December 31, 2007

Dear Shareholder:

Luby's January 15, 2008 Annual Meeting of Shareholders is rapidly approaching. If you have not yet voted, we strongly recommend you vote Luby's WHITE proxy card today FOR your Board's experienced directors Dr. Judith B. Craven, Arthur R. Emerson, Frank Markantonis and Gasper Mir, III. We urge you to protect your investment in Luby's by throwing away any gold proxy card you may have received from dissident shareholder and New York City-based hedge fund, Ramius Capital.

WE BELIEVE THE RAMIUS NOMINEES ARE CONFLICTED AND INCENTIVIZED ONLY TO ACT IN THE INTERESTS OF RAMIUS AND NOT ALL LUBY'S SHAREHOLDERS

The Ramius nominees each have special financial arrangements with Ramius which we believe compromises their independence and commitment to serving the interests of the Company and all Luby's shareholders.

Each of the Ramius nominees signed an agreement with Ramius under which they have received an upfront payment from Ramius and stand to be paid even more money only after Ramius sells all of its Luby's stock.

We believe this compensation arrangement incentivizes the Ramius nominees to pursue a short-term agenda at the expense of Luby's restored capital structure and strategic growth plan.

THE RAMIUS NOMINEES LACK THE NECESSARY SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE REQUIRED TO SERVE ON YOUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS

While Ramius touts the restaurant industry experience of its nominees, we believe that this experience is neither distinguished nor relevant to Luby's casual dining business model. Fast food and failing concepts are not what your Board needs to help lead Luby's through its next growth phase or to create shareholder value.

Consider the following facts about the Ramius nominees:

Brion Grube had short stints at Mexican fast-food chain Baja Fresh (CEO for only 19 months) and at Café Express (CEO for only 17 months). At Baja Fresh, Grube presided over a failed expansion strategy, staggering operating losses and negative same-store sales comparables. As a result of Grube's failure to turn around Baja Fresh and restore profitable growth, Baja Fresh was ultimately sold in 2006 for only $31 million, nearly $250 million less than its original purchase price just five years before. At Café Express, a small chain with less than 20 locations, Grube failed to deliver on growth promises and presided over negative same-store sales comparables.

Matt Pannek's limited restaurant executive experience includes his brief tenure (CEO for only 15 months) at the hamburger chain, Fuddruckers. Ramius fails to explain why Pannek's role at Fuddruckers was so brief, and the circumstances surrounding his departure.

Stephen Farrar has worked primarily at Wendy's, the fast food hamburger and drive-thru chain—a business model built on franchising that has very little relevance to Luby's from-scratch cooking and casual dining offering.

Bill Fox is a recurring Ramius director-for-hire and has no restaurant industry experience. In just 18 months, Ramius has nominated Fox to four different public company Boards in disparate industries. Fox is currently a nominee for two Boards, including Luby's, and only one week ago, according to preliminary results, Fox was REJECTED as a Ramius nominee by the shareholders of Datascope Corporation, a publicly-traded medical device maker. Also, Ramius has failed to disclose that Fox was sued for federal securities fraud relating to his role as an executive officer at Revlon and its subsidiary, the Cosmetics Centers, a public company that ultimately filed for bankruptcy.

Luby's shareholders, ask yourselves: Given the short tenure and lackluster record of the Ramius nominees and their lack of relevant experience, is this the new leadership that you want serving on your Board of Directors? Remember, only one of the Ramius nominees has any public Board experience, and he is a director-for-hire with no restaurant industry experience whatsoever.

PROTECT YOUR INVESTMENT—DO NOT ELECT THE RAMIUS NOMINEES DOING SO WOULD ENABLE RAMIUS TO PURSUE ITS SHORT-TERM, SELF-SERVING FINANCIAL RELEVERAGING SCHEME
AT THE EXPENSE OF ALL SHAREHOLDERS

In an effort to seek your vote and advance its short-term agenda, Ramius is attempting to masquerade as a corporate governance and restaurant industry expert. The truth is, based on its track record, Ramius is neither. Ramius is nothing more than a short-term focused hedge fund that offers no business plan for Luby's, and is not concerned with driving sustainable and profitable growth for the benefit of all shareholders.

