects of transactions and other events that affect amounts recognised in either the Balance Sheet or a tax-based Balance Sheet. On this basis, it is possible that significant adjustments to deferred tax assets and liabilities may be required as a result of the requirements to tax effect balance sheet items and other transactions, not previously considered within the consolidated entity's tax calculation.

(vi) Employee Benefits

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Under Accounting Standard AASB 119 Employee Benefits , employer sponsors are required to recognise the net surplus or deficit in their employer sponsored defined benefit funds as an asset or liability, respectively. This will result in a change in the current accounting policy which does not recognise the net surplus/deficit of defined benefit funds as an asset/liability.

The initial net deficit for the consolidated entity will be disclosed as a financial liability and, on transition, will be charged to retained earnings. Subsequent adjustments will be to net profit or loss for the period. The impact and volatility on the Statement of Income is likely to be higher for actuarially determined valuations under AASB 119 compared with cash contributions under Australian GAAP.

(vii) Intangible Assets

Under Accounting Standard AASB 138 Intangible Assets , costs incurred in the research phase of the development of an internally generated intangible must be expensed. This will result in a change in the consolidated entity's current accounting policy which allows for the capitalisation of costs incurred in the research phase of an internally generated intangible asset where future benefits are expected beyond reasonable doubt. Under the new policy, all research costs will be written off as incurred.

(C) Anti-Trust Investigations and Related Management Changes

Board Announcements

On November 23, 2004, Amcor announced that it had received information that led it to believe the Company's Australian business may have been involved in conduct which breaches competition laws. Amcor immediately informed the ACCC of the information received and informed the ACCC that it would provide full cooperation in any investigation which the ACCC undertakes. Amcor also initiated its own investigation of these matters.

On December 7, 2004, Amcor announced that after it had received the information referred to in its November 23 announcement, the Board immediately:

notified the ACCC of the information and advised the ACCC that it would cooperate fully with any investigation by the ACCC;

notified the ASX of possible breaches of competition laws; and instructed its legal advisors to review the available information and to conduct interviews with relevant members of management who may be able to assist in the investigation.

In the December 7 announcement the Board stated that it had met on December 6, 2004 to receive and consider an interim report in the matter from its legal advisors. The Board also resolved to accept offers of resignation given by each of Mr. Russell Jones (Managing Director of the Company) and Mr. Peter Sutton (Managing Director, Amcor Australasia) from their employment (and any directorships and other positions) with the Amcor Group. Mr. Peter Brown retired as Managing Director of Amcor Australasia in October 2003 and became a consultant to the Group. That consultancy was also terminated.

The Board announced its intention that Messrs. Jones and Sutton would receive only their minimum legal entitlements on resignation and that any additional contractual payments (whether by way of accrued performance payments or payments in lieu of notice or otherwise) would not be made to them.

The Board also announced the following interim appointments:

Mr. Chris Roberts (Chairman) would become Executive Chairman.

Mr. Louis Lachal, who was then the Executive General Manager Operations would become the Acting Chief Operating Officer of the Company. Mr. Lachal has been with the Amcor Group for 24 years and has worked in a number of divisions, both in Australia and the United Kingdom.

Mr. Darryl Roberts, who was then the Group General Manager Fibre Packaging in Australasia, would become the Acting Managing Director of Amcor Australasia. Mr Roberts has extensive experience working within a number of divisions in Australasia, including 10 years managing the metal can operations.

The Board has commenced the process of identifying suitable candidates for subsequent appointment to the executive positions.

The Board's December 7 announcement included the following background information.

On September 28, 2004, four senior executives who had worked in the corrugated box business of the Amcor Group in Australia resigned. On November 10, 2004, Amcor sought orders in the Federal Court relating to the return of confidential information belonging to the Amcor Group and injunctions to prevent use of that information by those former executives. Subsequently, the Company joined Mr. Jim Hodgson (former head of its Australia and New Zealand corrugated box business) to the proceeding. The Federal Court granted orders providing for the delivery up of any such confidential information.

On the afternoon of November 19, 2004, the solicitors for those former executives delivered material to the Company's solicitors which suggested that the Company may have been involved in conduct which breached competition laws. As noted above, on November 22, 2004, the Company's Board met to discuss the matter and resolved to refer the material which it had to the ACCC and to fully cooperate with any investigation which the ACCC may undertake.

The Board also resolved that the Company would urgently undertake its own investigation of the matter.

