(“CTI”), has expertise in information technology consulting, mobile robotics, and affordable collaboration. Through our subsidiary, CoroWare delivers custom engineering services, hardware and software products, and subscription services that benefit customers in North America, Europe, Australia, Asia and the Middle East. Our customers span multiple industry sectors and comprise universities, large enterprises and small businesses, software and hardware product development companies, and non-profit organizations.

Employees

As of December 31, 2013, we had eighteen (18) employees composed of one (1) full-time Officer and CEO, one (1) full-time Director of Sales, one (1) full-time Finance Administrator, two (2) full-time Business Unit Managers, eleven (11) full-time engineers, and two (2) part-time engineers. Our employees are not represented by a union. We consider relations with our employees to be positive and productive.

COROWARE TECHNOLOGIES, INC.

CTI is a software professional services company with a strong focus on information technology integration and robotics integration, business automation solutions, and unmanned systems solutions to its customers in North America and Europe.

CTI’s expertise includes the deployment and integration of computing platforms and applications, as well as the development of unmanned vehicle software and solutions for customers in the research, commercial, and homeland security market segments. CTI shall continue to offer its high value software systems development and integration services that complement the growing trend in outsourced software development services in Asia, Latin America, and Eastern Europe.

CoroWare Technologies comprises three separately managed lines of business:

CoroWare Business Solutions: IT and lab management; business intelligence; software architecture, design and development; content delivery; partner and program management.

Robotics and Automation: Custom engineering such as visualization, simulation and software development; and mobile robot platforms.

Enhanced Collaboration Solution: Collaboration and conferencing products, solutions and subscription services.

The Company’s revenues are principally derived from standing contracts that include Microsoft (partner management and IT professional services), a European auto manufacturer (simulation software custom development), and other customers whose product development groups require custom software development and consulting companies. Existing contract revenues vary month by month based on the demands of the clients. The Company’s collaboration effort is in the early stages of growth and will require additional working capital to compete effectively against new entrants in this rapidly growing market.

CoroWare Business Solutions

CoroWare Business Solutions (CBS) offers products, solutions, and IT consulting services that help our customers deliver high quality products, solutions and services.

Products and Solutions

In 2010, we announced two new products for the cloud service providers and enterprise customers:

CoroWare Usage Reporter for Vidyo, a software package that provides usage statistics for Vidyo brand high-definition video conferencing systems.

Billing Integration Framework™ for MetraTech and Vidyo, a software solution that integrates dynamic usage- and subscription-based billing from MetraTech Corp and high definition videoconferencing systems from Vidyo.

In early 2012, we announced CoroWare License Manager™, a software license management solution that offers Cloud Service Providers and on-premises software publishers the ability to remotely enable, monitor, and configure cloud-based applications using a centralized management server.

In 2012, we announced Billing Integration Framework for Accumulus and Vidyo, a software solution that integrates flexible billing from Accumulus Corp with the call detail records from Vidyo to create more flexible video conferencing subscription services.

Business Intelligence

Our CTI's solutions development group has created a variety of business intelligence applications to enable our customers to better understand and manage the data surrounding their own products and business services.

Release Management

Our program managers are experts in Microsoft's product and solution development tools and processes. CTI uses that experience to create product specifications, develop project plans, and perform security and release management audits – with the objective of helping Microsoft deliver its solutions and products efficiently, affordably and on schedule.

Lab Management

CTI's team of experienced hardware and software deployment engineers architect, deploy and support state-of-the-art computer lab facilities that include the latest builds of operating systems, developer tools, and servers. CTI employees currently provide lab management and systems engineering support services in three Microsoft data centers and labs.

Software Development

CTI's solutions development group has been instrumental in helping product development companies, including MetraTech, design, prototype, develop and test new products and solutions. CoroWare's consulting staff comprises a wide range of software architects with over 20 years' experience, "user experience" application developers, web service software developers, database consultants, and project managers.

In order to compete with outsourcing software and IT consulting companies in India and China, CoroWare established a near shore consulting services group in 2007 as a low cost alternative with same time zone presence. CoroWare's Latin America partnerships offer superior cost dynamics and a near time zone alternative to Europe / US businesses requiring Spanish language capability. CoroWare's Near Shore Consulting Services offer a stable rate against the dollar, as well as close proximity, and a familiarity with US business processes.

Robotics and Automation (R&A)

We are a mobile robotics solutions integrator in the research community and have expertise in robotics simulation and software development. Our CoroBot and Explorer product lines are being used by over 50 corporate and academic researchers today.

Custom Engineering

We offer custom engineering expertise to customers who are looking for product realization, robotics simulation, systems architecture and design, and robotic applications development services. We believe CTI is uniquely positioned with its knowledge of robotics simulation; Player-Stage and Robotic Operating System (ROS) running on Ubuntu Linux systems; Concurrency and Coordination Runtime (CCR) and Decentralized Software Services (DSS) running on Microsoft Windows systems; embedded systems software development; and hardware and software integration services to help its customers deliver innovative product and solutions.

Solutions and Products

In May 2007, we began shipping the CoroBot Classic, an affordable and flexible mobile robot that was designed to minimize the complexity of robotic development. Combining a powerful PC-class platform with a robust, object-oriented software development system empowers researchers and robotics application developers to rapidly deploy and develop robotic solutions. Some university customers are deploying CoroBot Classics for use in various lab activities, including the development of swarm robotics applications designed to leverage groups of robots to complete complex tasks.

In June 2009, we began shipping the CoroBot Explorer. With more powerful motors, larger payload capacity, articulated suspension and enclosed electronics it is suitable for indoor or outdoor usage.

In 2010 and early 2012, we announced new features for the CoroBot Explorer II platform and support for Robot Operating System, which we believe will improve our sales into the research and education market segments.

In 2012, we reorganized our robotics division and moved the facility to Charlotte, North Carolina, to take better advantage of strategic partnerships with the University of North Carolina Charlotte.

In February 2013 we released the CoroBot Junior as a new lower cost research unmanned ground vehicle. In September 2013, we released the CoroBot Pro, a much more powerful unmanned ground vehicle. In November 2013, the High Capacity Robotic Arm was released, providing both a long reach and large payload.

Enterprise Collaboration Solutions (ECS)

Vidyo Reseller Business

In early 2009, we launched our collaboration – now referred to as Enterprise Collaboration Solutions - initiative in order to address the needs of enterprise customers with distributed business operations that are turning to new technologies to address the cost of doing business in a world that is increasingly dependent on suppliers, partners and customers worldwide. In order to overcome these challenges, enterprise customers are looking for solutions that are demonstrably effective and operationally affordable. As a result, small, medium and large sized businesses, including consulting companies, non-profit groups, and distance learning companies, are all giving serious consideration to purchasing affordable high definition videoconferencing solutions.

