Section 5 — Corporate Governance and Management

Item Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of 5.02 Certain Officers.

On May 24, 2016, Eastman Kodak Srl (“Kodak Srl”), a subsidiary of Eastman Kodak Company (“Kodak”), signed a retention letter (the “Retention Letter”) with Philip Cullimore, President of Kodak’s Enterprise Inkjet Systems Division and its Micro 3D Printing and Packaging Division, in connection with Kodak’s potential consummation of the sale of Kodak’s Prosper enterprise inkjet printing business (the “Transaction”). The Retention Letter provides: (A) that Mr. Cullimore will be entitled to receive a success fee if he remains employed with Kodak Srl through the consummation of the Transaction; as well as (B) for contractual severance benefits that are consistent with the severance benefits under Mr. Cullimore’s employment agreement with Kodak Srl effective January 1, 2011, as amended (the “Employment Contract”), which expires on September 3, 2016 (the “Expiration Date”).

Pursuant to the Employment Contract, in the event of the termination of his employment by Kodak Srl without “Cause” or by him for “Good Reason” (as defined in the Employment Contract), Mr. Cullimore would be eligible to receive the following severance benefits: (A) a severance payment in an amount equal to the sum of his salary and target annual incentive under Kodak’s Executive Compensation for Excellence and Leadership Plan for the year in which termination notice is given; and (B) continued vesting and exercisability of any outstanding stock options and restricted stock units granted on or before the Expiration Date that are held by Mr. Cullimore on the date of his termination, without regard to any continued employment conditions. The Retention Letter provides that if Mr. Cullimore terminates his employment with Kodak Srl in connection with the Transaction to become employed with the acquirer of Kodak’s Prosper enterprise inkjet printing business, such termination will qualify as a termination by him for Good Reason.

The above descriptions of the Retention Letter and Employment Contract are qualified in their entirety by reference to such agreements. The Retention Letter will be filed as an exhibit to Kodak’s Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 2016. The Employment Contract was filed with Kodak’s Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2016 as Exhibits 10.1-10.3.