The Company's investigation is at an early stage. To date, its investigation has revealed that certain of its officers and employees appear to have entered into and given effect to arrangements which constituted cartel conduct in the corrugated box business in Australia and New Zealand. The full nature and extent of the cartel conduct has not yet been ascertained by the Company.

The Board is continuing to investigate the full nature and extent of the cartel conduct in the corrugated box business in Australia and New Zealand. At this stage, the Board is not aware of any cartel conduct affecting any other part of the Company's operations. It is to be expected that the ACCC, in the course of its investigation, will seek to ascertain whether any cartel conduct has occurred in any of the Company's operations other than its corrugated box business in Australia and New Zealand.

The Australian and New Zealand corrugated box business represented approximately 9% of Group sales revenue and 8% of Group PBITA in the year ended June 30 2004, 9% of Group sales revenue and 9% of Group PBITA in the year ended June 30 2003, and 11% of Group sales revenue and 11% of Group PBITA in the year ended June 30 2002.

Leniency Application - Australia

The ACCC is the statutory authority responsible for administering Australia's anti-trust laws, the Trade Practices Act 1974 (TPA).

On November 22, 2004 Amcor applied for leniency pursuant to the ACCC's Leniency Policy for Cartel Conduct (ACCC Leniency Policy).

The ACCC Leniency Policy allows for immunity from ACCC initiated proceedings to the first person involved in a cartel to come forward with information about the cartel. To obtain immunity, an applicant must meet certain requirements, including the provision of full co-operation on a continuous basis with the ACCC in its investigation and any ensuing proceedings.

In circumstances where the ACCC Leniency Policy does not apply, the ACCC will consider any application for leniency pursuant to its Cooperation Policy for Enforcement Matters.

The operation of the ACCC Leniency Policy does not in any way exclude or limit the rights of third parties who claim to have suffered loss or damage as a result of a contravention of the TPA to commence legal proceedings for damages and other relief against those involved in the contravention.

Leniency Application - New Zealand

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

On November 29, 2004 Amcor notified the NZCC that the Company may have been involved in cartel conduct in New Zealand. Amcor applied for leniency pursuant to the NZCC's Leniency Policy for Cartel Conduct (NZ Leniency Policy). The NZ Leniency Policy allows for immunity from NZCC initiated proceedings to the first person involved in a cartel to come forward with information about the cartel and co-operate fully with the NZCC in its investigation and prosecution of the cartel. Amcor was granted conditional immunity on December 1, 2004. Pursuant to the NZ Leniency Policy, Amcor entered into an agreement with the NZCC under which Amcor is obliged to comply with specified conditions including full cooperation with the NZCC. The operation of the NZ Leniency Policy does not exclude or limit claims by third parties who claim to have suffered loss or damage as a result of the cartel conduct. Under the Commerce Act, third parties may pursue private claims for compensatory or exemplary damages.

Estimated Penalties and Damages - Australia and New Zealand

It is not possible to provide either a reasonable estimate, or a reasonable estimated range, of either the statutory penalties which might be imposed on Amcor or of the amounts, if any, which might become payable by way of damages to any third parties who might have suffered loss as a result of any cartel conduct in Australia and New Zealand.

The following factors (among others) would be relevant to any attempted assessment of any such estimate or estimated range:

First, a breach of Australia's relevant anti-trust laws may involve the imposition of a civil pecuniary penalty for a corporation of up to $10 million for each breach. Corporations found to be in breach of New Zealand's relevant anti-trust laws may face, for each breach, a civil pecuniary penalty up to the greater of:

NZ$10 million; or either

three times the value of any commercial gain resulting from the contravention; or if the commercial gain cannot be ascertained, 10 per cent of the annual turnover of the body corporate and its interconnected bodies corporate as a result of trading by that body corporate in New Zealand.

A court may, in its discretion, choose to impose a penalty for a lesser amount.

Second, at this early stage of its own investigation, Amcor is not aware of the full nature and extent of any cartel conduct and is not able to make any reliable assessment of how many breaches of anti-trust laws may have occurred. Based on the limited information which Amcor has received since it first became aware of the cartel conduct on November 19, 2004, Amcor believes that cartel conduct may have occurred in Australia and New Zealand for a number of years. Amcor does not know either when the cartel conduct first commenced or how many breaches of anti-trust laws may have occurred over a period which is likely to be a number of years.

Third, as referred to above, Amcor has applied for leniency and/or immunity under the ACCC Leniency Policy and the NZCC Leniency Policy. It is not possible at such an early stage in the investigations being conducted by the ACCC and the NZCC to make a reasonable assessment of whether or not such leniency/immunity applications will or will not be ultimately successful, in whole or part, or of the financial impact if either of such applications is not successful.