Through our partnership with Vidyo (<http://www.vidyo.com>), we are deploying high definition video conferencing solutions, including collaboration room systems, and offering CoroCall TM Business Class HD Video Conferencing (<http://www.corocall.com>), an affordable high definition videoconferencing subscription service that is based on Vidyo's technology.

CoroCall Subscription Services

As CoroWare began selling the Vidyo product line in 2009, many customers expressed a desire to mitigate capital expenditures and purchase cloud-based communication services instead. In response to this customer demand, CoroWare announced its CoroCall Business Class HD Video Conferencing subscription service in 2009, and subsequently upgraded to support improved audio and video conferencing capabilities which are superior to many of our competitors today.

In 2012, we expanded the CoroCall Business Class HD Video Conferencing service with the addition of integrated call recording and webcast. In addition, we also enhanced the security of the offering by implementing 128 bit AES encryption. In 2012, we also became a reseller of VidyoCast, a broadcast service that incorporates Vidyo's network tolerant video streaming into the broadcast arena.

Although this business is still in its early stages of growth, we have won and are pursuing significant customer opportunities with financial consulting organizations, product development/sales companies, religious organizations, and employment recruiters. This also expands the options available to customers of the video conferencing service, providing custom dial in phone numbers.

In 2013, we solidified a presence in the area of tele-health with a focus on providing HIPAA compliant video conferencing, particularly for mental tele-health facilities.

CoroCall Product Line

In 2010, we announced our first enhanced collaboration product, CoroWare NameTag, a Windows-based application that lets desktop video conferencing users customize their webcam experience. We have had significant corporate adoption of NameTag.

In early 2012, we expanded our range of products when the Company announced the early adopter release of CoroCall Communications, an Internet telephony, conferencing, and communications system. CoroCall Communications is a standalone appliance server with features that were previously available only to large enterprises at a much higher price, offering customers an integrated Internet telephony solution that includes phone communications, high definition (HD) audio and video conferencing, and advanced call management. 2102 and the beginning of 2013 have brought several enhancements and additions to our CoroCall service. Recording and streaming capabilities were added to the platform allowing users to record and or stream video conferences on the fly without administrative intervention or support. Additionally our service is now deployed in a secure manner utilizing HTTPS and AES encryption, insuring that our customers' calls and data are secure from hackers and potential eavesdroppers of sensitive information. By providing these new capabilities and managing customized solutions with API management, we have developed customers in vertical markets to include Health care, Education and legal applications. Law firms are utilizing our platforms for remote depositions and more. Schools are conducting virtual field trips and extended care facilities are connecting patients with care providers via our CoroCall Videoconferencing platform.

We have expanded our distribution model by developing a network of Value Added Service Providers (VASP's). By adding CoroCall cloud based subscription services to their existing telephony, data management and other telecom services, there resellers are developing new recurring revenue streams without having to build out infrastructure to do so.

Competition

Competitors in the IT consulting market comprise a combination of large and well established companies, such as Avanade and Tata Consultancy Services; and smaller, privately held consulting companies with practices in a single vertical arena such as custom software development, telecom billing, multimedia production and many other vertical industries.

We have maintained long-term relationships and have been successful in renewing contracts and in signing multi-month or yearlong contracts with key customers - including Microsoft and MetraTech, and are building similar client relationships with new customers.

Competitors in the mobile robotics and custom engineering marketplaces have comprised iRobot (IRBT), Adept / MobileRobots (ADEP), and privately held companies such as K-Team Mobile Robotics, RoboSoft, and Evolution Robotics. New entrants in this marketplace include Aethon, neato robotics, Brock Technologies, and Contineo Robotics.

Competitors in the collaboration market include:

- Legacy videoconferencing vendors such as Polycom, Tandberg/Cisco and Lifesize/Logitech
- Legacy videoconferencing service providers, such as AT&T, that deploy and support legacy equipment from Polycom, Tandberg/Cisco and Lifesize/Logitech
- New entrants in affordable and modest quality videoconferencing services, such as oovoo and Nefsis
- New entrants into cloud based bridging and multipoint services such as Blue Jeans, Vidtel and others
- Upgrades to existing Data conferencing platforms to include multi party video within the collaboration tool. i.e. Go to Meeting, Webex.

Customers

All three divisions saw growth in their customer bases in 2013 as compared with 2012. CBS added additional contracts with existing customers and added additional large enterprise accounts as well. R&A engaged with a number of additional universities and research facilities. ECS added customers to its hosted solutions and additional resellers, as well as securing product and accessory sales to a number of customers.

ARiCON Joint Venture

CoroWare, Inc. (“Company”) entered into a joint venture agreement (“Joint Venture Agreement”) with Lucas Snyder (“Snyder”) as of September 24, 2012, whereby the parties have formed a North Carolina limited liability company, ARiCON, LLC, to implement a joint venture that will develop and market mobile robot platforms, applications, and solutions for the construction industry.

The Company will contribute mobile robotics development capabilities and certain equipment to the joint venture; and Snyder will contribute his construction industry knowledge, expertise and customer relationships.

Pursuant to the Joint Venture Agreement, on September 27, 2012, the Company contributed $10,000 cash and 38,000,000 shares of its common stock to ARiCON, LLC, at a price of $0.001 per share in a private placement exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933 in reliance on Section 4(2) of the Securities Act. The aggregate proceeds of the contribution into the formation of the joint venture were valued at $59,400.

Regulation

Our services and products are not uniquely subject to governmental or industry regulations.

Research & Development

Our research and development activities have primarily been focused on the development of software components, mobile robot platforms such as the CoroBot Explorer and CoroCall Business Class HD Video Conferencing. We intend to continue developing hardware and software products that we believe will potentially grow CoroWare's collaboration and mobile robotics products, solutions and services.

Research and development expenses from continuing operations for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012 were $23,415 and $58,948, respectively.

ITEM 7. MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS.

Cautionary and Forward Looking Statements

This section and other parts of this Form 10-K contain forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Forward-looking statements can also be identified by words such as “anticipates,” “expects,” “believes,” “plans,” “predicts,” and similar terms. Forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and CoroWare’s actual results may differ significantly from the results discussed in the forward-looking statements. The following discussion should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and notes thereto included in Item 8 of this Form 10-K. We assume no obligation to revise or update any forward-looking statements for any reason, except as required by law.

There is no assurance that we will be profitable, we may not be able to successfully develop, manage or market our products and services, we may not be able to attract or retain qualified executives and technology personnel, our products and services may become obsolete, government regulation may hinder our business, additional dilution in outstanding stock ownership may be incurred due to the issuance of more shares, warrants and stock options, or the exercise of warrants and stock options, and other risks inherent in the our businesses.

