This filing contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such statements include, but are not limited to, (i) statements about the benefits of the merger between First Union Corporation and Wachovia Corporation, including future financial and operating results, cost savings, enhanced revenues, and accretion to reported earnings that may be realized from the merger; (ii) statements with respect to First Union's and Wachovia's plans, objectives, expectations and intentions and other statements that are not historical facts; and (iii) other statements identified by words such as "believes", "expects", "anticipates", "estimates", "intends", "plans", "targets", "projects" and similar expressions. These statements are based upon the current beliefs and expectations of First Union's and Wachovia's management and are subject to significant risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ from those set forth in the forward-looking statements.

The following factors, among others, could cause actual results to differ materially from the anticipated results or other expectations expressed in the forward-looking statements: (1) the risk that the businesses of First Union and Wachovia will not be integrated successfully or such integration may be more difficult, time-consuming or costly than expected; (2) expected revenue synergies and cost savings from the merger may not be fully realized or realized within the expected time frame; (3) revenues following the merger may be lower than expected; (4) deposit attrition, operating costs, customer loss and business disruption following the merger, including, without limitation, difficulties in maintaining relationships with employees, may be greater than expected; (5) the ability to obtain governmental approvals of the merger on the proposed terms and schedule; (6) the failure of First Union's and Wachovia's stockholders to approve the merger; (7) competitive pressures among depository and other financial institutions may increase significantly and have an effect on pricing, spending, third-party relationships and revenues; (8) the strength of the United States economy in general and the strength of the local economies in which the combined company will conduct operations may be different than expected resulting in, among other things, a deterioration in credit quality or a reduced demand for credit, including the resultant effect on the combined company's loan portfolio and allowance for loan losses; (9) changes in the U.S. and foreign legal and regulatory framework; and (10) adverse conditions in the stock market, the public debt market and other capital markets (including changes in interest rate conditions) and the impact of such conditions on the combined company's capital markets and asset management activities. Additional factors that could cause First Union's and Wachovia's results to differ materially from those described in the forward-looking statements can be found in First Union's and Wachovia's reports (such as Annual Reports on Form 10-K, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q and Current

ISS RECOMMENDS FIRST UNION AND WACHOVIA SHAREHOLDERS

VOTE FOR MERGER OF EQUALS

Proxy Monitor Inc. Also Endorses First Union and Wachovia Combination

CHARLOTTE AND WINSTON-SALEM N.C., July 23, 2001 - First Union Corporation (NYSE: FTU) and Wachovia Corporation (NYSE: WB) announced today that two highly regarded independent stockholder advisory organizations have recommended that shareholders vote for the Wachovia and First Union merger of equals.

Institutional Shareholder Services Inc. (ISS), the nation's leading independent stockholder advisory organization, issued a report recommending that Wachovia shareholders and First Union shareholders vote for the proposed merger between the two companies at Wachovia's annual shareholder meeting on August 3, 2001, and at First Union's annual shareholder meeting on July 31, 2001.

In its report, ISS made several points on the long-term strategic merits of the

Edgar Filing: WACHOVIA CORP/ NC - Form 425

First Union/Wachovia combination. ISS said:

- o "We believe that Wachovia shareholders would be best served voting in favor of the pending First Union transaction."
- o "It appears fair to conclude that Wachovia has all along sought something more along the lines of a "strategic partnership"--a transaction designed to enhance Wachovia's market position, growth potential, and operating strategy, and thereby generate long-range shareholder value--than a one-time sale designed to maximize immediate shareholder returns."
- o "We conclude that the merger agreement executed by Wachovia and First Union deserves shareholder support...Furthermore, the weight of the evidence suggests that Wachovia's board was adequately informed when it approved the MOE agreement. In the absence of a proposal that offers a substantial short-term premium or a clearly more compelling strategic position than does the First Union deal, therefore, we believe that shareholders are best served trusting the judgment of their directors, of whom 13 (of 15) are independent."

ISS is the world's largest provider of proxy voting and corporate governance services. It serves more than 700 institutional and corporate clients throughout North America and Europe. ISS analyzes proxy proposals and issues vote recommendations for more than 10,000 U.S. and 10,000 non-U.S. shareholder meetings each year.

Proxy Monitor Inc., another highly regarded independent advisory organization, also issued its recommendation that Wachovia shareholders vote for the First Union merger proposal, citing the following:

- o "We agree that this in-market merger of two strong regional banks could be beneficial to the company's long-term growth and that it provides significant opportunity for increased long-term share value in an industry replete with similar transactions as banks continue to join forces to compete in deregulated financial services markets."
- o "What's more, we have found no compelling reason to abandon a merger that, by all accounts, is fully and successfully underway, in favor of a potential deal that is risky at best."
- o And..."There is evidence that its strategic repositioning is working. Since January 2001, First Union's stock is up by approximately 26%, performing far better than the broader market (and SunTrust, for that matter, with a year to date return of 10%)."

In a joint statement, the two companies said, "We welcome these independent, third-party recommendations. Both reports represent another important milestone in the process of completing this merger of equals. The recommendations reflect an understanding of the compelling strategic and economic benefits of our merger."

"In our view, a merger of First Union and Wachovia would create one of the leading financial services companies in the United States and would provide superior value to shareholders of Wachovia and First Union. We believe that shareholders of both companies will enjoy immediate accretion in cash earnings per share as well as strong prospects for a higher valuation through expansion of the new Wachovia's price/earnings multiple. For Wachovia shareholders, we believe the new Wachovia would offer a better dividend than SunTrust's hypothetical dividend along with higher potential for dividend growth in the future."

Edgar Filing: WACHOVIA CORP/ NC - Form 425

"The appropriate steps are being taken to complete this transaction and create the new Wachovia in the very near future. We look forward to receiving regulatory approval shortly, and we look forward to both First Union's and Wachovia's shareholder meetings.

"Coming right on the heels of the North Carolina Business Court's resounding validation of the Wachovia board's decision-making process to merge with First Union, we believe the ISS and Proxy Monitor recommendations are further proof of the momentum behind our merger of equals.

"We greatly appreciate the strong and broad support that the merger is receiving from such diverse groups as employees, customers and community organizations. Every vote is important. We urge all Wachovia and First Union shareholders to vote for the First Union/Wachovia merger by returning the white proxy card."
