Relevant Events

In July, our Chilean subsidiary started offering wireless services with GSM technology and launched its new brand, Claro. The new GSM network already expands on the coverage of the original CDMA network and is slated to continue to grow in coverage.

In August we integrated our companies in Nicaragua, Sercom and Enitel. Sercom had been established in 2002 to develop wireless operations in the country. Enitel, a fixed-line and wireless operator, was acquired in 2004.

Our Central American subsidiaries in Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua and Honduras decided to adopt the Claro brand name for their wireless services. In September they started to operate under the new brand with very good acceptance.

In October, an agreement was reached between Telmex and all mobile operators in Mexico establishing the conditions under which the new National and International Calling-Party-Pays scheme will operate. This scheme will take effect on November 4th.

América Móvil added 6.2 million wireless subscribers in the third quarter of 2006, to finish September with 113.9 million subscribers. This represents an increase of 5.7% quarter-over-quarter and 36.2% year-over-year. Considering the 2.1 million fixed lines in Central America, América Móvil had a total of 116 million lines at the end of September. In the nine months to September we obtained 20.6 million subscribers, exceeding by 7.5% the number of organic net additions registered in the same period of 2005.

Mexico continued growing at a healthy pace, adding 1.6 million subscribers in the quarter to reach 40.7 million subscribers at the end of September, 21.3% more than a year before.

In Brazil we added 1.2 million clients in the third quarter, bringing the total through September to 3.5 million subscribers, which represents 29.7% of the market's net adds in the regions where we operate. Claro's subscriber base expanded by 27.4% year-on-year, to reach 22.2 million wireless subscribers.

Our Argentinean operation gained 948 thousand clients in the third quarter and 2.4 million in the first nine months of the year, to finish September with nine million subscribers. Its subscriber base rose by 62.0% year-on-year. CTI's operations in Uruguay and Paraguay grew at a vigorous pace, with Uruguay tripling its subscriber base as compared to the same period of last year to 334 thousand clients and Paraguay more than doubling its own to 344 thousand clients.

In Colombia net subscriber additions came in at 786 thousand in the third quarter, bringing the total through September to nearly 5 million subscribers. By the end of the third quarter, Comcel had 18.8 million subscribers, 65.5% more than a year before. The slowdown in subscriber growth the quarter's net additions are lower than in the previous quarters stems from less aggressive commercial policies; however, this did not lead to a reduction in our market share. Colombia's wireless market had more than quadrupled in size in the last couple of years, having gone from being the least penetrated amongst the large countries in Latin America to the one with the highest penetration rate: 70.2% at the end of September.

More than 40% of CTI's subscriber base was obtained in the last twelve months.

Third quarter revenues came in at 1.2 million Argentinean pesos, exceeding by 13.6% those of the prior quarter and by 50.7% those of the same period of last year. Service revenue growth was particularly strong at 10.2% over the quarter and 44.7% annually. For the first nine months of 2006 revenues totaled 3.2 million Argentinean pesos, 57.3% more than a year before.

EBITDA for the quarter totaled 206 million Argentinean pesos, twice as much as in the same period of 2005, though somewhat lower than in the previous quarter on account of the more rapid pace of subscriber growth. Through September, EBITDA more than tripled from a year before, as the EBITDA margin doubled (to 20.0%) and revenues soared.

Chile

In July, our Chilean operation introduced GSM services and launched its new brand name, Claro. This allowed us to increase to 102 thousand the number of net additions in the third quarter from 59 thousand the previous quarter. Claro's subscriber base reached 2.1 million clients in September.

Revenues totaled 131.5 million Chilean pesos in the first nine months of 2006, of which 48 million were obtained in the third quarter. EBITDA through September amounted to 18.6 million pesos, or 14.2% of revenues. The promotional expenses surrounding the introduction of the new brand and greater subscriber acquisition costs were responsible for the quarterly reduction in EBITDA.

On this basis, third quarter revenues reached 2.1 billion reais, up 15.1% annually, with service revenues expanding by 23.0% year-on-year. Claro's blended ARPU in the third quarter was 27 reais, 4.2% lower than the one observed a year before. In the first nine months of the year revenues amounted to 6 billion reais, up 12.9% annually. Service revenues increased by 25.5% .

EBITDA in the quarter totaled 272 million reais, nearly 12% more than in the preceding quarter. A year before, a small EBITDA loss was obtained in the same period. The EBITDA margin was 12.8% in the quarter, over one percentage point higher than the 11.5% obtained in the second quarter, and almost 15 percentage points higher than a year before. Colombia

In the last couple of years Colombia outpaced every country in Latin America in terms of subscriber growth. With the wireless penetration rate in the country reaching 70.2% in September, ahead of all the major countries in the region, Comcel opted for a less aggressive commercial policy. It added 786 thousand new subscribers in the third quarter, less than it had added the previous quarters, to end September with 18.8 million clients. This entails an increase of its subscriber base of 4.4% sequentially and 65.5% annually. Comcel maintained its market share in the quarter at 64%.

Comcel's revenues rose 30% year-on-year and 3.9% quarter-over-quarter, to 1.1 trillion Colombian pesos on the back of rapid service revenue growth (40.7% and 8.1% respectively). In the first nine months of the year, total revenues topped 3.3 trillion Colombian pesos, representing an annual expansion of 43.6% with service revenues increasing by 52.8% .

The deceleration in subscriber growth brought about an important boost in profitability. Comcel 's EBITDA went up 33.1% sequentially and almost tripled that of a year before, as the EBITDA margin climbed 8.5 percentage points over the quarter and 20.9 percentage points over the previous year. Through September our Colombian operation obtained over one trillion Colombian pesos in EBITDA. The margin for that period, 32.4%, nearly doubled that of the year before.
