Announcement

1. Why did we first hear about the acquisition from the press instead of our leaders?

We always aim to be candid and open in sharing information with associates first. However, as a public company, Aetna is subject to strict rules regarding how we disclose material information. News is material if it has not yet been made public and may impact the company's share price once released. The news of the CVS Health agreement to acquire Aetna was considered material and therefore could not be shared in advance with associates.

Several reporters published leaked information; we could not control this and we couldn't confirm it. As soon as the press release was issued, formally making the announcement public, we began our cascade of information to associates.

Employees

2. What will happen to our benefits, specifically health benefits, pension and stock?

We understand that you have specific questions on many aspects of our employee benefits, but we don't have details yet. As we get information, we will share it with you.

It's important to remember that nothing is changing at this time. This will be something determined by CVS Health after the close of the transaction, which is expected to occur in the second half of 2018. However, CVS Health has agreed to provide to each employee, for at least one year after the closing of the transaction, the same aggregate level of benefits received from Aetna.

3. What does this mean for Aetna employees? Do you anticipate any layoffs as a result of this transaction?

Aetna will operate as a separate business unit within CVS Health. Together we will build on our distinguished history and position our business for growth and even greater consumer satisfaction for many years to come.

CVS Health has committed to maintain the Aetna brand in the marketplace in recognition of the exceptional value we provide.

The work of Aetna's employees will be needed to fulfill the vision of the combined company.

To enable our success, CVS Health is also committed to keeping a strong Aetna management team in place.

Between now and closing, we will be developing integration plans. This will involve some changes that will affect certain positions. Decisions of this type have not been made and will be considered during the integration planning process.

That said, the combination of our two great companies is focused on expansion and not contraction.

We remain committed to retaining, attracting and supporting the best talent in the industry.

4. Should Aetna employees start working with their CVS Health counterparts?

No. The transaction is expected to close in the second half of 2018, and until that time, Aetna and CVS Health will continue to operate in every respect as two separate companies.

5. Where will the combined company be headquartered? Will Aetna move forward with plans to occupy space in New York City?

CVS Health is headquartered in Woonsocket, Rhode Island. All real estate locations will be evaluated by CVS Health during the integration planning process.

Agreement, approvals and closing

6. What are the next steps in the process?

The transaction is expected to close in the second half of 2018 following regulatory and other required approvals. Until then, it is business as usual, and both Aetna and CVS Health will continue to operate in every respect as separate companies.

7. What approvals are required to complete the transaction?

The transaction is subject to customary closing conditions, including the approval by Aetna shareholders of the merger, the approval by CVS Health shareholders of the issuance of shares in the transaction, as well as the expiration of the federal Hart-Scott-Rodino antitrust waiting period and approvals of state departments of insurance and other regulators.

8. When do you expect the deal to close?

The transaction is expected to close in the second half of 2018 subject to regulatory and Aetna and CVS Health shareholder approvals and other customary closing conditions.

9. Do you expect there to be significant regulatory/antitrust issues?

We do not speculate on regulatory matters, but we believe that the transaction will improve the competitive landscape and will create numerous benefits for consumers' access to care, cost of care and quality of care.

We will file all required regulatory applications and notifications, and cooperate fully in any reviews and other processes.

Integration

10. What is Aetna's role in the integration planning process? How will CVS Health ensure an orderly integration plan?

The head of the integration process from Aetna will be named shortly. We will provide more details about the integration planning process at that time.

11. How long do you think integration will take?

This is not known at this time. Between now and closing, we will be developing integration plans. There are many details to be worked out.

Customers and other external stakeholders

12. What should I do if I am approached by the media about the announcement?

13. What should we be telling our business contacts?

You should communicate to your business contacts that we are very excited about this transaction and believe all our business partners will benefit significantly.

Until the transaction closes, which is expected to be in the second half of 2018, both Aetna and CVS Health will continue to operate in every respect as separate companies, and it is business as usual at Aetna.

Approved messages will be provided for you to use when communicating with external stakeholders.

Strategy

14. How did the emergence of non-traditional competitors in health care weigh on Aetna and CVS Health's of the health care marketplace?

Consumers are seeking a trusted, personal relationship to help them achieve their best health. Our transaction will create that experience in the community health hub solution.

The deal is not based on any non-traditional competitors entering the health care marketplace.

We believe our combination will create a better, more affordable health care experience for the people we serve.