Fourth, Amcor does not know when the ACCC and NZCC will make a decision as to whether to commence legal proceedings, and, if a decision is taken to commence proceedings, when any such proceedings will be commenced. Any such legal proceedings may not be heard and determined by the courts for a number of years. Accordingly, no reliable assessment can be made at present of how many breaches of anti-trust laws may be found by the courts to have occurred or as to the quantum of any pecuniary penalties which may be imposed by the courts. Equally, no reliable assessment can be made at present of the prospects of success or the quantum of damages, if any, that may be awarded in any proceedings which may be instituted by third parties.

Although it is not possible to establish a reasonable estimated range of either penalties or damages, there can be no assurance that the penalties or damages ultimately incurred will not be material to the results of operations or financial condition of Amcor.

Note 33 RECONCILIATION OF ACCOUNTS TO US GAAP

Note 33 RECONCILIATION OF ACCOUNTS TO US GAAP

Basis of Presentation

Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows

The Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows on F-9 presents bank overdrafts as a component of cash, which is consistent with Australian GAAP and International Accounting Standard No. 7. In accordance with SFAS 95 net activity in bank overdrafts is to be disclosed as components of cash flow from financing activities. The effect on the Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows on F-9 of adopting this disclosure would be that cash flow from financing activities would decrease by A$88.7 million for the year ended June 30, 2004, increase by A$78.3 million for the year ended June 30, 2003, and increase by A$11.5 million for the year ended June 30, 2002, respectively.

For US GAAP purposes no cash was classified as restricted as at June 30, 2004 or June 30, 2003. As at June 30, 2002, $2,118 million was classified as restricted cash and excluded from cash from the Consolidated Balance Sheets and Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows. This amount was used as a partial payment for the acquisition of the PET container and closures businesses of Schmalbach-Lubeca, which was made on July 1, 2002.

Classification of Other Revenue

Under Australian GAAP, proceeds from the sale of non-current assets are recorded as other revenues from ordinary activities and the carrying value of assets sold is included in expenses. Under US GAAP, the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying value of the assets sold would be presented as a net gain or loss and included in the determination of operating income.

US GAAP adjustments

- (a) Property, Plant and Equipment

Revaluations

Certain land, land improvements and buildings have been revalued by the consolidated entity at various times in prior financial periods. These revaluation increments and decrements have overall increased the carrying value of the assets and accordingly the depreciation charges have been increased above those which would be required on an historical cost basis. Where assets have been devalued below cost, these write-downs have been taken to profit and loss. In prior years bonus shares (stock dividends) were issued out of the asset revaluation reserve. US GAAP adjustments eliminate the effects of these items.

The consolidated entity has applied revised AASB 1041 Revaluation of Non-current Assets and, in accordance with the standard, has elected to apply the cost basis for non-current assets. In respect of land, land improvements and buildings, the consolidated entity has deemed the cost of these assets to be equal to their carrying values as at July 1, 2000. As a consequence of making this election on the adoption of AASB 1041, the balance of the asset revaluation reserve at July 1, 2000 relating to land, land improvements and buildings is no longer available for asset write-downs.

The above election also causes differences in reported gains and losses on the sale of property, plant and equipment. Gains and losses for Australian GAAP are based on consideration less revalued amounts net of accumulated depreciation. For US GAAP purposes, gains and losses are determined having regard to depreciated historical cost.

Sale and leaseback where substantially all of the use of the property was retained

Certain properties were sold during the year ended June 30, 2002 and leased back under an operating lease agreement for Australian GAAP purposes. For US GAAP purposes, this transaction did not qualify for sale and leaseback accounting as the sales agreement contained a repurchase option, and other forms of continuing involvement. Accordingly, the transaction was recorded as a secured borrowing and the properties recorded as an asset, with a corresponding obligation recorded for the proceeds received. For the current financial year, payments made under the relevant agreements have been apportioned between interest expense and the loan liability.

Sale and leaseback transactions where less than substantially all of the use of the property was retained

Certain properties were sold during the year ended June 30, 2004 and leased back under an operating lease agreement for Australian GAAP purposes. All of the profit was recognised at the date of sale. For US GAAP purposes, however, as more than a minor part but less than substantially all of the use of the property was retained, profit in excess of the present value of the minimum lease payments has been recognised at the date of sale, while the balance has been deferred and will be amortised over the life of lease against the future operating lease payments.