We undertake no obligation to publicly revise these forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances that arise after the date hereof. Readers should carefully review the factors described in other documents we file from time to time with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including the Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q and Annual Report on Form 10-K filed by us in 2013 and any Current Reports on Form 8-K filed by us.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES

General

The consolidated financial statements and notes included in our quarterly and annual financial statements contain information that is pertinent to this management's discussion and analysis. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires us to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of our assets and liabilities, and affect the disclosure of any contingent assets and liabilities. We believe these accounting policies involve judgment due to the sensitivity of the methods, assumptions, and estimates necessary in determining the related asset and liability amounts. The significant accounting policies are described in the notes to our financial statements and notes included elsewhere in this Form 10-K.

Revenue Recognition

We derive our software system integration services revenue from short-duration, time and material contracts. Generally, such contracts provide for an hourly-rate and a stipulated maximum fee. Revenue is recorded only on executed arrangements as time is incurred on the project and as materials, which are insignificant to the total contract value, are expended. Revenue is not recognized in cases where customer acceptance of the work product is necessary, unless sufficient work has been performed to ascertain that the performance specifications are being met and the customer acknowledges that such performance specifications are being met. We periodically review contractual performance and estimate future performance requirements. Losses on contracts are recorded when estimable. No contractual losses were identified during the periods presented.

We recognize revenue for our software and software professional services when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, delivery has occurred, the sales price is fixed or determinable and collectability is probable. Product sales are recognized by us generally at the time product is shipped. Shipping and handling costs are included in cost of goods sold.

We account for arrangements that contain multiple elements in accordance with FASB ASC 605-25, Revenue Recognition, Multiple Element Arrangements. When elements such as hardware, software and consulting services are contained in a single arrangement, or in related arrangements with the same customer, we allocate revenue to each element based on its relative fair value, provided that such element meets the criteria for treatment as a separate unit of accounting. The price charged when the element is sold separately generally determines fair value. In the absence of fair value for a delivered element, we allocate revenue first to the fair value of the underlying elements and allocate the residual revenue to the delivered elements. In the absence of fair value for an undelivered element, the arrangement is accounted for as a single unit of accounting, resulting in a delay of revenue recognition for the delivered elements until the undelivered elements are fulfilled. We limit the amount of revenue recognition for delivered elements to the amount that is not contingent on future delivery of products or services or subject to customer-specified return or refund privileges.

We recognize revenue from the sale of manufacturer's maintenance and extended warranty contracts in accordance with FASB ASC 605-45, Revenue Recognition, Principal Agent Considerations net of its costs of purchasing the related contracts.

Our ECS revenue is comprised of both services and products. ECS subscription service revenues are generated through the sale of CoroCall™, a managed video conferencing service and CoroCall Communications, a managed telephone service. Our contracts provide for usage pricing or when paid for pre-paid service. We recognize this revenue in the period that the services or minutes are used and prepaid. Product revenues are realized partly through the sale of Vidyo's product line, including room systems and back-end infrastructure, partly through the sale of CoroWare collaboration products, including CoroWare Usage Reporter for Vidyo, a software package that provides usage statistics for Vidyo brand high-definition video conferencing systems, and partly through the sales of related accessories. Revenues for these products are recognized upon delivery to the customer.

Share-based payment

Stock based compensation expense is recorded in accordance with FASB ASC 718, Compensation – Stock Compensation, for stock and stock options awarded in return for services rendered. The expense is measured at the grant-date fair value of the award and recognized as compensation expense on a straight line basis over the service period, which is the vesting period. We estimate forfeitures that we expect will occur and record expense based upon the number of awards expected to vest.

There were no options issued during the years ending December 31, 2013 and 2012.

Derivative Financial Instruments

Derivative financial instruments, as defined in FASB ASC 815, Derivatives and Hedging, consist of financial instruments or other contracts that contain a notional amount and one or more underlying variables (e.g. interest rate, security price or other variable), require no initial net investment and permit net settlement. The caption Derivative Liability consists of (i) the fair values associated with derivative features embedded in various convertible note financings and (ii) the fair values of the detachable warrants that were issued in connection with those financing arrangements.

We generally do not use derivative financial instruments to hedge exposures to cash-flow, market or foreign-currency risks. However, we have entered into certain other financial instruments and contracts, such as debt financing arrangements and freestanding warrants with features that are either (i) not afforded equity classification, (ii) embody risks not clearly and closely related to host contracts, or (iii) may be net-cash settled by the counterparty. As required by FASB ASC 815, these instruments are required to be carried as derivative liabilities, at fair value, in our financial statements.

We estimate fair values of derivative financial instruments using various techniques (and combinations thereof) that are considered to be consistent with the objective of measuring fair values. In selecting the appropriate technique, we consider, among other factors, the nature of the instrument, the market risks that it embodies and the expected means of settlement. For less complex derivative instruments, such as free-standing warrants, we generally use the Black-Scholes-Merton option valuation technique because it embodies all of the requisite assumptions (including trading volatility, estimated terms and risk free rates) necessary to value these instruments. For complex derivative instruments, such as embedded conversion options, we generally use the Flexible Monte Carlo valuation technique because it embodies all of the requisite assumptions (including credit risk, interest-rate risk and exercise/conversion behaviors) that are necessary to value these more complex instruments. Estimating fair values of derivative financial instruments requires the development of significant and subjective estimates that may, and are likely to, change over the duration of the instrument with related changes in internal and external market factors. In addition, option-based techniques are highly volatile and sensitive to changes in the trading market price of our common stock, which has a high-historical volatility. Since derivative financial instruments are initially and subsequently carried at fair values, our income will reflect the volatility in these estimate and assumption changes.

PLAN OF OPERATION

CoroWare is well positioned for managed growth in Fiscal Year 2014 through continued growth of our CoroWare Business Solutions and Robotics & Automation business units, and rapid growth of our Enterprise Collaboration Solutions business unit.

The CoroWare Business Solutions (CBS) business unit anticipates growing its revenues by delivering business intelligence, software development, IT consulting, lab management and release management professional services through its long term clients, including Microsoft. As well, it anticipates growing its revenues through the sales of products and solutions – such as CoroWare Billing Integration Framework and CoroWare License Manager - that help cloud service providers recognize revenues by delivering conferencing and application services. Additional revenue growth is expected through the sales of enterprise and cloud cyber security solutions.

The Robotics & Automation (R&A) business unit expects to achieve its revenue objectives by offering affordable mobile robotics platforms, products and custom solutions to researchers in the university, commercial and homeland security market segments. As well, the Robotics & Automation group is well positioned to pursue custom engineering opportunities with clients who are developing innovative software services, solutions and products that leverage our expertise in simulation, visualization, mobile robotics, and product realization.

