Item 1.01 Entry Into a Material Agreement

Item 8.01 Disclosure of Other Events

On July 28, 2015, Revolutionary Concepts, Inc. (the “Company”) was informed by EyeTalk365 LLC (“Eyetalk 365”) of the following;

In the matters of Eyetalk 365’s complaints alleging patent infringement against each of CPI Security Systems, Inc. (“CPI”), Case No. 3:14-cv-526 and LiveWatch Security, LLC (“LiveWatch”), Case No. 3:14-cv-527, both pending in the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina, EyeTalk365 and the Company have reached and executed a Settlement and License Agreement with Livewatch and CPI (the “Agreement”), in which no parties make any admissions of wrongdoing, but in which the parties reach a compromise enabling the litigation to be resolved and voluntarily dismissed.

The court hearing these cases has been notified and motions to dismiss both actions have been filed. The court docket was to have reflected this publicly no later than midnight 7/28/2015.

All other terms of the Agreement are confidential.

This report does not constitute an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy any of the securities mentioned herein. This report is being issued pursuant to and in accordance with Rule 135c under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. The securities described in this report have not been registered under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or any state securities laws, and may not be offered or sold in the United States absent an effective registration statement covering such securities or an applicable exemption from such registration requirements.

This Form 8-K includes information that constitutes forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements often address our expected future business and material performance, and often contain the words “believe,” “expect,” “anticipate,” “intend,” “plan,” or “will.” By their nature, forward-looking statements address matters that are subject to risk and uncertainties. Any such forward-looking statements may involve risk and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from any future results encompassed within the forward-looking statements. Examples of such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements regarding our expectations with regard to the effect that correction of the accounting errors will have on our Restated Filings. Factors that could cause or contribute to such differences include items uncovered in the course of our new independent accountants’ review of our internal financial statements, the preparation of any audit reports by our new independent accountants, the subsequent discovery of additional errors or adjustments necessary to the Company's previously issued financial statements. Actual events or results may differ materially from the Company's expectations. In addition, our financial results and stock price may suffer as a result of this review and any subsequent determinations from this process or any actions taken by governmental or other regulatory bodies as a result of this process or the continuing SEC investigation. We do not undertake to update our forward-looking statements, except as required by applicable securities laws.
