Improved Investment Results as of March 31, 2006

Performance data quoted in this presentation represent past performance and does not guarantee or indicate future investment results. The rates of return will vary and the principal value of an investment will fluctuate. Shares, if sold, may be worth more or less than their original costs. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. Total returns of the Corporation as of the most recent month end will be made available at www.seligman.com by the seventh business day following that month end. J. & W. Seligman & Co. Incorporated, the investment manager of the Corporation, made certain payments to the Corporation in 2004. Absent such payments, the net asset value returns that include this period would have been lower. Returns reflect changes in market price or net asset value, as applicable and assume reinvestment of distributions. Performance data quoted does not reflect the deduction of taxes that investors may pay on distributions or the sale of shares.

Dissidents Actual Objective

Open-End the Fund,

Liquidate the Fund, or

Conduct Massive Tender Offers

Tri-Continental
Cumulative Voting

With Tri-Continental's majority election threshold, cumulative voting has the potential to impede election of directors

Cumulative voting allows the election of Directors who have support from only a relatively small special interest group

Stockholders have voted against cumulative voting on two prior occasions (most recently in 2004)

Tri-Continental
A Closed-End Fund

Stockholders have voted to keep the Fund's closed-end structure on nine prior occasions (most recently in 1999)

Successfully operated as closed-end fund since 1929

Closed-end fund structure is fundamental to meeting the Fund's investment objective

Closed-end fund structure is necessary to maintain the Fund's low expense ratio

Tri-Continental
A Closed-End Fund

The closed-end structure allows Jack Cunningham and his Team to focus solely on investing for the long-term benefit of stockholders.

Portfolio Manager is not impeded by:

Continuous purchases or redemptions of shares and related cash flows

Maintenance of cash reserves

Forced realization for capital gains and losses

Loss of ability to use leverage

Forced redemption of Preferred Stock and Warrants

Potential for increased expenses

Addition of 12b-1 fees

Increased transfer agency fees

Increased custodian fees

Tri-Continental
Consequences of Dissident's Success

Three unqualified board members with a self-serving agenda

Cumulative voting and the potential for more special interest candidates

Altering Tri-Continental's closed-end structure to the detriment of long-term stockholders (higher expenses, additional fees, and lower yields)

Tri-Continental
Board's Recommendations

FOR election of General John R. Galvin,

Mr. William C. Morris and
