This may be your final opportunity to accept or reject MONY's merger proposal with AXA Financial, Inc., which was amended recently to provide you with additional value.

If the merger is completed, you will receive $31.33-$31.35 per share for each of your MONY shares ($31.00 per share in cash from AXA Financial, plus approximately $0.33 to $0.35 in dividends from MONY).

VOTE FOR THE PROPOSED MERGER

- Research analysts continue to support the transaction. Well-respected equity research analysts have stated that MONY's stock price may decline if the merger is not approved. One highly respected analyst, Vanessa Wilson of Deutsche Bank, said recently that AXA Financial's proposal is a fair price for the MONY Group franchise and is in line with recent transactions in the life insurance industry. Moreover, she notes that MONY's stock price could fall significantly if there is no transaction with AXA Financial.
- While a handful of dissident stockholders, including a hedge fund called Highfields Capital Management, have told you to vote No and thereby accept uncertainty and downside risk, what Highfields did not tell you is that it had entered into trades that would result in profits for Highfields if the AXA Financial-MONY merger is not completed. Despite its vigorous public opposition to the AXA Financial-MONY transaction, Highfields chose not to tell you important information regarding certain of its economic interests in opposing the transaction until it was forced to do so in recent court proceedings where it was revealed that Highfields had a $25-$30 million short position (as of 2/17/04) in the convertible bonds (ORANs) that AXA issued to finance the MONY transaction. Because of the terms of the ORANs, Highfields would profit from its short position while MONY stockholders would receive nothing in the event the AXA Financial-MONY merger is not completed. As you consider how to vote, ask yourself if your interests are the same as Highfields.
- MONY's already-low ratings are likely to drop further if there is no AXA Financial-MONY deal. Rating agencies have continued to suggest that a No vote could result in a downgrade of MONY. Standard & Poor's has already downgraded MONY and said on February 19, 2004 that MONY's ratings are likely to be lowered by an additional one or two notches if there is no transaction with AXA Financial. A two-notch downgrade by S&P would give MONY a junk-bond debt rating. Moreover, a one- or two-notch downgrade in MONY's insurance company ratings could have negative implications for its ability to retain customers and producers.

- No other bidders have emerged for MONY despite ample opportunity to do so. Other bidders have had seven months to come forward with a better offer. None has.
 - The dissenters have made no progress in providing concrete alternatives to the merger. Again, after seven months, the dissidents have yet to offer any alternative to the AXA Financial-MONY transaction of greater value to you.
 - If you are a MONY policyholder, the merger and cash payment to you for your stock will not affect your insurance policy and is likely to result in an upgrade of MONY's financial strength ratings.
 - The Board of Directors of MONY has unanimously reaffirmed its conclusion that the proposed merger with AXA Financial is the best way to maximize the value of your investment in MONY and recommends that you vote FOR the cash merger today.