The Enterprise Collaboration Solutions (ECS) business unit plans to rapidly grow its revenues by selling a combination of services and products. Collaboration service revenues are generated through the sale of CoroCall™, a managed business class HD video conferencing service that small, medium and large sized businesses –particularly those in the area of tele-health – are considering as an alternative to purchasing and operating videoconferencing equipment and infrastructure. Product revenues are being realized partly through the sale of Vidyo's product line – including room systems and back-end infrastructure – partly through the sale of CoroWare collaboration products, partly through the sales of related accessories, and partly through the sales of VidyoCast products and services.

In order to achieve revenue and margin objectives in an increasingly global and competitive market, all of CoroWare's business units offer their customers the option of using CoroWare's near-shore resources, which comprise a team of highly capable IT architects, developers and testers with experience in software application development and integration, rich internet applications development, partner management portal development, IT infrastructure, and Quality Assurance.

We do not expect to sell any of CoroWare's fixed assets, including property or equipment in the next twelve months, nor do we expect to purchase any real property in the next twelve months. During the next twelve months we expect to purchase certain equipment to support software development, testing and continued deployment of CoroWare technologies. Additionally, we expect to purchase office equipment, computer equipment and laboratory development and testing equipment to support our planned personnel increase.

We are internally developing an investor relations program that will help the company communicate more effectively and actively with CoroWare shareholders, and generate greater awareness of CoroWare and our services, solutions and products.

Accrued interest on the notes totaled $1,073,806 and $962,533 as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

(s) Zoom Marketing Corporation:

On August 23, 2013 the Company borrowed $140,000 from Zoom Marketing Corporation (“Zoom”). The note accrues interest at a rate of five percent per annum and became due on January 23, 2014. Pursuant to the terms of the notes the principal balance is convertible at the option of the note holder into shares of the Company’s common stock at a 15 percent discount to the lowest closing price during the ten-day trading period prior to conversion. Accrued interest on the notes totaled $2,436 and $-0- as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

During the year ended December 31, 2013 (the "2013 Period") revenues were $1,067,229 compared to revenues of $1,276,022 during the year ended December 31, 2012 (the "2012 Period"). Revenues in the 2013 period were lower compared to the 2012 period as the Company reorganized its business management and sales teams in order to grow sales in the following fiscal year.

Cost of goods sold was $761,413 and $851,385 for the 2013 Period and the 2012 Period, respectively. Cost of goods sold primarily represents labor and labor-related costs in addition to overhead costs. The increased cost of goods sold was principally due to product returns in the 4th quarter of the 2013 Period. The Company began to reorganize its product development and business management teams at the end of the 2013 Period in order to improve sales and product quality in the following fiscal year

Gross Profits decreased to $305,816 during the 2013 Period compared to $424,637 during the 2012 Period. Gross profits decreased during the 2013 Period as a result of Gross revenues declining. The Gross profit percentage in the 2013 Period was 29% compared to 33% in the 2012 period.

Operating expenses were $1,678,207 for the 2013 period compared to $788,355 for the 2012 period. General and administrative expenses amounted to $1,439,421 during the 2013 Period compared to $425,446 for the 2012 period, and represented mostly labor and related compensation costs, legal and professional fees, outside services, travel expenses, rental expense and related office expenses. Sales and marketing expenses were $212,371 for the 2013 period compared to $291,961 for the 2012 period. Research and developments costs totaled $23,415 for the 2013 period compared to $58,948 during the 2012 period. Depreciation and amortization costs were $3,000 for the 2013 period compared to $12,000 for the 2012 period.

Loss from operations was $1,372,391 for the 2013 period compared to $363,718 for the 2012 period. Loss from operations was lower in the 2013 Period due primarily to a significant decrease in general and administrative expenses and, a modest decrease in sales revenues throughout the 2013 period.

Other income (expense) was $923,580 during the 2013 period compared to other expense of $3,647,270 in the 2012 period. Other income (expense) is comprised primarily of gain/loss on derivative and amortization of debt discount and deferred finance costs. The gain on derivative for the 2013 period was $4,985,720 compared to a loss of $2,597,552 for the 2012 period. The embedded conversion features associated with our convertible debentures are valued based on the number of shares that are indexed to that liability. Keeping the number of shares constant, the liability associated with the embedded conversion features increases as our share price increases and, likewise, decreases when our share price decreases. Derivative income (expense) displays the inverse relationship. Interest expense for the 2013 period was $5,909,300 compared to $1,068,507 for the 2012 period. The Company also recognized a $71,069 gain on extinguishment of debt during the 2012 period. The increase in interest expense is principally a result of an increase in the amount of debt discount that was amortized and derivative valuations in excess of debt discount amounts. The debt discount is being amortized using the effective interest method. Under this method, the amount of amortization increases exponentially as the underlying carrying value of the amortized debt increases.

Net loss for the 2013 period was $2,323,226 compared to net loss of $3,980,286 for the 2012 period.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

During the year ended December 31, 2013 (the "2013 period") we used $434,618 net cash from operating activities compared to $57,191 for the year ended December 31, 2012 (the "2012 period").

During the year ended December 31, 2013 (the "2013 period") we used $367 net cash from investing activities compared to $3,121 for the year ended December 31, 2012 (the "2012 period") for purchases of property and equipment.

In the 2013 period, the Company generated $432,231 in cash from financing activities. This primarily reflects borrowings on convertible debentures. The Company's financing activities generated $62,544 of cash during the 2012 period.

At December 31, 2013, we had current assets of $24,710, current liabilities of $14,434,511, negative working capital of $14,409,801 and an accumulated deficit of $41,373,974. At December 31, 2012, we had current assets of $129,766, current liabilities of $13,947,222, negative working capital of $13,817,456 and an accumulated deficit of $39,050,748.

We presently do not have any available credit, bank financing or other external sources of liquidity. We will need to obtain additional capital in order to expand operations and become profitable. In order to obtain capital, we may need to sell additional shares of our common stock or borrow funds from private lenders. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in obtaining additional funding. We will still need additional capital in order to continue operations until we are able to achieve positive operating cash flow. Additional capital is being sought, but we cannot guarantee that we will be able to obtain such investments. Financing transactions may include the issuance of equity or debt securities, obtaining credit facilities, or other financing mechanisms. However, even if we are able to raise the funds required, it is possible that we could incur unexpected costs and expenses, fail to collect significant amounts owed to us, or experience unexpected cash requirements that would force us to seek alternative financing. Furthermore, if we issue additional equity or debt securities, stockholders may experience additional dilution or the new equity securities may have rights, preferences or privileges senior to those of existing holders of our common stock. If additional financing is not available or is not available on acceptable terms, we will have to curtail our operations.

OFF-BALANCE SHEET ARRANGEMENTS

We do not have any off-balance sheet arrangements that are reasonably likely to have a current or future effect on our financial condition, revenues, results of operations, liquidity, or capital expenditures.

CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATIONS

The following table sets forth the contractual obligations of the Company as of December 31, 2013:

ITEM 9A-(T). CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

As of the end of the period covered by this annual report on Form 10-K, management performed, with the participation of our Chief Executive Officer and our Chief Financial Officer, an evaluation of the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) of the Exchange Act). Based on the evaluation and the identification of the material weaknesses in internal control over financial reporting described below our Chief Executive Officer and our Chief Financial Officer concluded that, as of December 31, 2013, our disclosure controls and procedures were not effective in ensuring that information required to be disclosed by us in the reports filed or submitted by us under the Exchange Act is (i) recorded, processed, summarized and reported, within the time periods specified in the Commission's rules and forms and (ii) accumulated and communicated to our management, including our principal executive and financial officers, or persons performing similar functions, as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

Management's Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting

Our management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting (as defined in Rule 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) promulgated under the Exchange Act.) Internal control over financial reporting is a process designed by, or under the supervision of, the company's principal executive officer and principal financial officer and effected by an entity's board of directors, management and other personnel, to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of consolidated financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and includes those policies and procedures that:

- pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the entity;

- provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the entity are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the entity; and provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition of the entity's assets that could have a material effect on its consolidated financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Under the supervision and with the participation of our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, the Company's management conducted an assessment of the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting based on the criteria set forth in the Internal Control — Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations (COSO) of the Treadway Commission.

Based upon this assessment, as of December 31, 2013 the Company's management concluded that there are material weaknesses affecting our internal control over financial reporting and have concluded that our internal control over financial reporting was not effective as of the end of the period covered by this report.

The matters involving internal controls and procedures that our management considers to be material weaknesses under COSO and Commission rules are: (1) lack of a functioning audit committee and lack of independent directors on our board of directors, resulting in potentially ineffective oversight in the establishment and monitoring of required internal controls and procedures; (2) inadequate segregation of duties consistent with control objectives; (3) insufficient written policies and procedures for accounting and financial reporting with respect to the requirements and application of US GAAP and SEC disclosure requirements; and (4) ineffective controls over period end financial disclosure and reporting processes. The aforementioned potential material weaknesses were identified by our Chief Financial Officer in connection with the preparation of our financial statements as of December 31, 2013 who communicated the matters to our management and board of directors.

Management believes that the material weaknesses set forth in items (2), (3) and (4) above did not have an effect on our financial results. However, the lack of a functioning audit committee and lack of a majority of independent directors on our board of directors, resulting in potentially ineffective oversight in the establishment and monitoring of required internal controls and procedures, can impact our financial statements.

Attestation Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

This annual report on Form 10-K does not include an attestation report of our independent registered public accounting firm regarding internal control over financial reporting. Management's report was not subject to attestation by our independent registered public accounting firm pursuant to an exemption for non-accelerated filers set forth in Section 989G of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act.

Management's Remediation Initiatives

Although we are unable to meet the standards under COSO because of the limited resources available to a company of our size, we are committed to improving our financial organization. As funds become available, we will undertake to: (1) create a position to segregate duties consistent with control objectives, (2) increase our personnel resources and technical accounting expertise within the accounting function (3) appoint one or more outside directors to our board of directors who shall be appointed to a Company audit committee resulting in a fully functioning audit committee who will undertake the oversight in the establishment and monitoring of required internal controls and procedures; and (4) prepare and implement sufficient written policies and checklists which will set forth procedures for accounting and financial reporting with respect to the requirements and application of US GAAP and SEC disclosure requirements.

We will continue to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures and our internal control over financial reporting on an ongoing basis and are committed to taking further action and implementing additional enhancements or improvements, as necessary and as funds allow. However, because of the inherent limitations in all control systems, no evaluation of controls can provide absolute assurance that misstatements due to error or fraud will not occur or that all control issues and instances of fraud, if any, within the Company have been detected. These inherent limitations include the realities that judgments in decision making can be faulty and that breakdowns can occur because of simple error or mistake. The design of any system of controls is based in part on certain assumptions about the likelihood of future events, and there can be no assurance that any design will succeed in achieving its stated goals under all potential future conditions. Projections of any evaluation of controls effectiveness to future periods are subject to risks.

The implementation of these and other initiatives will be largely contingent on our ability to expand our board of directors and create audit and compensation committees. As we build an independent board-majority, comprised of a number of financial professionals, we anticipate the planning and implementation of internal controls to be expedited and improved.

Changes in Internal Control over Financial Reporting

There were no changes in our internal control over financial reporting during the quarter ended December 31, 2013 that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.

Auditor's Attestation

This annual report does not include an attestation report of the Company's registered public accounting firm regarding internal control over financial reporting. Management's report was not subject to attestation by the Company's registered public accounting firm pursuant to temporary rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission that permit the Company to provide only management's report in this annual report.

ITEM 12. SECURITY OWNERSHIP OF CERTAIN BENEFICIAL OWNERS AND MANAGEMENT AND RELATED STOCKHOLDER MATTERS

The following table sets forth certain information regarding the beneficial ownership of our common stock as of August 21, 2014 by each person or entity known by us to be the beneficial owner of more than 5% of any class of our voting securities, each of our directors and named executive officers, and all of our directors and executive officers as a group. Beneficial ownership has been determined in accordance with Rule 13d-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Generally, a person is deemed to be the beneficial owner of a security if he has the right to acquire voting or investment power within 60 days.

Percentage ownership in the following table is based on 13,149,707,329 shares of common stock outstanding and 100,000 shares of Series D Convertible Preferred Stock outstanding as of August 21, 2014. A person is deemed to be the beneficial owner of securities that can be acquired by that person within 60 days from April 11, 2013 upon the exercise of options, warrants or convertible securities, or other rights. Each beneficial owner's percentage ownership is determined by dividing the number of shares beneficially owned by that person by the base number of outstanding shares, increased to reflect the shares underlying options, warrants, convertible securities, or other rights included in that person's holdings, but not those underlying shares held by any other person.

No director, executive officer or nominee for election as a director of our company, and no owner of five percent or more of our outstanding shares or any member of their immediate family has entered into or proposed any transaction in which the amount involved exceeds $60,000 except as set forth below.

During October 2007, several current directors and officers invested $35,000 in Series C preferred stock, which is described in Note 12 in the notes to financial statements. In April 2008, all of the Series C preferred shareholders converted their investments into CoroWare common stock.