The table below outlines the impact on net profit, assets and shareholders equity of the above adjustments.

(b) Provisions

The following items represent differences in accounting for provisions between Australian and US GAAP. The consolidated entity adopted the requirements of AASB 1044 Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets for the first time on July 1, 2002.

Employee provisions

The term provisions is used in Australian GAAP to designate accrued expenses with no definitive payment date. This can include such items as employee leave entitlements not yet taken. Classification between current and non-current is generally based on management assessments. For

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

US GAAP purposes, certain post-employment benefits had been brought to account in 2001, which were brought to account in 2002 for Australian GAAP purposes.

During the year ended June 30, 2003, the consolidated entity increased the provision for wages, salaries, annual leave and sick leave to reflect the remuneration rates the consolidated entity expects to pay. This requirement is fundamentally consistent with US GAAP. However, pursuant to the transitional requirements of AASB 1028 Employee Entitlements, the increase in the provision as at July 1, 2002 was recorded against opening retained earnings. For US GAAP purposes, this increase in the provision was recorded against net income.

F - 90

Onerous contracts

Under Australian GAAP, in accordance with the adoption of AASB 1044 Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets, a provision for onerous contracts is recognized when the unavoidable costs of meeting the consolidated entity's obligation under these contracts exceeds the economic benefits expected to be received. Under US GAAP, this represents future operating losses and therefore the provision is reversed and contract revenues and expenses are booked in subsequent periods as sales are made under the contract. Under the transitional arrangements of AASB 1044, a provision for onerous contracts was recorded against opening retained earnings in the year ended June 30, 2003. This provision has been reversed for US GAAP purposes and any subsequent utilization of this Australian GAAP provision is charged to net income for US GAAP purposes.

The table below outlines the impact on net profit, assets and shareholders' equity of the above adjustments.

	Years Ended June 30 (in millions of A$)			Shareholders' Equity
	2004	Net Profit 2003	2002	2004	2003

Total Provisions adjustments	3.2	(8.1)	4.7	17.4	14.2

(c) Pension Plans

Under Australian GAAP the contributions to the various pension plans are recorded as an expense in the income statement. Under US GAAP an adjustment is made to recognize the measurement principles of SFAS 87 in determining net income and shareholders' equity (refer Note 26).

The consolidated entity is not a party to any material agreements with its employees in respect of post retirement or other compensation benefits (other than pension plans) except for those amounts which are provided for in the financial statements in accordance with various statutory entitlements.

As a result of the acquisition of AFE A/S and Schmalbach-Lubeca, certain liabilities for accrued benefit costs have been recorded for US GAAP purposes, with a corresponding adjustment to goodwill.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

The table below outlines the impact on net profit, assets and shareholders' equity of the above adjustments.

	2004	Net Profit 2003	Years Ended June 30 (in millions of A$)		Shareholders 2004	Equity 2003

(d) Start-Up Costs

Under US GAAP certain start-up costs which relate to one-time activities involving the set up of new facilities, products or conducting a new business, must be expensed as incurred under Statement of Position 98-5 `Reporting on the Costs of Start-Up Activities . Under Australian GAAP such start-up costs are permitted to be capitalized, and amortized over the life of the asset.

Included in start up costs in 2002 were $7.0 million of pre-acquisition costs related to the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca, which were able to be capitalised under Australian GAAP but expensed for US GAAP. In 2003 this adjustment continued to be reflected as part of the start-up costs adjustment with a corresponding adjustment to property, plant and equipment. In 2004, however as these pre-acquisition costs form part of the goodwill on the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca, the adjustment has now been reflected as part of goodwill.

The impact of the above accounting difference on net profit, assets and shareholders equity is as follows:

	Years Ended June 30 (in millions of A$)						Shareholders 2004	Equity 2003
	2004	Net Profit 2003	2002	Assets 2004	2003	Assets 2003
Start up cost adjustments	0.4	(0.4)	(9.2)	(14.0)	(21.4)	(14.0)	(21.4)

(e) Goodwill

Amortisation of goodwill

For Australian GAAP purposes, prior to 1989, goodwill was written off in the year of acquisition. For US GAAP purposes this goodwill has been reinstated.

Subsequent to 1989 acquired goodwill is amortized in equal instalments over a maximum of 20 years for Australian GAAP purposes refer Note 1(18). While for US GAAP purposes, up until July 1, 2002, certain goodwill with an expected life greater than 20 years was permitted to be amortized in equal instalments over a maximum of 40 years. Effective July 1, 2002, the consolidated entity adopted the requirements of SFAS 142 Goodwill and Intangible Assets for US GAAP purposes. In accordance with the requirements of this standard, amortisation of goodwill ceased, and instead the carrying value of goodwill is tested annually for potential impairments.

