Summary of Key Arguments

Agrium is serious about acquiring CF and CF refuses to engage

Several overtures made privately and publicly, each summarily rebuffed

Significant costs incurred

Willing to sign fully financed and binding merger agreement immediately

CF board is precluding CF stockholders from determining outcome

Preferred stock in CF's bid for Terra eliminates CF's stockholder vote

Core stockholders have sold at prices below Agrium's offer

Agrium's offer represents full and fair value

CF is trading above the sum-of-the-parts assessment and at a significant discount to Agrium's offer

Significant premium over all metrics

Forward-looking multiple in line with precedents, 27% higher multiple than what CF is offering for Terra

Absent engagement from CF and demonstration of additional value, this is Agrium's best and final offer

CF board should exercise good corporate governance by removing impediments caused by its poison pill and Section 203 of the Delaware Corporate law thereby allowing its stockholders to independently assess Agrium's offer

Agrium has extended its offer to June 22, 2009

If a compelling majority of shares are tendered, Agrium will continue to pressure CF board

compelling majority of shares are not tendered, Agrium will the transaction

Fundamentals of Growth

10

Three recent private approaches made to CF, each rebuffed

Agrium advisors contacted CF's advisors on May 7th to move forward on a friendly basis: response received that it didn't make sense to meet

Agrium CEO contacted CF CEO on May 8th to discuss meeting to review a substantially higher proposal: CF unwilling to meet and did not ask us what price we were considering

Agrium letter sent to CF board on May 26th: response received May 29 indicating no basis for meeting

Significant costs incurred

Bank commitment fees and legal/advisor fees

Extensive management time and resources

Moving ahead to secure regulatory approvals

Unilaterally raised price twice to bring CF to the negotiating table

Willing to meet anywhere, anytime

Willing to sign merger agreement immediately

Agrium is Serious About Acquiring CF

Fundamentals of Growth

11

CF Board Is Precluding CF Stockholders
From Determining Outcome

CF currently has in place an extensive list of anti-takeover defenses which are counter to RiskMetrics guidelines

Poison pill

Classified board of directors

Stockholders unable to call a special meeting

No stockholder action by written consent

CF's poison pill and Section 203 preclude CF stockholders from acting freely and determining outcome

CF is confident it is acting in its stockholders best interests,
it should remove
poison pill
and exempt Agrium from the restrictions of Section 203, thus giving CF stockholders the opportunity to choose between CF's position and Agrium's offer

Preferred stock in CF's bid for Terra prevents CF stockholders from voting on the merits of the CF / Terra deal

believe stockholders prefer to receive
premium than pay
premium

stockholders
not being given the opportunity to vote under CF's current construct

Preferred stock is an end-run around the rights of CF stockholders

CF stockholders will experience significant dilution if the Terra deal proceeds

Fundamentals of Growth

12

CF Board Should Come to the Table

Agrium wants to engage and is willing to listen

We acknowledge CF's operational capabilities and achievements

Current proposal is the best price based on what Agrium knows

We welcome the opportunity to engage and debate directly on value if CF provides new insight or information

Agrium's efforts are sincere and real

We are a fully financed credible buyer and are ready to execute immediately a binding merger agreement

Core CF stockholders have expressed their viewpoints by selling CF shares well below Agrium's offer price

Significant turnover in positions held by long-term CF stockholders indicates stockholders don't believe their wishes will be heard

CF stockholders should send a clear message to the CF board by tendering to Agrium's offer

Agrium will listen to the tender: if a compelling majority tender their shares, Agrium will continue to press CF to engage

CF board should respect the results as well and engage with us if a compelling majority tender their shares

Analyst Commentary

Compared to other nitrogen producers such as Yara, CF's stock price has appreciated largely as a result of Agrium's bid rather than an improvement in the underlying fundamentals of the nitrogen/phosphate fertilizer industry. it would be prudent for investors to consider taking some profits.