We also entered into short-term debt obligations other than in the ordinary course of business. The following table sets forth the pertinent information relating to the obligations:

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Directors
CoroWare, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of CoroWare, Inc. (the Company) as of December 31, 2013 and 2012 and the related consolidated statements of operations, stockholders' deficit and cash flows for the years then ended. These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. Our audits included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of CoroWare, Inc. as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, and the results of their operations and cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 2 to the financial statements, the Company had accumulated losses for the period from inception through December 31, 2013 which raises substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans concerning these matters are also described in Note 2. The consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

COROWARE, INC.
Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements
December 31, 2013 and 2012 (Restated)

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION AND NATURE OF BUSINESS

CoroWare, Inc ("CoroWare" or "the Company") is a public holding company whose principal subsidiary, CoroWare Technologies, Inc. ("CTI"), has expertise in information technology consulting, mobile robotics, and affordable collaboration. Through its subsidiary, the Company delivers custom engineering services, hardware and software products, and subscription services that benefit customers in North America, Europe, Australia, Asia and the Middle East. Their customers span multiple industry sectors and comprise universities, software and hardware product development companies, and non-profit organizations. The company also maintains a Near Shore practice which is comprised of multiple subcontracting companies with whom the company maintains close working relationships. Through these relationships, the Company is able to provide services in South America.

CTI is a software professional services company with a strong focus on Information Technology integration and robotics integration, business automation solutions, and unmanned systems solutions to its customers in North America and Europe. CTI's expertise includes the deployment and integration of computing platforms and applications, as well as the development of unmanned vehicle software and solutions for customers in the research, commercial, and homeland security market segments. CTI shall continue to offer its high value software systems development and integration services that complement the growing trend in outsourced software development services in Asia, Latin America, and Eastern Europe.

CTI comprises three separately managed lines of business:

- § CoroWare Business Solutions: IT and lab management; business intelligence, software architecture, design and development; content delivery; partner and program management.
- § Robotics and Automation: Custom engineering such as visualization, simulation and software development; and mobile robot platforms for university, government and corporate researchers.
- § Enhanced Collaboration Solutions: Collaboration and conferencing products, solutions and subscription services.

The Company's revenues are principally derived from standing contracts that include Microsoft (partner management and IT professional services), a European auto manufacturer (simulation software custom development), and other customers whose product development groups require custom software development and consulting companies. Existing contract revenues vary month by month based on the demands of the clients. The Company's collaboration effort is in the early stages of growth and will require additional working capital to compete effectively against new entrants in this rapidly growing market.

NOTE 2 – GOING CONCERN

The Company incurred a net loss in the amount of $2,323,226 during the year ended December 31, 2013 and incurred a net loss of $3,980,286 for the year ended December 31, 2012. The Company has negative working capital of $14,409,801 and $13,817,456 as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. Additionally, the Company had negative cash flows from operating activities totaling $434,618 and $57,191 for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. Because of these and other factors, the Company will require additional working capital to develop its business operations. The Company intends to raise additional working capital through the use of private placements, public offerings and/or bank financing.

There are no assurances that the Company will be able to either (1) achieve a level of revenues adequate to generate sufficient cash flow from operations; or (2) obtain additional financing through either private placements, public offerings and/or bank financing necessary to support the Company's working capital requirements. To the extent that funds generated from operations, any private placements, public offerings and/or bank financing are insufficient, the Company will have to raise additional working capital. No assurance can be given that additional financing will be available, or if available, will be on terms acceptable to the Company.

These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of asset carrying amounts or the amount and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

NOTE 3 – SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiaries, CoroWare Technologies, Inc. (“CTI”), Innova Robotics, Inc. (“IR”), Robotic Workspace Technologies, Inc. (“RWT”), and Robotics Software Services, Inc. (“RSS”) (herein are referred to as the “Subsidiaries”). The Company also consolidates its 51 percent interest in ARiCON, LLC. All significant inter-company balances and transactions have been eliminated in the consolidated financial statements.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. The Company uses all available information and appropriate techniques to develop its estimates. However, actual results could differ from its estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash and all highly liquid financial instruments with original purchased maturities of three months or less.

Accounts Receivable

The Company's accounts receivable are exposed to credit risk. During the normal course of business, the Company extends unsecured credit to its customers with normal and traditional trade terms. Typically credit terms require payments to be made by the thirtieth day following the sale. The Company regularly evaluates and monitors the creditworthiness of each customer. The Company provides an allowance for doubtful accounts based on our continuing evaluation of its customers' credit risk and its overall collection history. At December 31, 2012 the Company recorded an allowance for doubtful accounts in the amount of $30,000. The Company had an allowance balance of $27,873 at December 31, 2013.

Inventory

Inventories, which are comprised solely of finished goods, are stated at the lower of cost (based on the first-in, first-out method) or market. The Company provides for estimated losses from obsolete or slow-moving inventories, and writes down the cost of inventory at the time such determinations are made. Reserves are estimated based upon inventory on hand, historical sales activity, industry trends, the business environment and the expected net realizable value. The net realizable value is determined based upon current awareness of market prices.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Expenditures for major renewals and improvements are capitalized while expenditures for minor replacements, maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred. Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Upon retirement or disposal of assets, the accounts are relieved of cost and accumulated depreciation and the related gain or loss, if any, is reflected in loss on disposal of assets in the consolidated statement of income and comprehensive income.

At least annually, the Company evaluates, and adjusts when necessary, the estimated useful lives. The changes in estimated useful lives did not have a material impact on depreciation in any period. The estimated useful lives are:

Leasehold improvements and buildings	3-20 years
Furniture and fixtures	4-10 years
Equipment	3-7 years

Impairment of Long-lived Assets

The Company evaluates the carrying value and recoverability of its long-lived assets when circumstances warrant such evaluation by applying the provisions of FASB ASC 360-35, Property, Plant and Equipment, Subsequent Measurement. FASB ASC 360-35 requires that long-lived assets be reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable through the estimated undiscounted cash flows expected to result from the use and eventual disposition of the assets. Whenever any such impairment exists, an impairment loss will be recognized for the amount by which the carrying value exceeds the fair value.

Income Taxes

Income taxes are computed using the asset and liability method. Under the asset and liability method, deferred income tax assets and liabilities are determined based on the differences between the financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities and are measured using the currently enacted tax rates and laws. A valuation allowance is provided for the amount of deferred tax assets that, based on available evidence, are not expected to be realized. Additionally, taxes are calculated and expensed in accordance with applicable tax code.

Segment Reporting

ASC 280-10 defines operating segments as components of a company about which separate financial information is available that is evaluated regularly by the chief decision maker in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance. The Company reports according to one main segment.