Pre-acquisition costs

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Included in start up costs in 2002 were $7.0 million of pre-acquisition costs related to the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca, which were able to be capitalised under Australian GAAP but expensed for US GAAP. In 2003 this adjustment continued to be reflected as part of the start-up costs adjustment with a corresponding adjustment to property, plant and equipment. In 2004, however as these pre-acquisition costs form part of the goodwill on the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca, the adjustment has now been reflected as part of goodwill.

	Years Ended June 30 (in millions of A$)
	2004	Net profit 2003	2002	2004
Adjustment for Schmalbach pre-acquisition costs				(7.0)		(7.0)

In accordance with the transitional requirements of SFAS 142, the following table includes the proforma disclosure of net income and earnings per share, adjusted to exclude the amortization of goodwill for the year ended June 30, 2002:

(f) Provision for Dividend

Prior to July 1, 2002 dividends declared after balance date, but prior to the approval of the financial statements, were recorded as liabilities under Australian GAAP. Under US GAAP, provisions for dividends are only recognized if they are declared prior to balance date.

On July 1, 2002, the consolidated entity adopted the requirements of AASB 1044 Provisions, Contingent Assets and Contingent Liabilities and as a result, Australian GAAP is now consistent with US GAAP.

(g) Employee Share/Option Schemes

Under Australian GAAP compensation expense is recognized in relation to the fair value of shares issued in lieu of bonuses and for all share schemes settled by way of cash payment. However, compensation is not recognized in relation to other schemes, the details of which are described in Note 19.

To recognize compensation expense in accordance with US GAAP, the consolidated entity has prospectively applied, effective July 1, 2002, the recognition and disclosure requirements of SFAS 123 Accounting for Stock Compensation, as required by SFAS 148 Accounting for Stock Based Compensation Transition and Disclosure. Accordingly, compensation expense for all options issued in the current financial year is calculated in accordance with the fair value requirements of SFAS 123 using a Black-Scholes option pricing model. Where options have been issued subject to performance hurdle terms and conditions being satisfied, the compensation expense has been adjusted to reflect the likelihood of hurdle conditions being met. The current period compensation expense associated with options issued in financial years prior to July 1, 2002 is calculated in accordance with the intrinsic value requirements of APB Opinion No.25 and related interpretations.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

Prior to July 1, 2002, the consolidated entity recognized compensation expense for all issued options in accordance with APB Opinion No.25. Based on the requirements of SFAS 148, comparative information has not been restated.

Due to the transitional provisions in SFAS 148, the effect of applying SFAS 123 on US GAAP income in the current period is not representative of the expected effect on net income in future years. Had compensation expense been determined in accordance with the fair value provisions in SFAS 123, the consolidated entity's net income and earnings per share would have been compared to the pro forma amounts indicated below:

		For Years Ended June 30 (in millions of A$, except for per share date)
		2004	2003	2002
Compensation Expense	As reported	18.0	31.1	18.3

	Pro forma	$ 0.43	$ 0.43	$ 1.11

Costs of Maintenance of Employee Share Schemes and Loans

The costs incurred in maintaining these employee share schemes are charged as a compensation expense for US GAAP reporting purposes. Under Australian GAAP, these costs are offset against shareholders' equity.

The impact of the above GAAP differences on net profit, assets and shareholders' equity is presented in the table below.

Classification of Employee Loans Granted to Fund ESPP Issues

Under Australian GAAP, employee loans are classified as non current receivables. For US GAAP purposes, the loans are off set against shareholders' equity. The impact of this adjustment is reflected in the table below.

	Years Ended June 30 (in millions of A$)			Assets		Shareholders	Equity

(h) Research and Development

Under Australian GAAP, research and development expenditure that is considered to have a demonstrable future economic benefit and commercial value is capitalized and amortized over the period of time during which the benefits are expected to arise. Under US GAAP, research and development costs are generally charged as expenses as incurred, in accordance with SFAS 2 Accounting for Research and Development Costs .

