Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement
 Item 2.01 Creation of Direct Financial Obligation or an Obligation under and Off-Balance Sheet Arrangement of the Registrant

From time to time, the registrant and companies related to the registrant may have loans or advances outstanding between them pursuant to term or demand notes. These loans or advances are generally entered into for cash management purposes, in which the lender is generally able to earn a higher rate of return on the loan than would have been earned if the lender invested the funds in other investments, and the borrower is able to pay a lower rate of interest than would be paid if the borrower had incurred third-party indebtedness. While certain of these loans may be of a lesser credit quality than cash equivalent instruments otherwise available to the lender, the lender will evaluate the credit risks involved and appropriately reflect the credit risks in the terms of the applicable loan.

In this regard, on October 29, 2008, the independent members of the board of directors of NL Industries, Inc. (“NL”), the holder of 36% of the registrant’s outstanding common stock and which has a common parent with the registrant, approved the terms of a loan from NL to the registrant in amounts up to $40 million. The independent members of the registrant’s board of directors previously approved the terms of such loan by NL. Borrowings from NL under the revolving note will be unsecured, generally bear interest at the prime rate minus 1.5% with interest payable quarterly and all principal and interest due on demand (and no later than December 31, 2009). NL’s obligation to loan money to the registrant under the revolving note is solely at the discretion of NL. The registrant currently intends to use any borrowings from NL under the revolving note to reduce the outstanding balance under its U.S. revolving bank credit facility.

This description of the revolving note is qualified in its entirety by the complete terms of the revolving note that is filed as Exhibit 10.1 to this current report and incorporated herein by reference.