Fair Value Measurements

The fair value of a financial instrument is the amount that could be received upon the sale of an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Financial assets are marked to bid prices and financial liabilities are marked to offer prices. Fair value measurements do not include transaction costs. A fair value hierarchy is used to prioritize the quality and reliability of the information used to determine fair values. Categorization within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The fair value hierarchy is defined into the following three categories:

Level 1: Quoted market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities

Level 2: Observable market-based inputs or inputs that are corroborated by market data

Level 3: Unobservable inputs that are not corroborated by market data

Stock-based Compensation

Stock-based compensation expense is recorded in accordance with FASB ASC 718, Compensation – Stock Compensation, for stock and stock options awarded in return for services rendered. The expense is measured at the grant-date fair value of the award and recognized as compensation expense on a straight line basis over the service period, which is the vesting period. The Company estimates forfeitures that it expects will occur and records expense based upon the number of awards expected to vest. There were no options granted during the years ending December 31, 2013 and 2012.

Revenue Recognition

The Company derives its software system integration services revenue from short-duration, time and material contracts. Generally, such contracts provide for an hourly-rate and a stipulated maximum fee. Revenue is recorded only on executed arrangements as time is incurred on the project and as materials, which are insignificant to the total contract value, are expended. Revenue is not recognized in cases where customer acceptance of the work product is necessary, unless sufficient work has been performed to ascertain that the performance specifications are being met and the customer acknowledges that such performance specifications are being met. The Company periodically review contractual performance and estimate future performance requirements. Losses on contracts are recorded when estimable. No contractual losses were identified during the periods presented.

The Company recognizes revenue for its software and software professional services when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, delivery has occurred, the sales price is fixed or determinable and collectability is probable. Product sales are recognized by us generally at the time product is shipped. Shipping and handling costs are included in cost of goods sold.

The Company accounts for arrangements that contain multiple elements in accordance with FASB ASC 605-25, Revenue Recognition, Multiple Element Arrangements. When elements such as hardware, software and consulting services are contained in a single arrangement, or in related arrangements with the same customer, the Company allocates revenue to each element based on its relative fair value, provided that such element meets the criteria for treatment as a separate unit of accounting. The price charged when the element is sold separately generally determines fair value. In the absence of fair value for a delivered element, the Company allocates revenue first to the fair value of the underlying elements and allocate the residual revenue to the delivered elements. In the absence of fair value for an undelivered element, the arrangement is accounted for as a single unit of accounting, resulting in a delay of revenue recognition for the delivered elements until the undelivered elements are fulfilled.

The Company limits the amount of revenue recognition for delivered elements to the amount that is not contingent on future delivery of products or services or subject to customer-specified return of refund privileges. The Company recognizes revenue from the sale of manufacturer's maintenance and extended warranty contracts in accordance with FASB ASC 605-45, Revenue Recognition, Principal Agent Considerations, net of its costs of purchasing the related contracts.

The Company's collaboration revenue is comprised of both services and products. Collaboration service revenues are generated through the sale of CoroCall™, a managed collaboration service. Our contracts provide for usage pricing or when paid for pre-paid service. The Company recognizes this revenue in the period that the services or minutes are used and prepaid. Product revenues are realized partly through the sale of Vidyo's product line, including room systems and back-end infrastructure, and partly through the sale of CoroWare collaboration products, including CoroWare Usage Reporter for Vidyo, a software package that provides usage statistics for Vidyo brand high-definition video conferencing systems, and partly through sales of accessories. Revenues for these products are recognized when the product is delivered to the customer.

Research and Development

Research and development costs relate to the development of new products, including significant improvements and refinements to existing products, and are expensed as incurred. Research and development expenses for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012 were $23,415 and $58,948, respectively.

Advertising Expense

The Company expenses advertising costs as they are incurred. Advertising expense for the years ending December 31, 2013 and 2012 were $21,184 and $33,969, respectively.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments which potentially expose the Company to concentrations of credit risk are cash and cash equivalents and trade accounts receivable. The Company maintains its cash and cash equivalents in deposit accounts with high quality, credit-worthy financial institutions.

At December 31, 2012 and 2011, the Company's revenues and receivables were comprised of the following customer concentrations:

	2013		2012
	Percent of Revenues	Percent of Receivables	Percent of Revenues	Percent of Receivables
Customer 1	64.41%	88.89%	56.75%	18.44%

Basic and Diluted Loss per Share

Basic loss per share is calculated by dividing the Company's net loss applicable to shareholders by the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period. Diluted loss per share is calculated by dividing the Company's net loss available to shareholders by the diluted weighted average number of shares outstanding during the year. The diluted weighted average number of shares outstanding is adjusted for any potentially dilutive debt or equity instruments. As of December 31, 2013 and 2012, there were 220,505,673 and 63,831,589 common stock equivalents outstanding, respectively, which were excluded from the calculation of diluted loss per unit as their effect would have been anti-dilutive.

Dividend Policy

The Company has never declared or paid any cash dividends on its common stock. The Company anticipates that any earnings will be retained for development and expansion of its business and does not anticipate paying any cash dividends in the foreseeable future. Additionally, as of December 31, 2013 and 2012 the Company has issued and has outstanding shares of Series B Preferred Stock which are entitled, prior to the declaration of any dividends on common stock, to earn a 5 percent dividend, payable in either cash or common stock of the Company. The Board of Directors has sole discretion to declare dividends based on the Company's financial condition, results of operations, capital requirements, contractual obligations and other relevant factors. At December 31, 2013 and 2012, there were cumulative undeclared dividends to Preferred Series B shareholders of $71,852 and $63,868, respectively, the obligation for which is contingent on declaration by the board of directors. At December 31, 2013 and 2012, there were accrued unpaid dividends of $15,969 and $15,969, respectively. These balance have been recorded as part of accounts payable and accrued expenses.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

Management does not expect the impact of any other recently issued accounting pronouncements to have a material impact on its financial condition or results of operations.

NOTE 4 – ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE FACTORING

On March 21, 2010, the Company established a $200,000 factoring line with an asset-based lender, CapeFirst Funding, LLC (“Capefirst”) that is secured by accounts receivable that the Lender may accept and purchase from the Company. The agreement calls for Capefirst to advance up to 80% of the net face amount of each assigned account or up to 50% of eligible assigned purchase orders. The agreement calls for a maximum facility amount of $200,000 with a purchase fee of 2% of the net face amount of each assigned account and a collection fee of 0.1% compounded daily. In the event of a dispute or in the event of fraud, misrepresentation, willful misconduct or negligence on the part of the Company, Capefirst may require the Company to immediately repurchase the assigned accounts at a purchase price that includes the amount of the assigned account plus the discount fee, interest and collection fee and may include a processing fee of 10%. The combined net balance due to Capefirst as of December 31, 2013 and 2012 was $149,638 and $117,722, respectively. Factor expense charged to operations for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012 amounted to $64,568 and $48,689, respectively.