The impact of the above accounting policy difference on net profit, assets and shareholders equity is as follows:

	2004	Net Profit 2003	Years Ended June 30 (in millions of A$)		Shareholders 2004	Equity 2003
			2002	Assets 2004			2003
Capitalized research and development expenditure disallowed	(1.4)	(5.5)		(6.9)	(5.5)	(6.9)	(5.5)

(i) Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities

The nature of the consolidated entity's business activities involves the management of various financial and market risks, including those related to currency exchange rates, interest rates and commodity prices. The consolidated entity uses derivative financial instruments to mitigate or eliminate certain of those risks.

Under Australian GAAP, derivative financial instruments may have hedge accounting treatment applied if the hedging derivatives are effective in reducing the exposure being hedged and are designated as a hedge at the inception of the contract. Hedging derivatives are accounted for in a manner consistent with the accounting treatment of the hedged items.

Effective from July 1, 2000, the consolidated entity adopted the requirements of SFAS 133 Accounting for Derivatives and Hedging Activities for US GAAP reconciliation purposes only.

SFAS 133, as amended, standardizes the accounting for derivative instruments and hedging activities and requires that derivative instruments be recognized as assets and liabilities in the balance sheet at their fair values. If certain conditions are met, hedge accounting may be applied and the derivative instruments may be designated as: (a) a hedge of the exposure to changes in the fair value of a recognized asset, liability or an unrecognized firm commitment (fair value hedge); (b) a hedge of the exposure to variability of cash flows of a recognized asset, liability or forecasted transaction (cash flow hedge); or (c) a hedge of certain foreign currency exposures.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

In the case of a qualifying fair value hedge, changes in the value of the derivative instruments that have been deemed to be effective are recognized in current earnings along with changes in the fair value of the designated hedged item. In the case of a qualifying cash flow hedge, changes in the value of the derivative instruments that have been effective are recognized in other comprehensive income, until such time that earnings are affected by the cash flows of the underlying hedged item. In either a fair value hedge or a cash flow hedge, net earnings are impacted to the extent the changes in the value of the derivative instruments do not offset the changes in the value of the hedged items (ineffectiveness).

Derivative instruments that are non-designated or do not meet the relevant hedge accounting criteria are accounted for at fair value with gains and losses recorded in current earnings.

The hedge designation requirements under SFAS 133 vary in certain respects from Australian GAAP and as a result, the consolidated entity has not met the relevant requirements under US GAAP for cash flow and fair value hedges to qualify for hedge accounting criteria under US GAAP. Accordingly, under US GAAP, all cash flow and fair value hedges are accounted for at fair value with gains and losses recorded in current earnings.

The impact of the accounting for risk management activities pursuant to SFAS 133 is expected to create a level of ongoing volatility in reported financial results reconciled to US GAAP.

Edgar Filing: AMCOR LTD - Form 20-F

In 2002, the consolidated entity purchased a foreign currency hedge to fund the acquisition of Schmalbach-Lubeca. Upon settling the hedge, the consolidated entity realized a gain. For Australian GAAP purposes, as this was designated as a specific hedge, the gain was applied to the purchase consideration and resulted in the recognition of goodwill on the acquisition at the lower, hedged foreign exchange rate.

However, as noted above, for US GAAP reporting purposes the consolidated entity does not satisfy the relevant hedge accounting criteria. Therefore the purchase consideration for the Schmalbach-Lubeca acquisition was valued at the relevant market rate, and the gain on the hedge was recognised in net income.

The table below outlines the impact on net profit, assets and shareholders' equity of the above adjustments.

(j) Grant Income

For Australian GAAP purposes, funds from grants have been recognized as income upon receipt. Under US GAAP, these funds are deferred and matched against costs on a systematic basis. The impact of this accounting policy difference on net profit, assets and shareholders' equity is as follows:

	Years ended June 30 (in millions of A$)					Shareholders 2004	Equity 2003
	2004	Net Profit 2003	2002	Assets 2004	2003
Grant income deferred and amortized	(4.3)	(5.3)	(2.2)			(22.1)	(17.8)

(k) Business Combinations

The following relates to the Amcor Flexibles Europe (AFE) A/S transaction which occurred on June 29, 2001, whereby the European Flexible operations merged with Danisco Flexible and Akerland & Rausing:

Gain on Sale of Assets Adjustment

US GAAP required the AFE A/S transaction to be recorded under APB Opinion No. 16 - Business Combinations as a partial sale of Amcor Flexibles Europe and a partial acquisition of the Danisco Flexibles and Akerlund & Rausing businesses. For US GAAP purposes, the portion of Amcor Flexibles Europe retained by the consolidated entity remains recorded at its historical cost and the portions of Danisco Flexibles and Akerlund & Rausing purchased by the consolidated entity are recorded at their respective fair values. A gain was recognized on the portion of Amcor Flexibles Europe sold for US GAAP purposes (with a corresponding adjustment to goodwill).