BMO (May 7, 2009)

If Agrium's bid for CF were withdrawn, it would weigh on [CF's] share price. We raised our year-end 2009 price target for CF from $50.00 to $70.00, consistent with current $70 share price. Current share price reflects a discount to the roughly $75 bid by Agrium for CF shares.

JPMorgan (April 28, 2009)

Our $72 price target is mainly based upon the value of Agrium's current bid for CF. This compares with a $63 valuation based upon our sum-of-parts analysis, 4.5x and 6.0x EBITDA for their nitrogen and phosphate businesses, respectively.

UBS (April 24, 2009)

We view Agrium as the company best positioned to take advantage of secular, sustainable growth across the entire value chain

CF's Estimation of Unaffected Stock Price

Analysis presented by CF in recent presentations presumes that CF's unaffected stock price should reflect the full amount of the sector move since February 24

Agrium believes the entire sector has been influenced by the echo impact of multiple M&A bids and rumors

Analysis presented by CF in recent presentations also presumes the value of its net cash would appreciate in line with peer equity values

Agrium disagrees, as the $16.64 per share of net cash in the business does not vary with stock price movements

One can think of it as reverse leverage : absent any M&A noise CF's stock price should not move as much as the sector over a period when 35% of its beginning stock price value is fixed cash

CF's arbitrary selection of the February 24 start date even allowing for CF's methodology, which Agrium disputes provides CF with the highest unaffected price of any starting calculation date this year

25

CF's Estimation of Unaffected Stock

Price Uses a Biased Start Date

Using reference dates from December 31, 2008 to February 24, 2009, 53% of results from Agrium's methodology point to an unaffected price in the $62.50 to $67.50 range

Using CF's methodology which Agrium disputes

58% of results point to an unaffected price in the $72.50 to $77.50 range

CF net cash on Balance Sheet as of Dec 31 was $12.38 per fully diluted share. CF's net cash on Balance Sheet as of Mar 31 was $16.64 per fully diluted share.

CF had $12.38 per share in net cash on hand at December 31, and a further $4.79 invested in working capital versus average levels

For simplicity our illustrative analysis assumes the market gave credit for most of the working capital and could therefore predict the $16.64 of net cash (2)

This cash is worth no more today than it was in January

The peer group price increase of 59% since January 15th is representative of an increase in the market's perception of the value of fertilizer operating assets

Gives full credit to peer group increase, which is partially attributable to speculation over sector consolidation

Growing CF's operating asset value per share by 59% and adding back net cash per share results in an implied unaffected CF stock price of $65.15

Share Highlights Magnitude of Agrium Premium

Source: Bloomberg; market data as of May 29

Agrium is largely indifferent to acquiring a levered or unlevered CF

Assumes no incremental transaction friction costs

Should CF decide to raise debt and payout $40/share special dividend, we would expect CF stock price to decrease by $40/share

Decreasing CF's unaffected share price and Agrium's offer by $40 cash per share implies a hypothetical offer of one Agrium share at $49.22 for one cash-adjusted CF share at $25.15, a premium of nearly 100%

Precedent Nitrogen Transaction Multiples

Valuation multiples vary widely due to volatile natural gas prices relative to nitrogen fertilizer prices

Acquisitions are based on forward margin expectations, not trailing margins

LTM trading multiples are at recent lows due to record nitrogen sector margins in 2008

Many precedent transactions occurred in a rising nitrogen price environment

In contrast, current forecasts indicate a narrowing spread between urea and natural gas, with nitrogen margin compression the likely result

Summary of Key Arguments

Several overtures made privately and publicly, each summarily rebuffed

Willing to sign fully financed and binding merger agreement immediately

Forward-looking multiple in line with precedents, 27% higher multiple than what CF is offering for Terra

CF board should exercise good corporate governance by removing impediments caused by its poison pill and Section 203 of the Delaware Corporate law thereby allowing its stockholders to independently assess Agrium's offer

Agrium has extended its offer to June 22, 2009

If a compelling majority of shares are tendered, Agrium will continue to pressure CF board
