Toronto, Canada -- March 9, 2004 -- IMAX Corporation (Nasdaq:IMAX; TSX:IMX) today reported earnings from continuing operations of $0.14 per share on a basic and fully diluted basis for the full year ended December 31, 2003, before giving effect to the costs associated with the repurchase and refinancing of the Company's senior notes in 2003. This compares to earnings from continuing operations of $0.09 per diluted share for the full year ended December 31, 2002, before giving effect to $0.25 per share in gains associated with the retirement of the Company's subordinated notes in 2002.

When including costs of approximately $4.9 million, or $0.13 per share, associated with the repurchase and refinancing of the Company's senior notes during the year, IMAX reported earnings from continuing operations of $0.01 per diluted share in 2003. When including a gain of $0.25 per diluted share associated with the retirement of the Company's subordinated notes in 2002, IMAX reported earnings from continuing operations of $0.34 per diluted share in 2002.

For the three months ended December 31, 2003, IMAX reported net earnings from continuing operations of $0.09 per share on a diluted basis, before giving effect to the costs associated with the repurchasing and refinancing of its senior notes in the quarter. This compares to net earnings from continuing operations of $0.03 per share on a basic and diluted basis in the prior year period.

When including costs of approximately $4.6 million, or $0.11 per share, associated with the refinancing of the Company's senior notes during the quarter, IMAX reported a net loss of $0.01 per diluted share in the quarter.

"We are pleased with our financial performance in 2003, as we improved our results and positioned the Company for continued growth," said IMAX co-Chairmen and co-CEOs Richard L. Gelfond and Bradley J. Wechsler. "2003 was a pivotal year for IMAX as we significantly furthered implementation of our commercial strategy with the successful release of two IMAX DMR(R) titles, built a solid release slate for 2004 and introduced the IMAX(R) MPX(TM) theatre system. Given the strong operating momentum of our business right now, we are extremely optimistic about our future."

In 2003, the Company signed contracts for 25 theatres systems, which compares to 21 in 2002 including contracts for the re-opening of five theatres in Regal multiplexes resulting from the settlement of bankruptcy litigation with Edwards Theaters that year. During the fourth quarter, the Company signed new contracts for seven IMAX theatre systems with an aggregate value of $10.8 million. This compares to contracts for 11 IMAX theatres in the fourth quarter of 2002, which included the five Regal re-openings. Noteworthy signings during the past quarter included contracts for two IMAX MPX theatres with Nakheel LLC in Dubai, UAE and a contract with Yelmo Cineplex, a Loews Cineplex joint venture in Spain, for three retrofit IMAX MPX systems.

"The nine IMAX MPX orders from domestic and international exhibitors in 2003 demonstrated that commercial operators are interested in this exciting product," continued Messrs. Gelfond and Wechsler. "We are particularly encouraged by the traction we are gaining with the IMAX MPX retrofit option, as witnessed by the Yelmo signings. Based on the current level of discussions with exhibitors, we expect a significant acceleration of IMAX MPX signings in 2004."

Following the successful IMAX DMR releases of The Matrix Reloaded: The IMAX Experience last June and The Matrix Revolutions: The IMAX Experience in November, Warner Bros. Pictures and IMAX announced on December 18, 2003 that Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban, the third installment of the Harry Potter film series, will be released to IMAX(R) theatres in addition to conventional theatres in June 2004. The deal represented the third IMAX DMR film commitment from Warner Bros. within the year. In addition to this film, IMAX is in active discussions with Warner Bros. regarding an IMAX(R) 3D release of Polar Express in November 2004 and an IMAX DMR release of Tim Burton's Charlie and the Chocolate Factory in summer 2005.

"We are extremely pleased with the reaction of consumers to IMAX DMR based on the successful releases of the Matrix films and impressive ticket price premiums," continued Messrs. Gelfond and Wechsler. "We expect to release three IMAX DMR releases this year, which would make 2004 the strongest commercial release schedule in IMAX's history. With IMAX DMR continuing to gain acceptance in Hollywood, we are growing even more optimistic about the place of IMAX theatres as the newest release window for the industry's biggest event films."

In addition to IMAX DMR films, the Company's scheduled film slate over the next two years will include highly anticipated IMAX 3D films. On March 12, 2004, IMAX, in collaboration with Warner Bros., and with sponsorship from AOL, will launch NASCAR 3D: The IMAX Experience in 68 IMAX theatres, marking the widest domestic opening for an IMAX film in the Company's history. Early film reviews have praised the film's spectacular visual display of emotion and excitement as well as the film's wide appeal. IMAX recently announced that Lockheed Martin will sponsor the next IMAX 3D space film, Magnificent Desolation, to be produced by IMAX in association with Tom Hanks' and Gary Goetzman's Playtone. The film, which will chronicle man's walking on the moon, is slated for release in 2005.

IMAX recently completed the restructuring of its balance sheet by retiring a portion of its long-term debt and refinancing its remaining senior notes through a $160 million issue of new bonds due in December 2010. The Company also recently improved its liquidity significantly with the closing of a $20 million credit facility with Congress Financial of Canada. These improvements were recognized by Moody's and Standard & Poor's, which each upgraded IMAX by two notches over the past six months. Over the past two and a half years, IMAX has reduced debt from $300 million to $160 million.

For the twelve-month period ended December 31, 2003, the Company's total revenues were $119.3 million as compared to $129.1 million in the prior-year period. Systems revenue was $75.8 million versus $71.0 million in the prior year period, as the Company recognized revenues on 20 theatre systems as compared to 16 theatre systems in the prior-year period. Film revenue was $25.8 million compared to $40.6 million in 2002. Theatre Operations revenue was $13.1 million versus $12.3 million in the prior-year period. Other revenue was $4.5 million compared to the $5.3 million reported in 2002.

The Company previously reported earnings from continuing operations of $0.05 per diluted share for the year ended December 31, 2002. As a result of a discontinued operation in December 2003, the loss from which has been included into discontinued operations for all comparative periods, the Company's 2002 reported earnings from continuing operations increased from $0.05 per diluted share, to a reported $0.09 per diluted share.

In the fourth quarter, the Company's total revenues were $29.9 million as compared to $37.0 million in the prior year period. IMAX Systems revenue was $19.9 million versus $20.3 million in the prior year period. Film revenue was $6.2 million versus $11.5 million in the fourth quarter of 2002. The decline, which was anticipated, was primarily attributed to the Company's record-breaking film SPACE STATION in 2002. Theatre Operations revenue was $3.0 million versus $3.8 million in the prior year period. Other revenue was $0.8 million in the quarter versus $1.4 million in the fourth quarter of 2002.

The Company will be hosting a conference call to discuss these results at 10:30 AM EST. To access the call interested parties should call (719) 457-2692 approximately 10 minutes before it begins.