Restructuring Provision Adjustments

US GAAP required the AFE A/S transaction to be recorded under APB No.16 as a partial sale of AFE and a partial acquisition of the Danisco Flexibles and Ackerlund and Rausing businesses. Accordingly, only 67% of the restructuring provision related to the acquired businesses is recorded for US GAAP purposes (with a corresponding adjustment to goodwill). The remaining portion of the restructuring provision has been expensed as incurred under US GAAP.

During the year ended June 30, 2004, the remaining portion of the provision for restructuring the operations of AFE A/S was utilised. This provision was recorded as a liability upon the acquisition of this business for Australian GAAP. The restructuring activities involved various plant closures, plant rationalizations and reductions in employee numbers. While the US GAAP criteria for accruing costs associated with business restructurings are fundamentally consistent with those of Australian GAAP, it contains very specific qualifying criteria, and where these criteria were not satisfied an adjustment to the restructuring provision was recorded.

Other Fair Value Adjustments

As noted above, for US GAAP purposes, the AFE A/S acquisition is recorded under APB No.16 as a partial sale of AFE and a partial acquisition of the Danisco Flexibles and Ackerlund and Rausing businesses. Accordingly, only 67% of the fair value adjustments relating to the acquired businesses have been recorded for US GAAP purposes (with a corresponding adjustment to goodwill).

The following amounts relate to the July 1, 2003 AFE transaction, whereby the remaining minority interest shareholding was acquired for $165.1 million:

Minority Interest Acquisition

As noted above under Restructuring provision adjustments and Other fair value adjustments, a portion of these items established for Australian GAAP against goodwill were disallowed for US GAAP. Through expensing these items, a cumulative $19.6 million of expenses were attributed to minority interest from the time of the initial acquisition on June 29, 2001 through to the acquisition of the minority interest on July 1, 2003. Consequently the goodwill arising under US GAAP on the acquisition of the minority interest was $19.6 million higher than under Australian GAAP.

The table below outlines the impact on net profit, assets and shareholders equity of the above adjustments.

(l) Perpetual Non-cumulative Subordinated Convertible Reset Unsecured Notes (PACRS)

The PACRS are classified as equity for Australian GAAP purposes. These instruments are classified as debt for US GAAP purposes. In addition, for US GAAP, the PACRS are considered to have beneficial conversion features, as PACRS holders are able to convert the PACRS into Amcor Limited shares at a discount to the market value of Amcor Limited shares. Therefore, the beneficial conversion features have been recorded by allocating a portion of the proceeds equal to their intrinsic value to additional paid-in capital (equity). The debt discount resulting from this allocation of proceeds to the beneficial conversion features is recognized as interest expense over the minimum period from the date of issuance to the earliest conversion date. PACRS distributions are treated as interest expense for US GAAP purposes. Transaction costs associated with the PACRS have been offset against equity for Australian GAAP purposes. These transaction costs are deferred and amortized over the period from the date of issuance to the first reset date for US GAAP purposes.

The table below outlines the impact on net profit, assets and shareholders' equity of the above adjustments.

(m) Income Taxes

The consolidated entity applies SFAS 109 "Accounting for Income Taxes" in preparing its US GAAP information. Accounting for income taxes under Australian GAAP is under the liability method, and is consistent in all major respects to SFAS 109.

The amount and expiration dates for tax losses relating to the portion of the deferred tax asset that is not likely to be realized based on management's assessment of future taxable income at June 30, 2004 are as follows:

In assessing the realizability of deferred tax assets for US GAAP, management considers whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets will only be obtainable if:

the entities derive future assessable income of a nature and amount sufficient to enable the benefit of the deductions to be realized; the entities continue to comply with the conditions for deductibility imposed by income tax law; and changes in income tax legislation do not adversely affect the ability of the entities to realize the benefits of the deductions.

Management considers the scheduled reversal of deferred tax liabilities, projected future taxable income, and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. A valuation allowance is provided against the deferred tax asset for the portion of that asset that is not likely to be realized based on management's assessment of future taxable income. During the year there was a decrease in the valuation allowance of $30.7 million (2003 increase $223.8 million). As at June 30, 2004, a valuation allowance of $202.1 million (2003 $232.8 million) has been provided against deferred tax assets. This valuation allowance relates to carried forward tax losses.