The Company has adopted the FASB’s amended authoritative guidance which was issued in June 2009 and which became effective January 1, 2010 as it relates to distinguishing between transfers of financial assets that are sales from transfers that are secured borrowings. Under this new guidance as adopted by the Company effective January 1, 2010, the reporting of the sale of accounts receivable is treated as a secured borrowing rather than as a sale. As a result, affected accounts receivable are reported under Current Assets within the Company’s balance sheet as “Trade receivables” subject to reserves for doubtful accounts, returns and other allowances. Similarly, the net liability owing to Capefirst appears as “obligations collateralized by receivables” within the current liabilities section of the Company’s balance sheet. Net proceeds received from the sale of accounts receivable appear as cash provided or used by financing activities within the Company’s consolidated statements of cash flows. Early adoption of this amended guidance was not permitted. Under the authoritative guidance in effect prior to the amended guidance noted above, after a transfer of financial assets, an entity recognizes the financial and servicing assets it controls and liabilities it has incurred, derecognizes financial assets when control has been surrendered, and derecognizes liabilities when extinguished.

NOTE 5 – INVENTORY

As of December 31, 2013 and 2012, inventories consist of the following:

(s) Zoom Marketing Corporation:

On August 23, 2013 the Company borrowed $140,000 from Zoom Marketing Corporation (“Zoom”). The note accrues interest at a rate of five percent per annum and became due on January 23, 2014. Pursuant to the terms of the notes the principal balance is convertible at the option of the note holder into shares of the Company’s common stock at a 15 percent discount to the lowest closing price during the ten-day trading period prior to conversion. Accrued interest on the notes totaled $2,436 and $-0- as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

NOTE 13 – DERIVATIVE LIABILITY

Effective July 31, 2009, the Company adopted ASC 815 which defines determining whether an instrument (or embedded feature) is solely indexed to an entity’s own stock. The conversion price of certain convertible notes and exercise price of certain warrants are variable and subject to the fair value of the Company’s units on the date of conversion or exercise. As a result, the Company has determined that the conversion and exercise features are not considered to be solely indexed to the Company’s own stock and is therefore not afforded equity treatment. In accordance with ASC 815, the Company has bifurcated the conversion and exercise features of the instruments to be recorded as a derivative liability.

ASC 815 requires Company management to assess the fair market value of certain derivatives at each reporting period and recognize any change in the fair market value as items of other income or expense. The Company’s only asset or liability measured at fair value on a recurring basis is its derivative liability associated with convertible notes payable and warrants.

At origination and subsequent revaluations, the Company valued the derivative liabilities using the Black-Scholes options pricing model under the following assumptions:

	2013	2012
Risk-free interest rate	1.37% - 1.75 %	0.02% - 0.79 %
Expected options life	3.55 - 5.00	0.33 - 5.00
Expected dividend yield	-	-
Expected price volatility	136.6% - 205.3 %	102.3% - 173.8 %

During the year ended December 31, 2012, the Company’s derivative liability increased from $2,463,271 to $5,473,163 and recognized a loss on derivative liability of $2,597,592 in conjunction with settlement of convertible notes payable, additions of new derivative liabilities and subsequent revaluations of existing derivative liabilities.

During the year ended December 31, 2013, the Company’s derivative liability decreased from $5,473,163 to $4,780,032 and recognized a gain on derivative liability of $4,985,720 in conjunction with settlement of convertible notes payable, additions of new derivative liabilities and subsequent revaluations of existing derivative liabilities.

Based upon the Company's evaluation of the terms and conditions of the Series B Preferred Stock, the embedded conversion feature related to the preferred stock was afforded the exemption as a conventional convertible instrument due to certain variabilities in the conversion price, and met the conditions for equity classification. However, the Company is required to bifurcate the embedded conversion feature and carry it as a derivative liability.

The Company estimated the fair value of the compound derivative using a common stock equivalent and the current share price of the Company's common stock. There are 500,000 shares of Series D Preferred Stock authorized with a par value of $0.001. Each share of Series D Preferred Stock has a stated value equal to $1.00. These preferred shares rank higher than all other securities. Each outstanding share of Series D Preferred Stock shall be convertible into the number of shares of the Corporation's common stock determined by dividing the Stated Value by the Conversion Price which is defined as eighty five percent (85%) of the average closing bid price of the Common Stock over the twenty (20) trading days immediately preceding the date of conversion, (ii) but no less than Par Value of the Common Stock. Mandatory conversion can be demanded by the Company prior to October 1, 2013. Each one share of the Series D Preferred Stock shall have voting rights equal to 100,000 votes of Common Stock.

The Company estimated the fair value of the compound derivative using a common stock equivalent and the current share price of the Company's common stock. As a result of this estimate, the Company's valuation model resulted in a compound derivative balance associated with the Series D preferred stock of $89,295 and $105,053 as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. This amount is included as a current liability on the Company's balance sheet. NOTE 17 – INCOME TAXES

The Company accounts for income taxes in accordance with ASC 740, Income Taxes, which requires the recognition of deferred tax liabilities and assets at currently enacted tax rates for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been included in the financial statements or tax returns. A valuation allowance is recognized to reduce the net deferred tax asset to an amount that is more likely than not to be realized.

ASC 740 provides guidance on the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in a company's financial statements. ASC 740 requires a company to determine whether it is more likely than not that a tax position will be sustained upon examination based upon the technical merits of the position. If the more likely-than-not threshold is met, a company must measure the tax position to determine the amount to recognize in the financial statements.

Net deferred tax assets consist of the following components as of December 31, 2013 and 2012:

	For the Years Ended December 31,
	2013	2012
Current operations	$789,877	$1,353,297
Change in valuation allowance	(789,877)	(1,353,297)
Total provision for income taxes	$-	$-

The income tax provision differs from the amount of income tax determined by applying the estimated U.S. federal and state income tax rates of 34 percent to pretax income from continuing operations for the year ended December 31, 2013 and 2012 due to the following:

	December 31, 2013	December 31, 2012

At December 31, 2013, the Company had net operating loss carry forwards of approximately $6,303,512 through 2033. No tax benefit has been reported in the December 31, 2013 financial statements since the potential tax benefit is offset by a valuation allowance of the same amount. Due to the change in ownership provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, net operating loss carry forwards for Federal income tax reporting purposes are subject to annual limitations. Should a change in ownership occur, net operating loss carry forwards may be limited as to use in future years.

In accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, the Company has analyzed its filing positions in all jurisdictions where it is required to file income tax returns for the open tax years in such jurisdictions. The Company has identified its federal income tax returns for the previous five years remain subject to examination. The Company's income tax returns in state income tax jurisdictions also remain subject to examination for the previous five years. The Company currently believes that all significant filing positions are highly certain and that all of its significant income tax filing positions and deductions would be sustained upon audit. Therefore, the Company has no significant reserves for uncertain tax positions, and no adjustments to such reserves were required by generally accepted accounting principles. No interest or penalties have been levied against the Company and none are anticipated, therefore no interest or penalty has been included in the provision for income taxes in the consolidated statements of operations.