Ramius targets public companies in hostile proxy fights to advance its own self-serving interests. Ramius wants Luby's to pursue a sale and leaseback of the Company's owned real estate in order to make a short-term profit at the expense of long-term value creation for all shareholders. Despite its best efforts to distance itself from this notion, Ramius' central scheme from the outset of its campaign at Luby's has not changed. We urge you to not be misled by Ramius.

Luby's Board, together with the assistance of nationally recognized and independent financial advisors, carefully evaluated the Company's capital structure and analyzed sale and leaseback strategies and unanimously concluded that a sale-leaseback plan is not in the best interests of the Company and all Luby's shareholders:

By owning rather than leasing our properties, Luby's generates better operating margins and greater cash flow returns, which better position the Company for growth.

Ramius' financial releveraging scheme makes NO financial sense for Luby's... Since 2001, Luby's Board and management team have successfully eliminated $120 million of debt, restored profitability, and positioned the Company for sustainable and profitable growth. Now, in today's uncertain financial markets, Ramius wants to reverse course and pursue an ill-conceived sale-leaseback scheme which would saddle the Company with millions of dollars in lease obligations. Luby's wants to use its cash flow to grow the Company, not to pay rent.

...and it makes NO business sense for Luby's either. Ramius' agenda is wholly inconsistent with Luby's strategic growth plan of building 45 to 50 new restaurants over the next five years; investing in Luby's existing restaurants through upgrading and remodeling; and growing the Company's culinary contract business to provide food service at healthcare facilities.

Luby's Board and management team stand firmly behind the Company's solid capital structure and believe that our strategic growth plan is the best way to create value for all shareholders.

LUBY'S DIRECTORS ARE EXPERIENCED, INDEPENDENT AND COMMITTED TO ACTING ON BEHALF OF ALL SHAREHOLDERS

Luby's Board consists of a majority of independent directors who are diverse and open-minded business and community leaders. Luby's directors possess valuable and unique skills in restaurant operations; health and food safety; corporate leadership; human resources; accounting; risk management; corporate finance; legal compliance; bilingual marketing and customer strategy—all areas that are critical to the continued success of an organization like Luby's, which employs over 8,000 people and serves millions of customers each month.

Each of Luby's four directors standing for re-election has relevant and critical expertise:

Dr. Judith Craven (Vice Chairman): Extensive health and food safety experience as the head of the Health Department in Houston and a current member of the Board of Directors of Sysco Foods, the global leader in selling, marketing and distributing food products to restaurants, hotels, hospitals and schools. Public health and safety are essential in the restaurant business as well as in the healthcare facilities which Luby's serves through its growing culinary services business. Dr. Craven is also an experienced leader in the Boardroom. In addition to serving on the Board of Sysco, she currently serves on the Boards of Belo, Sun America Fund, and Valic. She has also served as a director at Compaq.

Arthur Emerson: Bilingual marketing and advertising experience for restaurants. Mr. Emerson led the introduction of Luby's marketing and advertising campaign to Hispanic customers with Spanish speaking commercials in 2004. He has also been influential in developing Luby's children's programs—marketing and advertising to families and female decision makers, and broadening Luby's customer demographic to include younger families.

Frank Markantonis: Extensive restaurant experience (30+ years) in law, risk management, human resources and real estate. At Luby's, Mr. Markantonis has been instrumental in implementing policies and procedures that directly led to multi-million dollar per year savings related to risk management, helped Luby's reduce its insurance costs and expand its coverage, and helped Luby's eliminate debt through the sale of underperforming properties.

Gaspar Mir, III (Chairman): Public accounting expertise; independent leadership as Chairman of Board; and large organization executive experience. Mr. Mir has served on the Board of Hermann Memorial Healthcare (a multi-billion dollar hospital system in Texas) and has been a partner at KPMG (one of the world's largest accounting firms) and a top official at the Houston Independent School District (one of the nation's largest). Mr. Mir has experience with healthcare facilities that complements Luby's culinary services business.

Your Board strongly believes that the oversight, experience and proven achievements of Dr. Craven, Mr. Emerson, Mr. Markantonis and Mr. Mir is what Luby s needs in its next phase of growth.