The consolidated entity acquired $78.0 million in carried forward tax losses as part of the acquisition of the Schmalbach-Lubeca business. A valuation allowance was provided against the full value of these deferred tax assets, based on management's assessment that it was more likely than not that these benefits would not be realized. If any of these deferred tax assets are subsequently realized, they will result in a corresponding adjustment to goodwill. During the year, $14.1 million of these carried forward tax losses were realized. For Australian GAAP purposes, the recognition of these utilised losses as a deferred tax asset was included as part of the current year income tax expense. For US GAAP purposes however, the movement in the valuation allowance relating to the realization of these tax losses has resulted in a corresponding adjustment to goodwill. The remaining carried forward tax losses related to the acquisition of the Schmalbach-Lubeca business at June 30, 2004 are $63.9 million. A valuation allowance continues to be provided against the full value of these deferred tax assets, based on management's assessment that it is more likely than not that these remaining benefits will not be realized.

The consolidated entity has not recognized a deferred tax liability for the undistributed earnings of its foreign subsidiaries that arose in 2004 and prior years because the consolidated entity currently does not expect those unremitted earnings to reverse and become taxable in the foreseeable future. A deferred tax liability will be recognized when the consolidated entity is no longer able to demonstrate that it plans to permanently reinvest the undistributed earnings. The determination of the unrecognized deferred tax liability is not practicable.

(n) Earnings Per Share

The consolidated entity adopted the revised AASB 1027 Earnings Per Share on July 1, 2002. The requirements of this Australian Accounting Standard are fundamentally consistent with US GAAP requirements detailed in SFAS 128 Earnings Per Share . However, earnings per share results will differ between Australian and US GAAP due to the impact of different Australian and US accounting policies on items effecting net income. In addition to this, the US GAAP accounting treatment for the PACRS results in a beneficial conversion feature which impacts the earnings per share reported under US GAAP. For Australian accounting purposes, there is no such requirement.

(o) Non-Recourse Receivables Securitization Program

As described in Note 30, the consolidated entity utilizes an uncommitted, multi-currency receivables securitization program in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Spain and the USA. The trade receivables of some of the consolidated entity's businesses in these jurisdictions are sold, on a non-recourse basis, into an independent securitization conduit, which issues asset-backed commercial paper into organized markets. The aggregate amount of discount on the sale of receivables under this program, which is included in the income statement, is $5.7 million (2003 A$4.6 million).

Under Australian GAAP these receivables are treated as sold, and therefore taken off-balance sheet, as the risks and rewards associated with the receivables are deemed to have transferred to the entity purchasing the receivables, in whom the consolidated entity has no equity or other interest. This assessment is made based on the substance of the transaction, as there is no specific Australian GAAP guidance on this issue.

For US GAAP purposes, the sale of these receivables is reversed, as the sale has not been made to a substantive third party. As a result, the receivables are re-instated and the cash received for the sale of $197.9 million (2003 $190.5 million) is treated as a secured borrowing.

(p) Unrealised Gains on Available for Sale Investments

Under Australian GAAP, investments in listed and unlisted securities are recorded at cost, less provision for permanent diminutions in value. Under US GAAP, listed investments categorized as available for sale in accordance with FAS 115, Accounting for certain investments in debt and equity securities , are valued at their market value at year end, with any adjustments being taken through Other Comprehensive Income (OCI).

(q) Differences in Application of GAAP on Deferred Taxes

This adjustment reflects the following items:

Acquired tax losses

The consolidated entity acquired $78.0 million in carried forward tax losses as part of the acquisition of the Schmalbach-Lubeca business. A valuation allowance was provided against the full value of these deferred tax assets, based on management's assessment that it was more likely than not that these benefits would not be realized. If any of these deferred tax assets are subsequently realized, they will result in a corresponding adjustment to goodwill. During the year, $14.1 million of these carried forward tax losses were realized. For Australian GAAP purposes, the recognition of these utilised losses as a deferred tax asset was included as part of the current year income tax expense. For US GAAP purposes however, the movement in the valuation allowance relating to the realization of these tax losses has resulted in a corresponding adjustment to goodwill. The remaining carried forward tax losses related to the acquisition of the Schmalbach-Lubeca business at June 30, 2004 are $63.9 million. A valuation allowance continues to be provided against the full value of these deferred tax assets, based on management's assessment that it is more likely than not that these remaining benefits will not be realized.

Business combination deferred taxes

The impact of the GAAP differences on deferred taxes associated with the adjustments set out in Note 33 (k) Business Combinations .
